THE RIGHT TO SMOKE.

Someone has asked me if I think the man who smokes can justify himself in his habit. We have a notion that we are engaged to give a certain answer to this question, and we are not sure that what we will say will be accepted as quite satisfactory.

The man who smokes will have to do his own justifying, and it is no duty of ours either to absolve him or condemn him. We may ask him to consider the effects of his habit upon his health, to look at the expensiveness of it, to think of his influence upon others who may be led into it by him, and to whom he may prove an injury. But when we have done that we have gone quite as far as we feel we are justified in going. He claims his right to do it, and we grant it to him, though we will be more severely convinced that he should be really have the right if he does claim it with too much testiness.

But when he claims, not only the right to smoke, but to smoke wherever and whenever he likes, we take issue with him at once and most emphatically. We grant him the right to smoke, to light himself up with nicotine, to let his heart's content, because he likes them. But we who do not like them specially claim that we are under no obligation to allow ourselves to be subjected to them at every turn along the public highway or in places of public business or resort. And though we are not by any means a crank on this matter, we think that it is high time that something be done to abate the nuisance of indiscriminate public smoking.

Some folks say that smokers are likely to be more selfish and less thoughtful of others than are the people who do not smoke. We do not say so. But we do say that smokers have a splendid opportunity to show how selfish they are by giving more respect to the wishes and the rights of those who do not smoke. Some time ago smoking was prohibited upon the street cars in Toronto. Everybody admits now that this was a real reform making the comfort and satisfaction of everyone. The reform should spread. And it will spread if smokers are as solicitous for the rights of other folks as some of them are fondly for their own—Guardian.

Frequently we have known of instances where riding in an observation car has been robbed of nearly all its pleasure by tobacco smoke, though there are cars for the general public, and are not smoking cars. The same is true of riding on the decks of steamers. We sometimes stand the fumes of a certain well-known club, and, though the fumes are usually held in somewhat close and unventilated quarters, and a great many members do not smoke, those who do light up the moment they swallow their last bit, and really, smoke, smoke until everything is blue. In every one of these cases a square deal has not been given the non-smoker by the smoker.

The Agent number of Rod and Gun issued by W. A. Taylor Limited, publisher, Woodstock, Ont., has appeared and is up to the usual standard of excellence maintained by this representative Canadian magazine of outdoor life. The cover cut is an attractive one and illustrates a big catch of trout in Nova Scotia where the sport of catching this big fish with rod and line is growing in favor. The contents include many interesting stories and articles.

When the Crop is in the Barn

THERE IS MORE DANGER FROM LIGHTNING

Every year many barns filled with crops are burned. Two thirds of all rural barns are settled by fire insurance companies in Ontario during 12 years were lost to lightning. If you eliminate the hazard of lightning you cut off chances out of three your barn burning.

NOTES BY THE WAY

The great nations have faith in peace only when peace prevails.

Huerta is reported to be coming to Canada. Well, he's in the Shaw class, and it should happen to him as to Shaw.

It is only common courtesy to give credit for articles taken from a neighbor's paper. Some Bruce county editors apparently overlook this little item. If it's worth while cutting out, it's worth while giving credit.

The Flincherton Advance speaks of the beer gazing contest to Markdale on July 13th. The Advance editor should have come to Chesley if he wished to see a big day's celebration free from the ill effects of the open bar—Chesley Enterprise.

Occasionally we read of fires in town halls where picture concerns are operating. The arranging of exits at the rear of the Port Hope town hall was a good move by the council. Prevention is the aim nowadays, and no good business man needs fault with money spent in proper preventive measures.

A Labor member in the Imperial House of Commons made the assertion that if King George had been born in the labor class he would be an "ordinary street loafer." This is a case of free speech gone to seed. We believe, however, that if an Italian had made that assertion in the presence of the Laborite member, there would have been a fight, and the Britisher would have defeated his king with all his might.

A Toronto man who took a seat beside a lady on a bench in a park, and remarked to her that "It's hot," has been fined $50 and costs or three months in jail by Magistrate Cohen. All of which shows that this magistrate has the measure of those "dusky" sort of individuals who always look for a vacant seat next to a woman in trains and elsewhere in order to strike up a conversation.

A Toronto dispatch last week that Bruce county farmers were badly scared over the ravages of the army worm in that township, and that thousands of dollars damage had been done, was without the slightest foundation. Two only couple of cases of the spread was as reported in The Times, in Sarnia and it had been checked in a couple of days. A newspaper is often so fortunate in having too many imaginative writers as reporters.

GRUB is not always confined to the mean higher up. The press the past week, especially of Toronto, gives space for articles in which it is noted that laborers themselves have developed a fine piece of grafting. It is the custom now, where foremen have charge of men to demand a bribe from the man securing a job, and in one case a foreman was proved to be in receipt of $500 monthly from this sort of scampering. This has long been the custom on big contracts in the United States, where it has been shown by investigators to be the system from the contractor down to the laborer, but none would have believed it existed in Canada. We are progressing rapidly, and what we don't know we are very apt pupils at finding out.

A meeting of temperance men at Warriston the other week is reported to have said that the Canada temperance act would carry in the county of Bruce with 2000 majority, and that the only municipalities that would vote against the act would be Greenock, Grant, Carleton and Walkerton. Apparently the temperance forces have not taken into consideration the effect of the recent election have had on the temperance cause. During the campaign the Canada Temperance act received a thorough drubbing from a great many of the larger journals, the contention being that it will not be referred to the Local Option movement. Discussing the question in an editorial on June 23rd last The Toronto News said: "The local option movement is the only measure which will give a community prohibition." If there is any truth in this then it would seem that at least a local option election should be tried in the county, to measure the feelings of the temperance cause. In Bruce county will show that we favor the temperance for the future, but we submit that when they send out a report that there are only four municipalities in the whole county which will give a majority against the Canada Temperance act, they are not informed as well as they should be.

Leading English papers are demanding Great Britain's neutrality in the crisis now impending. From this it would seem that England has a choice, and that if she is involved into the scrap it will likely be because the armament manufacturers and big-dog militarists must see, no matter what cost, how some of the new inventions will work in actual war. Austria has given its word to Russia that she will not annex any Serbian territory, but that she merely desires to show Serbia that she must meet the legitimate demands of a larger country. All Europe is aflame with war talk, and the newspapers generally are delighting in inflammatory tales. Even Canadian papers have resorted to the same filling methods. Such ploys are stuff as articles urging Canadians to stand true, ought to be resented by Canadian citizenship. Canadians are true, and there can be nothing happier to them than to pay their share in a valiant struggle where Canadians will not only be found willing, but anxious, to help.

It is most amusing to see the rabid party journals making Canadian manhood to stand true. We need less of this windy, wordy stuff. When the mother land makes the call Canadians will respond forthwith.

Villa's Way.

Villa may have had very little education, and he certainly knows but little about the science of government, but he is surely learning. When he proclaimed himself governor of Chihuahua he found no money in circulation, and the farmers refused to come into the city markets because the people had no money with which to pay them. The truth was that all who had silver or bank notes had buried them for safety. Villa's advisers soon told him what was the matter, and at once Villa said, "Why, if all they need is money, we will print some"; and so they very quickly turned out 2,000,000 pesos with Villa's name across the middle in big letters. And this money, guaranteed only by Villa himself, was at once bought by the banks of El Paso at eighteen and nineteen cents on the dollar. With this money Villa paid his army, and on Christmas Day he called the poor people of Chihuahua to him and gave them each $12. Why shouldn't he, when he had only to run the printing press a few hours in order to turn out millions of it? And when the storekeepers started to work their goods with two prices, one for silver and the other for "Villa money," he issued a decree that anyone who discriminated against his currency should be imprisoned for sixty days. He also issued orders fixing the price of beef, milk and bread. His methods were very effective, enough, and show us a man who knows how to adapt himself to rough and ready fashion to difficult positions. And yet most of us are probably kind enough to be in Canada rather than in "Villa's country."—Guardian.

Don't forget in Canada for the first six months of 1914, over 120, which is greater by one third than for the last ten years.

Big Day For The Editor.

The editor of a Kansas paper says that he picked up a revolver recently and started up the street to deliver the weapon to its owner. The delinquent subscribers got it into their heads that he was on the warpath, and everyone he met insisted on paying all he owed. One man wiped out a debt of ten years' standing. On returning to the office he found a load of hay, fifteen bushels of corn, ten bushels of potatoes, a load of wood and a barrel of tarantula.—La Rive Star.

One wonders if the owners of such cows are contented with records like

Supposing a factory is supported by only 300 cows, it should then be comparatively easy to have an extra $3,600 flowing through it in six months to the patrons if they had better cows. That is a good "six months' hold."

The peasants of Montenegro have a quaint legend to account for the rock strewn appearance of their country.

They will tell you that when the world was being created the Creator and the angel of creation were flying over chaos. The angel was carrying in a sack the rocks which were to make the mountains of the world, when suddenly the sack burst, the rocks fell down, and- that is Moerenroep!

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS

Of 13 candidates who wrote for the Normal Entrance Certificate from our High School the following were successful:

J. R. Burgess
H. C. Buchanan, honors
A. Curtis
F. Lyburner
D. C. Munro
P. Nelson Lila Kennedy
Joe Young

We consider this a very good record since not one of the thirteen had ever written this examination before and it is considered that few can now overtake this work in the three years. Those intending to attend Normal next term should write immediately to the Deputy Minister of Education, Toronto, Ont. for application forms. Principal Nelson would like to continue with anyone who would like to take upper school work next year, that he may decide whether to continue that work. His summer address is Lang, Ont. He returns to Port Elgin about Aug. 29th, and will be pleased to meet any incoming students.

Those successful in one or more parts of the Upper School examination forms have been placed in the Faculty of Education.

Of the above students it is noted that George McArthur was out of school four months through illness, yet succeeded.

MARRIED

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Becker, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding, on Tuesday July 21st at 12:30 p.m. when their sister Selma, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Becker was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel R. Schwab, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwab, Port Elgin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. J. Simons pastor of St. Andrew's. The bride was given away by her brother, Gilbert while the sweet strains of Lohengrin's wedding march were being played by Mrs. Herbert Becker. The bride was charmingly dressed in white crepe silk trimmed with lace and carrying a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern.

Miss Anna Schwab, sister of the groom attended the bride wearing white and broderie anglaise over pale blue crepe silk. The bridesmaids wore white. The groom was supported by Mr. Norman Fowler of Manulife company of the bride and groom. After the ceremony the wedding party gathered in the dining room and partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner. The happy couple left later in the afternoon in an automobile, for Berlin and other points. The bride's traveling dress was a Royal Blue serge trimmed with shadow lace with a hat to match.

The costly gifts show the high esteem in which they are held among their friends. Two gold coins and a cheque. Their friends will extend their best wishes and congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Schwab for a long and happy wedded life. The happy young couple will reside on the groom's farm near Hargreaves.

The following from the Watrous (Sask.) Post is an interesting story as the groom is a former Port Elgin boy and the bride of Whitechurch:

At Watrous Park farm, Ridgford, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cheney, uncle and aunt of the bride on Wednesday afternoon, July 22nd, at five o'clock, a very happy event was celebrated when Annie M. King, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. King of Watrous, was united in marriage to Mr. A. H. Calder, son of Murdoch Calder, of Whitechurch, Sask. The ceremony took place beneath a tastefully decorated and arranged within a spacious lodge of green boughs, built on the lawn. The bride party entered to the accompaniment of the strains of the wedding march beautifully rendered on the organ by Mrs. J. P. Gray, of Watrous. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. S. M. Cheney.

The bride was accompanied by her cousin Miss Edna McChesney, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Murdoch Calder. Myrtle Calder, a charming little sister of the groom, acted as flower girl, carrying the ring in a basket of white peas.

The bride, adorned with a veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of orange and white sweet peas, wore a dress of white crepe with a train and heavy white lace. The skirt being made with a deep loose hanging train of embroidered crepe. Finished with Brussels lace ruffle. The bride's maid appeared in pale grey silk with pink piping and sash, and carried a bouquet of orange and white sweet peas. Her mother, Mrs. McChesney, wore brown silk dress with lace-trimmed. Mrs. J. T. King, the bride's grandmother, with trimming of white silk and lace. Myrtle Calder, the flower girl, appeared in white tulle silk. After the ceremony had been performed and congratulations and good wishes expressed, a beautiful wedding repast was served on tables built in the lodge boughs, plates being set for seventy-five guests.

The happy couple were the recipients of many costly and useful presents which shows the high esteem in which they are held.

DUNBLANE

Fine weather brought the largest crowd ever at the annual garden party of the Presbyterian church on Thursday last at the home of Mr. J. C. Young. The ladies prepared a very hearty supper, which was thoroughly enjoyed. The program began with a ball game between Aberdeen and Hargreaves team, the former won 13 to 6. The game created a great deal of interest and provided a good feature. Rev. W. J. Watt presided over the program, which was taken part in by a quartet from North Bruce, Miss Sparrow, Miss McTaggart, James Scott.

Port Elgin band was present and provided splendid music, and there was a many from the town and country surrounding. The gross receipts were $135.

OBITUARY

On Sunday July 26th, 1914, in the city of Detroit, Michigan, Allan George Mackay, a former resident of Port Elgin, passed to his rest at the early age of 31 years and 6 months.

He was the youngest son of the late George Mackay and Jane Ann Mackay. He received his education in the public and high schools here. About 15 years ago he went to Detroit and obtained a situation in the Michigan bolt and works, where by his ability and industry he rose to the second highest position in the institution, being at the time of his death, cost accountant.

Before his death Mr. Mackay was united in marriage to Miss Mary McCormack of Detroit. That union was a very happy one, leading to the birth of three children. More than five years ago his wife and infant son passed before him into rest.

Mr. Mackay was a member of the Palatine Lodge A. F. and A. M. of Detroit city, and of the Tremblay Avenue Presbyterian church.

Besides his mother of this town, there are left to mourn his loss, three brothers, Angus, Humbolt, Sask., James of Waukegan, Ont., and William Donald of Detroit, Mich., and four sisters, Mrs. John McLaughlin of Port Elgin, Mrs. John McLaughlin of Port Elgin, Mrs. John McLaughlin of Port Elgin, and Mrs. John McLaughlin of Port Elgin.

The funeral service was held at the home of his mother, Market street, on Wednesday of last week, but again which took place on Friday, was deferred until the arrival of the sisters from Montreal, who had been on their way home. The Rev. R. B. Scott of St. Andrew's church, Hildburgh, Ont., conducted the services both at the home and at the graveside.

Besides the immediate family circle a large number of friends both here and in Detroit, lament his untimely death. Mr. Mackay was of an agreeable disposition and many a sunny friend. The beautiful floral offerings that accompanied the casket from Detroit, bear witness to the high esteem in which he was held. They were won by many sorrowing friends made in private life, and from the Masonic Brethren of Palatine Lodge and from the institution which he was employed with.

A Lady Campaigner.

The part played in the Manitoba election by Mrs. Nellie McGillivray is new in Canada, but the women here can be relied upon to follow. In England it is a common practice for the wives and daughters of politicians to take the stump and do effective work for the party to which they belong. In Manitoba Mrs. McGillivray was not so greatly interested in politics as in women's interests. With other women she had appeared to Sir Rodmond P. Roblin, but to be received with a gruffness and scorn that made the appellants more determined to carry their point, and to place before the people of the province their demands. From the Premier they turned to the Liberals, who gallantly gave the ladies fair and manly consideration, promising them, among other things, the suffrage. For these Mrs. McGillivray went on the platform, and before those made her appeal. In the city of Winnipeg the largest public gathering building was crowded, and the demands were away, but to read the words of the lady to the public press. There she was successful, the city practically turning from Roblin to Norris by large majorities. In some Mrs. McGillivray has set the pace, and from now on it will not be surprising to hear the ladies in every campaign, and why not?—Collingwood Bulletin.

THE FALL FAIR.

One of the annual events in which every resident in this district should be interested is the exhibition of the North Bruce & Napanee Agricultural Society. We are recognized in this part of the province as a purely agricultural people, and this being so, our fall show should be the very best it is possible to make.

It is true the rewards offered are not large, but it must be taken into consideration that if the fair is simply to provide prize money then a great deal of the pleasure of friendly contest with neighbor and neighbor is taken away. When a local fair is looked upon as a thing purely to provide money for some eager prize seekers then its usefulness is over, and it becomes a professional contest in which only the few participate.

There is another side to the fall fair. It is that of taking pride in producing good horses, good cattle, or produce, or handicraft of any kind, and it is hoped that this year will see revival of this spirit. This exhibition ought to be the best in years as the society has the crop competition, and is also interesting the schools.

Let every agriculturist bring something to the fall fair this year, and begin now to make the exhibition worthy of this splendid agricultural community.

The Power Of Three Men

In Vienna there is a shuddering old man, the offspring of a tainted house, who sits on the throne of the dual empire.

In St. Petersburg there is a weak, well-meaning despot, who by the accident of birth happens to be the Czar of all the Russias.

In Berlin there is a brilliant, talented, ambitious manipulator of politics, who is German Emperor by grace of the genius of Bismarck, Moltke and Roon.

Of these three men, only the one in Berlin has more than mediocre abilities; yet the three are perverted to play with the lives of millions of men, with property worth thousands of millions of dollars, with the commerce and industry and prosperity and laws and institutions not merely of empires, and kingdoms, but of continents. It is left to them to determine whether the world is to witness the most deadly and devastating war of all history.

The thing would be laughable, ridiculous, if it were not so ghastly.—(New York World.)

CANADA AT WAR

Canada is in a state of war, since last June Sir Edward Grey notified the British House of Commons that Germany had committed acts which constituted Great Britain to take up the challenge, and that the German Emperor, or despot, war "he shall have it, and to full measure." The Mother Land being involved in war, therefore Canada is at war, and Canadians are responding to a man, so that the offer to send an army to England has proved no talk, and the men are assembling, and will be on the way in a few days.

The whole of Europe is afloat. What the outcome will be remains for the future. The fact that Foreign Minister Grey has said that Germany shall have war "in full measure," and that Lord Kitchener has taken hold of the War office is enough.

Britain's great general has asked for an additional 500,000 men and he'll have them in a short time. Nothing will stop this world's greatest war strategists, and when the awful thing has passed there will prevail in Europe a greater democracy than was dreamed of.

The real cause of the war is said to be because a fanatic Irish assassin, a member of the Australian royal family. But this is really not the cause. Germany after 45 years of peaceful preparation, dominated by an Emperor who vainly believes himself a Napoleon, seeks more territory and more power, and has used the excuse of the Prussian-German quarrel to invade Belgium, which is guaranteed protection by England.

Beneath it all, the great German people are groaning under the grind of war taxation and conscription, and a great upheaval is at hand, which in the end will, if Britain prevails—and she must prevail—clear the atmosphere, and guarantee the German nation a measure of democratic government for which Great Britain is noted.

events have not transpired. Another week will disclose some great battles, and history will be made. Strange it is that the scene centres around the old battlefield of Waterloo. But Waterloo did much for the world's peace, and the battles now are destined to do much more for peace, and who knows but it may be the world's last great war.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Britannia rules the waves. Old Country papers ask Britons to cut down on the expensive living during war time. It is suggested that potato skins be made into valuable food. We suggest that they eat the potatoes skins and all, get the value and save the labor of making them over.

Remarkable circumstances surrounded the discovery of Blanche York's remains. Dr. Robinson was allowed to disappear and was clapped before the real facts were uncovered. Even then the discovery was the result of an accident rather than the vigilance of the authorities. The Attorney General's Department should take all the facts and circumstances under serious consideration.

The Conservatives received 248,165 votes, or slightly less than 54 percent of the total; the Liberals received 198,169 votes or about 43 percent; third party candidates, 18,159 votes or slightly less than 4 percent. The total vote cast was approximately 464,500 as compared with 355,236 in the Provincial General Election of 1911.

It is worthy of notice that the recent Provincial vote is within approximately 1 percent of that huge vote which was cast three years ago during the Reciprocity campaign and there was only one acclamation in that election. Thus it is observed that this vote is the largest ever polled in any Provincial election in this Province, exceeding, if allowances are made for acclamations, by almost 45,000 the total in 1905 which was the record up to that time.

The first few days of the war there were a number of notices that certain articles had been raised in price and others were to be raised. Whether or not the increase is justified is a question, the excuse is simply that war prevails. Down in Mexico, Villa, the man who beat out the rotten Huerta regime, found just such conditions. If allowances are made for acclamations, by almost 45,000 the total in 1905 which was the record up to that time.

On account of the war, horses may be expected to rise in price. For the past couple of years horses have not been high.

KING GEORGE SENDS OUT ORDERS TO CAPTURE OR DESTROY THE GERMAN FLEET.

King George Sends Out Orders to the Navy

To Capture or Destroy the German Fleet.

London cable: At 7 o'clock last night Great Britain declared war on Germany. There was no formal declaration of war by Germany against Britain.

The announcement of the war declaration was withheld until midnight by order of the King and Privy Council in order to observe the terms of the formal ultimatum.

The official text of the British Government's declaration of war is as follows:

"Owing to the summary rejection by the German Government of the request made by His Britannic Majesty's Government that the neutrality of Belgium should be respected, His Majesty's Ambassador at Berlin has received his passports, and His Majesty's Government has declared to the German Government that a state of war exists between Great Britain and Germany from 11 o'clock tonight, August 4th, 1914."

The Admiralty immediately after the declaration of war was made flashed this order to the British fleet:

"Great Britain declares war on Germany. Capture or destroy the enemy."

Following this order King George sent this personal message to the fleet:

"I have confidence that the British fleet will revive the old glories of the navy. I am sure that the fleet will again shield Britain in this hour of trial. It will prove the unlikeliness of the enemy."

GERMAN FLEET BOTTLED UP.

It is learned on highest authority that the Admiralty had received a wireless dispatch stating that the German fleet had been bottled up by the British fleet north of Denmark.

ALL EUROPE IN ARMS.

London cable: The momentous decision of the British Government, for which the whole world has been waiting, came before the expiration of the time limit set by Great Britain in her ultimatum. The German Government's reply was the summary rejection of the request that Belgium's neutrality should be respected.

The British Ambassador at Berlin thereupon received his passports, and the British Government declared to the German Government that a state of war existed between the two countries.

Cabinet Ministers were assembled at Downing street and the next morning final preparations for the British declaration of war were completed.

It was announced that Germany's reply to the ultimatum of the British Government was unsatisfactory. When war was declared London streets were swarmed with people eagerly awaiting the outcome of these negotiations.

Much enthusiastic patriotism was displayed by all of those gathered. Gen. Sir John French has been appointed Inspector General of the Forces.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the whole Kingdom. Every strategic point has been fortified.

People are rushing to the coast from all directions. It is declared five hundred thousand to six hundred thousand people will be under arms within a few hours.

Prior to the declaration of war the fleet had waited around for Germany's reply to England's ultimatum on the neutrality of Belgium.

There was little hope of a favorable outcome of these negotiations. It was generally realized that the decisive moment was near at hand.

Germany was expected to give the answer for the integrity of Belgium as France had done. No threat was expressed in this request, but an answer was anticipated by midnight.

All Europe is now in arms. On the one hand, "warlike" industry and industry are supposed by Russia, France and Great Britain, Serbia and Montenegro. Italy has declared her neutrality. Belgium is mobilizing.

Belgium also is mobilizing. The German Government should permit the free passage of German troops through Belgium. The German Government has answered by ready preparations to resist and advance across Belgian territory.

Sweden has made no answer to enquiries from Russia and Germany regarding her attitude, but is preparing to defend her neutrality. Spain is reported to be preparing a proclamation of neutrality.

Austria-Hungary for the moment is not from her campaign against Serbia for the purpose of holding back Russia. Serbia has mobilized with the reported intention of invading Bosnia.

The House of Commons today voted $25,000,000 for emergency purposes, and passed several bills in five minutes, without a dissentient voice.

The German fleet was expected to make a dash for home to-day.

The steamship Olympia, which reached here today, brought $5,000,000 in securities from London, which was dispatched for delivery on the sale made in the days of great liquidation last week.

The value of Europe's consignment was estimated at $25,000,000, although the total of sales made by cable in the vast outpouring of stocks had been figured at $50,000,000 at least.

A considerable part of the stock sold was held in this city by bankers and brokers for foreign account, and many of the stocks & bonds have been taken up.

Another German liner whose whereabouts had been denied, the Kaiser Wilhelm II. of the North German Lloyd line, arrived at half-past four this morning.

The wireless instruments had been dismantled, at Cape Race. The Hamburg-American liner Luetow, from Hamburg and Southampton, also arrived early today.

When she discharged her passengers and cargo she will probably join the fleet of steamers, intended in port here.

The Committee of Imperial Defence has labored on the plan for more than a year, he said. His aim was that in case of war British commerce should not be interrupted by inability to secure war risks and to insure the insurance rate should not go so high as to cause any considerable rise in prices.

"We are perfectly convinced," he continued, "that with the protection of the British navy we can make certain of that vital condition."

The work is to be undertaken by the State Insurance Office, with a flat rate premium capable of variation from time to time.

He said, was insuring 10 per cent. of the hulls of vessels. In respect to voyages current on the outbreak of war, the premium would be charged, but it could afterwards.

The Chancellor expressed the hope that the time for putting the scheme into operation had not arrived, but if it had, the plan would do something to relieve the anxiety of the shipping of the mercantile world.

DID HIS BEST

Story of King George's Attempt to Prevent the War.

London cable—King George's telegram to the Russian Emperor in a final effort to avoid war and the Emperor's reply have been made public.

The King, expressing the opinion that there had been some misunderstanding, led to the breaking off of negotiations.

The Emperor's reply, which was to remove the misapprehension and leave open the ground for negotiations for the removal of the Russian ultimatum.

Germany's reply was the summary rejection of the request that Belgium's neutrality should be respected.

The British Ambassador at Berlin thereupon received his passports, and the British Government declared to the German Government that a state of war existed between the two countries.

Cabinet Ministers were assembled at Downing street and the next morning final preparations for the British declaration of war were completed.

It was announced that Germany's reply to the ultimatum of the British Government was unsatisfactory. When war was declared London streets were swarmed with people eagerly awaiting the outcome of these negotiations.

KAISER FEARED IN HIS SURPRISE

French President Says His Country is Prepared.

Premier in Chamber Says Nation's Justification.

Paris cable—President Poincaré, in a message to the French Senate and Chamber today, declared that Germany "had tried treacherously to surprise France," and added, "France is vigilant as well as peaceful. She was ready, and our covering troops will allow mobilization to be methodically carried out."

Premier Viviani made the French Government's statement on the war in the Chamber of Deputies today, and his remarks created the deepest enthusiasm. He detailed at great length the history of the events of the past fortnight, presenting strong arguments in the case against Germany, which, he declared, irrefragably and logically justified the acts of the French Government.

During the course of his remarks the Premier said:

"France has been unjustly provoked. She did not seek the war, but she has done all in her power to avoid it. Since war was forced upon her she will defend herself against Germany and any other power which may attempt to have any part in the conflict between the two countries."

"Against an attack which violates all the laws of equity and all the rights of nations, we have no other recourse than necessary dispositions. They will be carried out rigorously, methodically and calmly. The mobilization of the Russian army is proceeding with a remarkable celerity and boundless enthusiasm."

The House turned toward the Russian Minister, M. Isvolsky, who sat in the gallery, and cheered loudly.

The Premier continued: "Belgium is an inviolable territory. It is to defend with magnificent ardor the neutrality and independence of this little land. The British fleet is mobilized to the smallest vessel, and the British army is mobilizing."

The deputies rose again and turned toward the Russian Ambassador, Sir Francis Horner, who was sitting in the gallery, and cheered wildly round after round.

AIR FLIGHT OFF THE WILHELM

Boat That Fled Montreal Will Likely be Captured.

Ottawa Report—The German steamship, Wilhelm, which sailed from Montreal early Saturday morning only partially loaded, and is now believed to be in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is expected to be captured to-night by the British cruiser Euxine, whose last appearance in Canada was when she conveyed the Canadian Government's ultimatum to Germany.

The Euxine, a fast cruiser, has recovered from the Empress of Ireland a cargo of mail, and is now being towed by a tugboat.

TURKEY READY

Mobilizes Forces, But States She is Absolutely Neutral.

London Cable—Turkey has informed Great Britain that the forces of the Ottoman Empire are being mobilized. The mobilization, she said, is a precautionary measure and Turkey will remain absolutely neutral.

In some quarters however it is believed this step is being taken by Turkey in the fear that the Russian Black Sea fleet might attempt to enter the Bosphorus and that Russia may even land troops on the Turkish shores.

The Black Sea and the Constantinople.

The Greek army and navy are being mobilized. This action was ordered by the King in response to the announcement that Turkey was preparing to aid Austria against Serbia.

FREIGHT RATES

U. S. Interstate Commerce Commission Grants a Raise

To Roads West of Pittsburgh—Others Refused.

Washington Dispatch—The long-awaited decision in the advance rate case by the Interstate Commerce Commission gives the railroads in the territory west of Pittsburgh and east of the Mississippi River an increase which, it is estimated, will add between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 additional revenue each year.

No increase was granted to the eastern roads, including those in New England, but several of the big eastern systems will benefit by their order, it was in the Central Association territory.

For all of the railroad involved the commission points the way to economic and the stoppage of losses which, in the end, it believes, will yield the railroads much more than the $500,000,000 additional revenue they would take through the general increase of 1 per cent. in freight rates.

The majority opinion was signed by Commissioners Clement, Clark, Sawyer, Hall and Chairman Harlan. Commissioner McCard and Daniels dissented, contending that an increase ought to have been apportioned also to the roads in the eastern territory.

The most important feature of the report is an invitation which the commission extends to the railroads of Central Freight Association territory to enter upon a special schedule of rates for all their lines and to the non-tariff lines with the commission. The commission indicates that in the granting of these general rates an increase of more than 5 per cent. would be warranted in many cases, and that there would be ground for further substantial increases on many rates.

Under the decision, all railroads operating east of the Mississippi River to the Pacific, including the line and north of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers, will have the option of undertaking this big general readjustment of rates.

The commission also indicates that the roads which do not sustain their burden of proof in reference to the adjustment of these lines.

In the case of the eastern trunk lines and the railroads in New England and the commission indicates that they should sustain the proposed 5 per cent. advance.

Now, Girls, An Opportunity

Sure enough, The Times has discovered a real man who would like to secure a real "up-to-date Canadian girl" for a wife.

It will be remembered that on May 6,
The Times had a letter from a young woman signing herself "Ann T. C. Patison, Box A. 4 Tinsley Office." To this letter the bachelors were not bold enough to reply at the time. But The Times is now in receipt of a letter from a gentleman in the west, who is looking for just such a girl as 'Ann, and would like to have her or, other girl correspond with him.

Apparently this bachelor has the goods. He wants an up-to-date girl and The Times knows of no community where he could better suppose than right here.

Now this man has given us his name and address in full. He is willing that we should publish it, but as this letter is addressed to Miss Patison, and as this young lady never made her self known to the editor we will withhold the bachelor's name until she has a chance to call for the letter.

We publish this gentleman's letter, however, so that other young ladies may have an opportunity, and the address can be obtained from the editor of The Times, which is bona fide. As this man means business we would suggest that only the girls who are sincere take up the correspondence.

We don't pride ourselves on taking away from certain women the job of match making, but it does look as if a match would come out of these bachelor articles in The Times, and why not?
Following is the letter:

Crofton, Sask, July 24, 1914
Miss T. C. Patison
Box A 4
Tinsley Office, Port Elgin

Dear Friend:
I will address a few lines to you in answer to the note I saw in The Port Elgin Times, my old home paper, some time ago, and I hope that I am not too late to get in on this opportunity.
It is not right that man should be alone.
He wants some one—yes, just some one—to care for him.

Now, Mr. Editor, I will answer all letters from an up-to-date Canadian girl if she will answer this.

Sincerely,
T. J. D.
Now, this letter is genuine. The letter also gives the name of another gentleman as reference, so it would be well for the girls to address the letters to us and we will forward them, or see the editor. Count on us, there will be absolute secrecy in all matters.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Mass passed away on Saturday last, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Weishuhn, where she had been making her home, at the advanced age of 81 years, six months. Death was due to general decline, brought on by old age. The late Mrs. Mass, came with her husband from Germany and settled first in Waukegan, Illinois, moving to Saugen and Bruce where she has lived for nearly sixty years. She was proce-dured by her husband eighteen years ago. She was a member of the Evangelical church, and was well-known, and very highly respected. She is survived by two sons and two daughters, Adam and Charles Mass, North Bruce, Mrs. John Weishuhn, Port
Elgin, and Mrs. U. Reinhardt, Bethune, Sask. The funeral, on Monday was attended by many old friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr.
Gieseler.

DIED

CURRIE—In Bruce Township near Glennville, on July 30, Mary Ann Campton, beloved wife of Neil Currie, aged 47 years.

Word was received last week by Mr.
E. Parfitt of the death of Mr. Oliver Poole, at Stratford. Deceased gentleman was a resident here some years ago, and visited Mr. Parfitt about three weeks ago.

The Women's Institute had a good meeting last Saturday. Of course, the fact that this is a busy time in the country it did not permit many of the district women to be present. Mrs. H.
M. Lowry gave an address on institute work in Italian Tense.

esting to know the time changes. When Aberdeen beat North Bruce at baseball on Saturday afternoon by a score of 10 to 7. The teams had been a tie in the district league, and this was the deciding game. The Aberdeen lads came in strong with every man, while North Bruce claims to have been somewhat weakened by not having three of their regular team and having to fill in with three Port Elgin players. Joe Young did the heavy lifting for the victors, while Bert Schell took for the losers.

There was a fair crowd of spectators present. Following were the players:
Aberdeen—M. Dier, W. Young, B.
Christie, J. Scott, J. Christie, L. Wallace, J. Young, F. McKee, J. Geddes, North Bruce—Bert Schell, E. Rastbott, St. Melting, A. Howe, Keith, Campbell, Fin, Lymburner, Frank Howe and Frank Morton. Dr. Power umpire.
Only one of the old crowd appeared on the teams in this game—George McIntee of North Bruce. George caught a good cannon, and showed himself to be still quite lively.

Rev. and Mrs. Bowers are enjoying a holiday with their son, Dr. Bowers, at Napier.

The editor received a complaint from a prominent resident last week. When since the consignment had been down away with it might be worth while considering such a thing. The new spots may use tobacco, they might at least keep it within their own system, and not force pedestrians to wade through it on the public walks.

Save the Children

Just twenty-one years ago this month the Children's Protection Act of Ontario was passed by the Ontario Legislature and to say that good results have followed would be altogether too mild a term. Thousands of neglected boys and girls have been helped through in instrumentalities, and attended by their useful and honourable lives that they have not been helped in vain. It has meant untold benefit to the Province in constructive social reform, lifting all Childhood to a nobler plane, and emphasizing as never before the sanctity of the home and home relationships. And yet, through all these years it has been necessary, and it is still necessary, to maintain an enthusiastic educational propaganda. Even with all that has been accomplished it is still imperative that the thinking and commercial world should be persuaded that there is such a problem as The Neglected Child, and that in its solution and eradication there remains a great work to be done. In the minds of many public men this is one of the least important of all the subjects that claim their attention. But a saner way of looking at things is coming as is evidenced in the wide spread interest now taken in Social-welfare.

In the past twenty-one years it would be a conservative estimate to say that one hundred thousand children have been directly benefited by the operations of the Children's Aid Societies, while the number legally made wards and provided with foster-homes in the neighborhood of fifteen thousand.

In cleaning the report presented by Mr. Kelso, the superintendent of the society for Ontario, it is noted that for the year just closed there were 223 Protestant children placed in foster homes, where they will have an opportunity to become good citizens. Of this number Bruce county furnished seven, and of this seven Port Egnon branch found a home for one. It is true that in this county there is need for more activity on the part of the officers, and there should also be more branches. It is not because there are not more than seven neglected children that Bruce county does not make up more of the total, but because men and women are not alive to the great work of saving the boys and girls to more useful citizenship.

In Port Egnon and surroundings it is known by the branch officers that there are children who need attention, and should be taken from parents and relatives who are not caring for them as the law requires, but the hands of the men and women who have interested themselves are not being upheld. We regret that so much time and money is spent in frivolous things, while boys and girls are in our midst are neglected.

A serious part of the report is that out of the 223 children looked after this year 257 of them were taken in charge for general depravity, while 176 were charged with immorality, and became wards of the society.

This ought to furnish food for thought to those who are not so selfish. Think of 443 children being brought to the attention of the authorities, because these children never had a chance to know anything better. Too many people are living today on hope—hope that their children will be able to avoid the evil and always be found with the righteous. The time is now when men and women should cease in their efforts to place a wall around their own in the hope of keeping them from the evil of the world, and lend their efforts to raising and helping the boys and girls who have no good parents and good homes, into places where they will have an opportunity to become good men and women. The parents of this day add generation, if they would save their own families, must lend a hand in providing a home and an education for the homeless boys and girls.

The War Tax

The Canadian parliament met last week, and in a short session put into force a war tax. Some $30,000,000 must be raised to meet the expenses of the war, in which Canada is taking part. The war tax means a raise on several articles, which also means that every Canadian will contribute directly to the carrying on of the great war.

Of the necessities sugar is really the only item which is hard hit, and it may be that sugar will advance to probably nine cents a pound. Coffee, according to the percentage, will only increase 3 cents a pound, and that is all that should be paid extra. Whiskey and tobacco receive less extra, and to bring it to the point where one can understand, it simply means that the man who drinks will pay an extra five cents for his glass. After all the new taxes apply to a very few of the items of living, and there is no reason for an advance all along the line.

Mrs. M. T. Burwash has returned to Toronto after a month's holidays here.

NOTES BY THE WAY

As for the men who slander the public by taking advantage of war's necessities, it must be remembered that they can do only what the people tolerate.—Globe

The government is investigating the packers, but in the meantime the packers go right on treating out the farmers, skimming the public and selling down the trimmings.—Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Howell's election in North Oxford has not been protested. His opponents filed a petition but did not deposit $1000 within four days as required and the proceeding, therefore, was declared void. The protest which will definitely go on are those by the Conservatives against Mac. Lang in Coburn and by the Liberals against Mr. Matly in East Lambton.

Mr. Locke Wilson is after the fairs at fall fairs. The trouble has been that when these sharpers are caught and bailed before the magistrates they are usually let off. This year magistrates are liable to lose their jobs if they do not impose the full penalty on all fairs brought before them. Thousands of dollars are raked in by these sharks during the fall fairs. It is surprising that people still imagine that they can beat these fellows at their own game.

Wherever Canadians have volunteered for service in the army, the municipalities and citizens generally have taken up the work of providing for any families of volunteers who may require help. It is hardly necessary, of course, to draw attention to the fact that one of the volunteers from Port Egnon leaves a wife and family, and that citizens generally will see to it that they will not be in need during the absence of the breadwinner.

An effort is being made to induce Chas. Bowman, M. P. West Bruce to resign his seat and be the candidate in North Bruce for the Dominion House. A strong protest has been entered against such a proposition. Mr. Bowman is too valuable a man in the Province to lose. He is the backbone of the party in the province and we find in the necessity of the call. There are plenty of popular and brilliant men in North Bruce to carry the Liberal banner, and no difficulty should be experienced in securing a candidate. In the face of such a large majority given Mr. Bowman, he will not likely give the proposition very serious consideration.—Nipsey Express Honorable Finance.

In the war excitement of the last few days, the press and public have not adequately recognized the remarkable manner in which the Bank of Nova Scotia has carried through. Nothing of its amalgamation was known until the accomplished fact was announced. The union was heralded by no trading in the bank's share. No officer, director or shareholder of either institution took advantage of any advance knowledge in his own possession to make his own fortune. While the United States has rung with monetary disclosures of high finance, Canadians cannot but find reason for confidence in the fresh display of honorable principle in high places.—News

The law requires that where council passes by-laws governing their municipalities the by-laws must be published, or due notice given in a newspaper covering the district. Frequently by-laws are passed, and outside of the council chamber they are not known.

The garden party under the auspices of the ladies' Aid of the Methodist church Tuesday evening was a fine success. The weather was a little cool, but the supper and program proved most enjoyable. The affair was held on the paragon lawn. The program was one of the best and included the Port Elgin band, orchestra, and quartet, also Southampton quartet, Evangelical octet, Misses Haggard, Colard, Scallan, Mrs. Schmitt, Mr. Scallan, Mr. and Mrs. J. McKinnay, Messrs. Busch, Strachan and Scott, Rev. Stierne, Dr. Scallan was chairman.

Death came suddenly to William Cairns on Saturday last. He was attending his brother, Nell, who is very ill, when, without warning he expired. Deceased was in his 70th year, and was a very highly-respected resident of Port Elgin. He was born at King, York county where he grew up, and operated a farm for many years. He was married there to Helen Watson in 1881, who predeceased him 13 years ago. About nine years ago he moved to Port Elgin, and was an employee of the Stevens-Hopner works. He was a Presbyterian in religion and a staunch Liberal in politics. His sudden death was a shock to the community, as he had not complained of illness, and was in fairly good health. He leaves two daughters, Hannah and Jean, and two brothers, Nell, Port Elgin James of Dunville, also two sisters, Mrs. Hill, Durham and Mrs. Wilkin, Colborne. The funeral was held on Monday, the remains being taken to Bolton, Ont., for interment.

THE WAR

On page seven of The Times will be found a full page of war news up to Monday, detailing the developments of the great armies engaged in the conflict.

Later despatches about that Russia is administering to Austria crushing defeats, while Serbia is also driving the Austrians back, and invading their territory.

The Servians in a recent battle, took 15,000 Austrians, killed, wounded and prisoners.

Germany continues to advance on Antwerp, and apparently, if reports can be relied upon, into the hands of the allies.

The great battle has now begun. The war office announces that the past has only seen preliminary skirmishing.

When Germany captured Brussels they demanded an indemnity of $40,000,000 or they would burn the city and kill the inhabitants. Britain loaned Belgium the money to pay the indemnity.

The latest on Wednesday morning was that the Germans had forced the allies back to their fortified positions.

The greatest battle ever known is now on, the Germans in Belgium advancing with a subsidiary army to the French border. Despatches announce the British to be holding out.

Think It Over.

The proud citizen drinks one whiskey and then another. He looks around slowly with his eyes a little out of focus and says, "You must excuse me to-night, boys. This is not usual with me. But my little boy is awful sick."

And the sympathetic friends say, "Too bad, have another."

Meanwhile the wife is at home with that sick boy, kneeling beside him, taking care of him, and seeing the agony without whiskey's help. She is up all night, and white-faced the next day, she takes care of the other children, she takes care even of the brood who comes home with his grief thoroughly drowned, disturbs the house and blunders in self pity.

Or the scene is different, the words the same:

"You must excuse me, boys. I am drinking more than usual. I don't do this often. But there is a boy just born at our house. And I've got the greatest little wife in the world, and I'm celebrating."

Meanwhile the wife lies on the bed, too weak to lift her head. When she can speak she whispers, "How soon can I nurse him?"

And the joke of it, dearly beloved (for there is a good joke in this picture), is to be found in this fact:

Our civilization gives the vote to the man that he may vote to keep the whiskey saloon open. And it refuses the full vote to the woman kneeling by the sick child, refusing the vote to the woman waiting to receive her new-born infant in her arms, and on the ground that woman is the inferior being and not fit for such responsible work as voting. Think that over.—Chicago American.

WEALTH OF HAIR

PARISIAN SAGE MAKES THIN LIFELESS HAIR SOFT AND ABUNDANT.

Not only will the hair become soft, fluffy, radiant with life and really doubly beautiful, but all dandruff disappears, itching and itching scalp—your head feels fine.

All druggists sell a large bottle of Parisian Sage for fifty cents. Get it from R. O. Crawford, who will refund the money if you are not satisfied.

Berlin Is In Panic and Many People Are Fleeing.

"German," according to the correspondent, "appears to have undertaken this measure to give time to the German trains to try to reach the railheads. France and British troops have been ordered to try to deal the British and French armies their death blow and then to march on to Paris, the distance between Bonn and Paris being about 300 miles. The distance between St. Petersburg and Berlin is 600 miles. The Russian cavalry destroyed railway communications across the bridge near Samara, on the front."

People of foreign birth who extraction should not indulge in seditions or in outland remarks about the British Empire that gives them protection and freedom. Liberty of speech is no doubt a fine thing, but it does not include the right to talk treason. If they were in beloved Germany and made similar remarks against that country they would be promptly hanged up against a wall and shot if they were in Germany and did not make any remarks, they would probably be carrying a knapsack and rifle and trudging off in the direction of Paris, with still every possibility of being shot. Some of these people also boast that although they have always avowed all the rights of British subjects, they are still German subjects, as they never took the oath of allegiance. It is such in the case they were lawbreakers, and that is nothing to be proud of. This is a time when everybody should exercise self restraint and give no occasion for offense. If one's sentiments are anti-British it is just as well not to spread them abroad.

A Vaccination Story

A colored manny was called before the city health authorities, and informed she must be vaccinated on the arm and was told to roll up her sleeve. "Lawd a massy, don't vaccinate me on the arm, I hate to work for a skin will my blue," cried the darky. Then the health officer suggested that she be vaccinated on the calf of her leg. "No, no, how do you want me to go to get around to work with a sore leg?" "But you must be vaccinated to-day. Where shall we do it?" "Well," replied the darky seriously, "The lawd knows I don't never get no chance to sit down."

One Glass Too Much.

'O' ha! he has drunk one glass too much!
So I heard the jiving rabble say,
As a young man from the bar-room door
Came rolling forth the drunkard's way!
And I wonder, as he staggered on,
How many, many thousand arch
The same dark road to ruin have gone,
By drinking just 'one glass too much'!
A maiden sat at the banquet board,
Her eyes afloat and her cheeks a-flush;
Her lips have quivered of the fiery draught
That drives her pulse in a feverish quash.
Now she can laugh at a rebel jest,
She shrinks not from the wicked touch.
The sentinel sleeps in that maiden's breast;
Alas! she has slipped 'one glass too much'!
A thousand patriots carry their flag,
In the fight for freedom, bold and high;
With a braver courage they're forcing back
The legions that strike at liberty.
The shouts of triumph, almost dead,
The convulsed prize they almost reach—
When, ah! from his horse the captain tumbles,
And the day is lost by 'one glass too much'!
A pilot stands at the quivering helm,
While the waves, with force and angry roar,
Are drifting his barge through storm and dark,
To rocks that frown on a dangerous shore.
In vain do his nerveless, tremulous hands
Wield the slender clasp that tiler rope clutch;
A wreck on the rocks, a corpse on the sands,
That sailor had drunk 'one glass too much'!
'One glass too much!' Ay, tell me who can,
How long may the reckless tippler pad
The poisonous dram to his thirsty lips,
And still escape from the fatal glass.
Young men, so strong in their generous pride,
Easy misled, so blessed with beauty's touch,
Oh, temper not with the tempting tide
The very first glass is 'one glass too much'!

Farmers are Prosperous

Farming is by common consent the basis of our national wealth and prosperity. The farmers of Canada have for the past two years, been getting top prices for what they have had to sell, and have been able to obtain what they have had to buy at moderate prices. The war means better times for farmers.

Business in Canada can and will be good if our business men will do their utmost to keep the bottom in business. When the Canadian Farmer prospers All is well.

NOTES BY THE WAY

For practical patriotism the ladies of the Women's Institute who meet daily to sew for the Red Cross, should have their names in the honor list.

It is rather amusing the articles about this and that public man who is supposed to have seen the great war coming. Somewhat like that old soul who wishes reply "I told you so."

The Red Cross ladies did a noble work last Friday afternoon, when in a few short hours they raised $400 for the National Patriotic Fund. This splendid effort places this locality in the list of loyal ones.

From the number of articles we read in our local exchanges clipped from other papers and magazines and no credit given, we suggest that a good name for them would be "The Scissors Clippings."

The government is to provide for the wives and families left behind by men at the front, and $20 monthly is to be sent to each family. Besides this each soldier gets $1.10 per day. This along with what local assistance is being given will keep the men from worrying about their loved ones at home.

Not knowing how to shoot straight is keeping the Canadian contingent in training longer than was expected. A little less of the fancy parade idea and more practice at the target is what is needed.

In Woodstock all classes of citizens are indulging in rifle practice at the regimental ranges. The idea is a good one. Had this been allowed in connection with the militia, the Canadian contingent might now be at the front where it is sorely needed, instead of having to be made perfect in shooting at training quarters.

Miss Groat of Toronto has been visiting Mrs. John Gamble.

Mr. Wm. Sutherland is visiting at Niagara Falls.

Determined.

London Times—"There must be no question of peace except on our terms. Even if all our allies were struck down, we should continue the war, until the enemy has relented his grip, and, as Russia at least is equally well prepared for a long war, and misfortune—which is not needed, to be foreseen but necessary to anyone in war—must not turn either Russia or ourselves by one hair's breadth from our resolution. No disaster must frighten us. We are fighting for the liberties and even the existence of Europe, and we must make the world learn what it means to turn the thought of our people, and their stupendous energies, to war.

Not a Short War.

Philadelphia Public Ledger—"The view that it will be a short war is illusory. England will not quit while she holds the sea. It may more likely be a Napoleonic struggle all over again, and just as long in duration. It is a mistake, too, to conclude that the German victories are decisive. It is still a long road to Paris, and after Paris would be a long road to final peace. The world is beginning to realize what a titanic struggle is under way, a conflict in which neither side can afford to acknowledge defeat until its ultimate resources have been exhausted and there is nothing left for it but to lie at the feet of the conqueror."

Francis Joseph's Error.

New York Times—"God is with you" says the aged Austrian Emperor to his German ally. "He will be with us also." Therefore, according to this man, who stands on the brink of the grave, though he will be as careful as all the other autocratic rulers to keep well out of the range of the bullet, his poor country must meet face for face, God is on the side of massacre and rapine, of wrath and destruction. He is the God of the sacred motor, of the howitzer, and the bomb dropping airplane. He sustains the destroyer of harvests. He rejoices in the grief of the widow and the destitution of the orphan.

Letter From Belgium

The following letter is from Belgium and was written to Dr. Ross at Halifax by his daughter, who is a niece of Mrs. Wm. Ross of St. John's.

Ostend, Belgium, Aug. 3, 1914.

My Dearest Dad:—
We've had a most eventful week in Lucerne we had a splendid time, and on Saturday we left for Brussels. We were to go in nine hours but it took us two days. When we got to Basel the station was closed and we had to go across the German frontier. Not a cab nor taxi nor any conveyance to be had, so we walked, carrying our luggage. The heat was terrible, the dust worse and we nearly collapsed. Across the frontier in Germany we got a train only to be jumped out at the first station not knowing where we were or anything else. Again 48 miles from Luxembourg we got out, this time it was night. We changed four times, and walked through mud and rain for six miles carrying our luggage. Delfsboden we found an hotel where we stayed until morning. Early in the morning the train took us within a few miles of the frontier between Germany and Luxembourg and we walked across until we got a train to take us to Brussels. There we thought our troubles were over, but a man raised up and told us to make for London. Brussels was in a state of the greatest excitement, the banks were surrounded, crowds jamming the streets and shouting at the top of their voices. We had to hurry to the station without lunch and wait an hour for a train, surrounded by a crowd yelling and crying like fury. When the train came up to the platform we had first to fight our way into it—each a tackle and everyone for himself. Fifteen crowded into our compartment intended for six. We arrived safely at Ostend and have to wait here a day for a boat for England. The people thought we would never get through Germany to Brussels as we did, soldiers guarding the road, the trains stopped every little while, soldiers everywhere and we were women weeping. When we got safely to England we shall never forget this terrible experience. The frightful fighting men battling for places on the train and all palestricks I hope you are not feeling this crisis in Canada.

At Ostend, people slept all night at the quay in order to take the first boat to Dover which was to leave at nine o'clock. We were up and ready by six a.m. Wild excitement and such a crowd at that hour! The only thing that saved us from being suffocated was our valises. When the boat came to no objective can describe the frenzy of the crowd as they struggled to get on the boat. Fortunately we were near where the gangway was put out and got on nearly last. The first and second people were crowded on from four gangways. By this time the boat was filled to bursting point. Women were separated from their children, husbands from their wives—fighting like cats and dogs for places, while policemen and guards held the back. Their screams were terrible. Auntie shut her eyes and held her ears until we were off. Now we are in London. All banks are closed until Friday. We must book our passage very soon or we'll never get back. We have the most gorgeous scenery and are safe and sound and enjoying the excitement. Yesterday the crowds at the Parliament building were immense.

Do not be persons about us. We are alright now, but I shall never go to the continent again.

Burnie Ross.

The Raise in Tea

In a circular to their customers the Red Rose Tea Co. have made it plain that they will not stand for their products being raised 10c. per pound. They state that because one of their competitors advanced tea that was no reason for the stiff advance on their goods. They quote that their tea which was retailed at 30c. should only be raised to 35c. and so on in connection with all their lines.

The reason for the advance in tea is that these big firms were compelled to pay a raise the week war broke out, but Red Rose has decided that raise shall only be to the buying public what it should be. The raise of two cents on the pound will not be considered exorbitant by the people when the war tax and war living is considered.

Red Rose Tea has always been advertised in The Times, and the housewives will be glad to know that their favorite drink is not to be raised too high.

Sorrow in the Flagon

When the heat of your soul is troubling, and your blood is fairly bubbling and you feel your heart's cooking like some bacon on a stove, then, if there is a grogshop handy, you go in and swing some brandy, or some other crimson liquor, followed, doubtless, by a clove. And the bagpipes make you hotter; better far drunk waiting water if you feel you are not boiling quite as fast as you should broil; better take a red-hot griddle and upon it sit and fiddle then to fill your stewing stomach with a lot of fowl oil.
Roose is always vain and vicious at the finish of his dish and it's forty times as harmful when the sizzling days are here; there's sorrow in the flagon; and indeed, the old water wagon is a better institution than the coldest glass of beer. If a gentleman is broiling at the table expressed a yearning for a hot-ting stove and furnace, folks would say he was insane; and you're just about as foolish when you ask the barkeep for a glass for the dogs that roasts the stomach and incinerates it.

Raise More Wheat.

In our Burgoyne correspondence last week we noted that the acreage sown to wheat in this district is small. This item prompts us to draw the attention of our farmers to the fact that in the great war crisis much will depend on the food supply if our armies are to win.

The war will create a food famine, and no country is so able to fill that want as Canada. We believe our farmers should plant greater crops of wheat, so that it may better fulfill our duty to the Mother Land. Then there are the other products which are raised on the farm. It should be the aim of every owner of land to produce more than ever.

There will be great want, and the prices will be good.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Canadians talking of hard times. Think of Belgium.

But when we say that England's master, remember who has made her so. It's the soldier lads who volunteer when the call sounds.

Ambassador Page has informed the United States that there will be peace when Great Britain goes through. It takes the British a little longer to start. But, by jingo, when they do.

The British war office says it will take a million men this year, two million next year, three million the next, and by five years we will have quite a respectable army. What a cold, clammy feeling this sort of news must give to the enemies of the British Empire.

A newspaper report has it that General French was well pleased with the way his men were repulsing the Germans that he went on down the line smoking a cigar. Now, don't all take to smoking cigars. The report may not be true.

So many members of the French cabinet are reported to be fighting at the front that a session cannot be held. If the Germans could only persuade their war cabinet to go to the front this war would soon be over so far as Germany is concerned.

Port Elio received considerable prominence in last Wednesday's issue of The Globe. In a two column article it gave a splendid description of the fruit farm of Fruit Growers' Limited. Citizens generally are hoping that not only this company but others, who have planted fruit extensively, will have abundant success.

We hear an occasional man bring out something like this: "What of your country? Christianity now?" This is usually applied to the fact that nominal Christian nations are indulging in war. No doubt every Christian regrets the terrible conflict. But this is surely no time for lack of faith because one haughty man of power has lost control and put countless thousands in turmoil. We have been praying for peace, and peace must come, but God does not always answer prayers in the way we expect.

Canning Factories Will Employ More Canadian Help.

Industrial conditions in Canada at this time will result in the employment of many more Canadians than usual in the canning factories of the Dominion. In previous seasons many canning factories finding difficulty in obtaining sufficient local help, secured assistance from the larger labor market of the United States. It is estimated that several thousand employees of Canadian canning factories during previous seasons were not permanent residents of this country. In view of the unemployment in some industries at this time the canning factories will be able to secure in Canada most, if not all, the help they require this season. Thus many Canadians who would otherwise be out of employment will have 100 work in the canning factories that in previous years was given to parties who were resident in Canada only during the canning season. The policy of the leading canning companies has been to employ local help as far as possible.

Another condition that will tend to increase the number of Canadians employed in the canning industry is the curtailment of imports of canned vegetables from France and Belgium. The imports of canned vegetables from these countries into Canada during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, amounted to $164,151 and $124,482, respectively—a total of almost $300,000. The curtailment of these imports will increase the demand for the products of Canadian canning factories.

Grand concert Sept. 28 town hall. Inspector Reany had an Indian lifted from Saturday night. The amount was $10.

Canadian Flour Mills Will Run At Full Capacity.

Orders from the Dominion and Ontario Governments for an aggregate of 1,500,000 barrels of flour are only the beginning of the increased demand for the flour mills of Canada as a result of the war.

The mobilization of the armies of Europe will result in a large reduction in the acreage sown to wheat in that Continent. That reduction in yield will greatly increase the demand for wheat and flour from other producing countries. Canada will find a ready market for all the wheat and flour she can export during the war. The flour mills of Canada will be kept busy grinding Canadian wheat into Canadian flour for export to the Mother Country at this time of trial.

In the home market also there will be an increased demand for flour. The tendency of many will be to use more bread and other staple articles of food instead of some of the luxuries of the table. This will mean an increased consumption of flour.

Thus it would appear that the 7000 men who are working in the flour mills of Canada are assured of continued employment throughout the war. It is possible the number of employees in flour mills will have to be increased, but even if an increase should be unnecessary the continued operation of this industry will mean the circulation of approximately four million dollars a year in wages to Canadian workmen.

THE WAR

Since our last issue the tables have completely turned, and from a German advance we have now a German retreat. General French and General Joffre of the allies report that everywhere the Germans are retreating, and the allies are taking prisoners and munitions of war. Of course, this is not done without fighting. The German retreat is a masterly one, the allies having to fight for every mile gained. In six days the Germans have been driven back 45 miles. Each mile will add to their confusion. The Belgians are also active and are driving the Germans out.

In the past few days Russia has executed a master stroke against Austria, and taken 2,000 more prisoners. Soon the Austrians will be out of the way and the march to Berlin will begin.

"Made in Germany."

The following are made in Germany: Guns to shoot women. Swords to kill children. Bayonets with teeth to torture old men. Dam dam bullets. Brutes to outrage women and children. Plans to conquer the world. Mines to destroy neutral ships. False reports of German victories. Christmas. Treaties to be broken and William the Murderer—Kingston Standard.

Baller Explodes Sam. Lindsay Killed

As the result of a disastrous boiler explosion in Kincaidine township Friday was, one man, Samuel Lindsay, is dead, and two others, Walter Lindsay and David Robertson, are injured, the former seriously. The explosion occurred through the bursting of the boiler of an engine running a thrashing machine which has recently been installed in Lindsay's barn. The engine was old and had been in use for some time. Such was the force of the explosion that portions of the engine were blown one hundred feet from the barn. Samuel Lindsay was running the engine. His body was crushed from head to foot and his skull crushed in. Walter Lindsay, father of the dead man, and both arms broken, is badly scalded and has sustained several scalp wounds. He was taken to Kincaidine Hospital. The third victim, David Robertson, a farmer, had his right leg badly gashed, the wound requiring four stitches. The two injured men were caught in the barn door way and others in the vicinity had narrow escape. Samuel Lindsay, who was about forty-five years old, died at 10:30 Friday night. He leaves a wife and one child.

DON'T GROW BALD

Use Parisian Sage. If your hair is getting thin, losing its natural color, or has that matted, lifeless appearance, the reason is—your scalp is dry—dandruff and failure to keep the hair roots properly nourished. Parisian Sage is applied for a week and then occasionally is all that is needed. It removes dandruff with one application; also immediately stops falling hair and itching head; invigorates the scalp and makes dull, stringy hair soft, abundant and radiant with life. Regularly used by women or children—every one needs it. A large bottle of this delightful hair tonic can be had from C. Crawford or any drug counter for 50 cents. You will surely like Parisian Sage. There is no other "Just-as-good"—Try it now.

In connection with the patriotic fund for Bruce T. Warden McWhinney, who is twelve of three informed The Times of Monday, that the district committee would give a sum to the fund, and that a good way for those who desired to make personal gifts would be to donate to the various funds which have been gathered throughout the district.

Many friends in the surrounding township will regret deeply the death of Mrs. John Nuttall, which occurred on Saturday morning, Sept. 13th. For many months deceased lady had been suffering from cancer of the throat. Her maiden name was Margaret Graham, a daughter of the late James Graham, well known resident of Bruce township. Thirty-five years ago she was married to John Nuttall, a prominent Bruce township farmer, who survives, as well as the following family: Mrs. D. McKenzie, Mrs. W. J. Nuttall, Bertha, Mrs. Hoegter, Bailey, Albert A., Robert, Sarah, and James A. at home. The late Mrs. Nuttall was a member of the Presbyterian church, a woman who bore her sufferings patiently, a loving wife and mother and one who was always willing to lend assistance where ever a worthy cause was found. To the bereaved husband and family the deep sympathy of the entire community is extended in their loss. The funeral took place on Monday at Port Elgin cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. McVebb.

The Literary Society held a special meeting here on Wednesday evening to arrange what could be done to help the Literary Society. There was a very fair attendance. After some discussion it was decided to have a concert. A committee was formed to arrange a program and set the date. It was decided to make a charge of 25c with reserve seats at 50c. It is hoped that with good weather there will be a record crowd. Other business done was to decide whether the Literary should continue for another year or not and it was decided unanimously to hold the first meeting on the last Friday in October. It is hoped that more interest will be taken this year and that all the old members will rally together and make it a real success.

Mr. W. Woodcock Jr. of Paisley visited at Mr. J. H. Knapp's on Sunday last. Several went from here to Toronto Exhibition and reported having a good time.

We are pleased to say that Mr. W. J. Cole, of the 4th. Con. is now much better and is able to get around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels, of Paisley, were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Harvey's last.

BURGVOYNE

Corn harvesting has commenced. Corn binders are being purchased by a number here and there, and they have to buy and bring one to company. The corn crop in general is good. Some fields are rather late in getting in, but people are afraid these might come a heavy frost and ruin them. Several also are being filed for the first time and another year will likely see a few more planted.

A few war horses are being bought in this district, the prices offered are very moderate and farmers don't care to sell at reduced prices while they have to pay increased prices for necessities they must buy.

Numbers of men may be out of work in the town, but help is still scarce in the country. Many farmers would pay reasonable wages for help at this season of the year if they knew where to find it.

The diphtheria patients are progressing favorably, although the lungs are still in quarantine. This week will likely see them free again.

Mr. J. Manzie of Nanaimo, B. C. after visiting for several months in England and Scotland, seeing the sights, spending a few weeks with friends here before going west. Passengers are watched very closely while on British waters and many shots of buildings and landscapes along the shore are forbidden. Methuen ships about to sail for America were in much demand and fabulous prices sometimes were offered in those who had secured berth, to induce them to sail their right.

Last week while in Essex Hon. Adam Beck, who is buying horses for the British army, paid prices ranging from $140 to $1000.

Notices have been printed from office at the Toronto Star and News that the subscription rate outside of Toronto will be raised to $1 a year instead of former $0.80. The increase goes into effect on October 1st.

"Boat Raising Competition for Young Farmers in Bruce County."

A boat raising competition is being conducted in Bruce county during the coming year for young farmers and the following are the Rules governing it—

1. This competition shall be confined to farmers sons under 35 years of age or those who have taken a Course in Agriculture under the District Representative.

2. There must be 5 entries before the Competition can be conducted. Entries should be made early in September.

3. Calves must be fed and cared for by contestants and it is well, where possible, to keep an account of the kind and amount of food consumed.

4. Each contestant has the privilege of selecting one or more calves at the time of entering the competition and discharging the same promising ones as they develop.

5. At the time of entry, the Representative will inspect the calves and take a note of markings of same.

6. Calves used for this competition must be born on or after September 1st, 1914. Heifers will not be eligible.

7. This competition will close in December, 1915. The exact date to be decided later.

8. Every animal entered in the competition will be carefully judged. The young man producing the best steer in each county will be sent to Guelph to take the course in Live Stock Judging in January 1916. All travelling and living expenses to be paid by the Department of Agriculture.

9. After the winner in each county has been selected, the 1st prize steer in each county and the 2nd prize, if thought desirable, will be sent to some of the large fairs, such as Guelph and Toronto, and substantial prizes will be offered. At Guelph the prizes are $25, $20, $15 and $10. Quite large prizes will also be given at the Toronto Union Stock Show and it is hoped that a number of other prizes will be offered.

10. After the prizes of the fair are awarded, the steer in the competition will be sold in highest bidder, the cost of transportation deducted and the balance returned to the exhibitor.

11. If the contestant wishes to retain his animal, he may do so by paying transportation charges to the Show. While there, the animal will be cared for free of charge and returned free.

12. All entries should be made to the Department of Agriculture, Walkerton as early as possible.

ALLENFORD

There are a number of rifle clubs in Bruce county, but none of them quite as good as the club which comes from Allenford. The Labor Day there was a contest held at Lucknow, and the Allenford club was present to compete for the trophy. Toward Lucknow, White church and Lech's also sent teams of expert marksmen, but when the smoke had cleared away it was found that the Allenford team had a lead of 15 points. It is expected that the match will be held in Allenford next year. Before another year rolls around there will likely be a contest of five clubs formed, but no matter how great the competition Allenford will give a good account of itself.

Dr. Storer who has been visiting friends in the West returned home on Friday night and reports having had a splendid time along the way. Several prospective look very black in the West this year.

The Allenford Institute are doing quite a work these times. They have sent $15 to Val Carlier, in aid of the soldiers. $15 to the Red Cross and the society making a box valued at $62.75. Another box is in preparation and all contributions will gladly be received.

The collection of the British Foreign Bible Society are around collecting this week. If you haven't received a call as yet you may expect one.

A few Southampton "stars" motored around our streets, Friday afternoon and made a few more informal call at such places as "hardware store."

Miss Alma Broadfoot is spending a few weeks at her home here.

Mr. I. L. Broadfoot, who has been suffering from the effects of a paralytic stroke, is much worse.

Mrs. Joe, Wiley has returned home after spending a few days in Toronto.

The children's fall ball to be held at the school on Friday was quite a success there being a large exhibit of flowers, ferns, etc., and a large exhibit of writing and drawing.

Heating the Guest Room

ALL the heat generated by a Kelsey Warm Air Generator can be quickly directed to any room or any part of a building desired.

When quick heat is called for the whole strength of the fire can be immediately concentrated into one circulating pipe, if necessary, by means of the Kelsey Positive Cap Attachment.

This feature of Kelsey construction absolutely controls the heat circulation, directing the warm air to where it is most needed at any given time.

This positive Cap Attachment can be operated at will by the occupant of any room, and can be shut off in normal when the necessary heat has been secured.

Positive control of heat circulation prevents waste of heat and keeps down coal bills. That is why a Kelsey Warm Air Generator requires about one-third less coal than an ordinary furnace.

The economy of proper circulation of heat is fully explained in our booklet, "Achievements in Modern Heating and Ventilation." Send for it.

PETITIONS AGAIN

When the row by-law petitions were going the rounds some men vowed that was their last petition, and that hereafter they would not sign. Last week another petition was on the wing, and some citizens after signing that declare that it is their last.

Well, it is about time that Port Elgin got through with petitions. There is no virtue in a crowd, it is said by a noted writer, and there is little virtue in petitions, either. If an individual or a collection of individuals believe they have a good cause why cannot they go to the proper authorities and state the merits of their case, instead of going the rounds and asking for signatures.

Last week's petition made an appeal for assistance to permit the fowl of a certain south end resident to run at large. The object of giving assistance to anyone in distress is a good one, but to ask for privilege to break laws and create nuisances is not so good. There are other ways in which assistance can be given, and we respectfully suggest that the makers of the plea on the top of this certain petition should interest themselves and others in providing legitimate assistance, if they know that assistance is needed.

Then there is another way of looking at this petition business. Is it fair to the councillors when we elect to transact our business to waylay them with petitions asking them to break the law upon which the law is scarcely dear? Is it fair for citizens to sign petitions just for convenience sake, and then expect these men to have the courage to stand by their convictions? We submit it is not fair, and every man, or woman or child, who is confronted with a petition, and who does not think of the effect the granting of that petition would have on the community as a whole, is shirking his or her duty, and is not worthy of the liberty and the freedom which the franchise affords. We owe a duty to our municipal officers, and sentiment, or convenience to our selves is not the first consideration.

It is conceded that the running at large of the various things enumerated in the by-law which came into effect last June constitutes a nuisance. The applicant is endeavoring to get that citizens keep the law, and it is the duty of law-abiding citizens to help him in his task.

"Fight or Pay"

Speaking before a large gathering in Montreal the other day Mr. H. H. Ames, M. P., made it clear that it was the first duty of every one at home to see that the wives and families of the men at the front are well cared for.

"No one should look upon the giving towards a patriotic fund as a matter of charity. The giving to the fund is giving because they are not going to war. It is a question of fight or pay."

In a great crisis like this present war, in which the whole British Empire is concerned, one easily gets the measure of the people in a community. Men and women, too, who are looked upon as citizens of the intelligent and respectable class will show by their gifts and their utter concern that they should really have no place in the esteem and regard of their community.

Looked upon in the light in which Mr. Ames views the matter it would seem to be the duty of the men and women who have the better spirit of our community in charge, to see to it that those left behind here are well cared for. Not in the "foam and fancy" way in which it is apt to be done if left to everybody and nobody in particular.

As we understand it, the Militia Department at Ottawa is to give $20 per month, and the first cheques have been issued. Along with this it would be an easy matter for the town council and those in charge of the patriotic fund to make a general fund in charge of the town treasurer, so that disbursements could be made to the ones left behind, in a businesslike and regular way, that they might feel that this assistance is something which rightfully belongs to them, and not simply a matter of charity.

Yes, Mr. Ames is right. We should feel that we owe every protection and care to the wives and families of our soldiers who are fighting our battles at the front, and if viewed in that light we surely must feel that our gifts fall short of the mark.

NOTES BY THE WAY

One of the items in the abandoned protest against Wm. McDonald, for the North Bruce ward, contended that he had been guilty of treating. Imagine Billy McDonald buying drinks.

At the Sunday school convention held here, Mr. Halpin, in his address on "Efficiency" said that the inefficiency of the teaching staffs of our Sunday schools was in a measure responsible for the turning to evil of the country youth when it made its way to the large cities. With the inefficiency of the officers of rural Sunday schools we are not disposed to take issue, and we doubt if those rural affairs are any more deficient in spiritual things than the average city schools staff, but we do desire to bring to the rural youth is "swallowed up in an awful abyss" when it makes its way to the cities. We are quite sure that if statistics could be tabulated it would be found that the large majority of the workers in the city churches today are from the rural Sunday schools originally.

A Growing Town

When in Port Elgin on Tuesday the citizens pointed with pride to the fact that their village was the only one in Bruce County that was growing. This is due to the discovery that small fruits can be successfully grown at Port Elgin. The soil is light and the temperature is not so subject to a streamer head as cold as inland points owing to the soil and proximity to Lake Huron. We saw several acres of cherry trees, and peach growing in also being carried on successfully. In short it is a second Leamington or Burlington and some we may expect to see the farm along the lake shore and the Goderich Road divided into small fruit farms such as one may see in Burlington and the Niagara Peninsula. We were shown through Port Elgin by Mr. Bayles of the Times who is one of the high-spirited makers of Canadian local journalism and has the base end of the fourth estate down to a science. Mr. Bayles has our thanks for courtesy extended. It was, indeed, an evidence of the fraternity that exists among the publishers of the press in Bruce county.—Chas. Euterpie

MARRIED

DRUMMOND-PARK

The home of Mr. and Mrs. David Park Port Elgin, was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding on Tuesday Sept. 24th at 4 p. m. when their eldest daughter, Jean Allen, was united in marriage to Elphinstone Drummond of the city of Bruce. The bride who was given away by her father, was charmingly dressed in cream tulle with shadow lace and silk trimmings, and wore the groom's gift a diamond of pearls. Mr. and Mrs. Drummond left on Wednesday morning for a short visit with friends in Owen Sound and other points, the bride wearing a blue velvet dress with brown coat and hat to match, and on their return will reside on the groom's farm at Uxbridge. The Rev. Mr. Mann officiated.

NORTH BRUCE

Next Sunday is rally day in the Method. ist Sunday school on 12 con. Bruce.

Mr. Adam Naas has returned from Guelph hospital where he took a course of weekly treatment, but is not much improved in health.

Some work is being put on the west end of the boundary between Bruce and Bruce, when completed there will be a good drive way to the lake.

Miss Sarah Carr has taken a school on Manitowish Island for the fall term. Messrs. Tuck and John Nelson went to Orangeville on Thursday last.

Professor Leeson met his class here on the last three Tuesday evenings. This is a fine thing for the community and ought to be taken advantage of by all who are free to attend. North Bruce municipal school is now opening up and this is one of the town privileges we seldom get in the country.

Our Readers Can Help.

Your local paper is deserving of your loyal support. Without the advertisement no paper could well exist. Without the assistance the merchants give the public could not expect to secure a paper at any such rate as a dollar a year. Most of our merchants find it profitable to advertise, and we appeal to our readers to patronize these men who by their constant advertising patronage, are making it possible to produce a good local paper. This would be a dead town if the policy of certain people was generally adopted.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Next military camp will likely be established in Toronto. Well, since the eastern people have had a chance to see a real military camp in war time, it would please Ontario greatly to have the most contingent established in Toronto.

Since the government may appoint a censor for the telephone and telephone systems of Canada on account of war, the Bell Telephone company suggests that a "listener" might be placed at each central. We opine that there will be plenty of applicants for these jobs.

Concerning the peace talk which the German ambassador to the United States has been giving out, Winston Churchill, the British Admiralty Lord, made reply: "His vague talk of peace is as insincere as the information of which he is the source. Peace with the German people might be arranged in good time, but there would be no peace with Prussian militarism, short of the grave."

How long will the war last? Well, about all the editors have made a guess, some prophesying a long siege, others a short one. Meanwhile, we notice that Lord Kitchener, the man who is looking after affairs for Britain, says: "It should be borne in mind that the struggle will be a long one, and that reinforcements should be constantly streaming in in order to bring it to a successful conclusion."

Canadians stand to profit by the great war. This has been apparent in the minds of a great many, and especially those who place money as their standard of all things. For nearly twenty years this country has had abundant prosperity, and in that time a class of people has been developed who measure everything by dollars and cents. In a splendid editorial on this matter last week, the editor of The Toronto News, concluded a most impressive paragraph as follows: "Out of the war, perhaps, may come experiences that will be of value to us all. If in the future wealth counts for less, and culture and character and public spirit for more, we will be fortunate."

Port Elgin came into prominence again last week through the visit of The Globe's special agricultural representative, who he took for his subject an interview with Mr. J. B. Muir, one of the most successful farmers in Sangren, and in all Ontario for that matter. The Times reprints the article because it believes that it contains much information that could be profitably used by farmers everywhere. Mr. Muir's new residence is located in every respect, and one of the finest homes to be found in any rural district. Mr. Muir deserves praise for his energy and capability he has given his township, and this community generally, much prominence through out the Dominion.

Letter to Mr. Neany

To the Editor of The Times:

I have lately received a letter from a kind friend (who evidently had forgotten to put signature to it), informing me that the letter I was using, violated the office, and that the writer could prove it.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am sorry to take up your valuable space, but if this party has evidence to prove a violation of the license Act, I would like to get the names of the witnesses, the nature of the offence, and the date on which the offence was committed, and since there was no signature to the letter I received I am at a loss to know where to look for this important information, consequently I am taking the liberty of requesting you to publish this letter, so that the party concerned may see it and send me the necessary information.

Usually we do not give any attention to anonymous letters. In fact, we would prefer that our correspondents would not take the trouble to write at all if they are not interested enough in the matter to affix their names to their letters.

In my opinion, any citizen who knows that he is being violated by the doing of his or her fall duty, unless the matter is reported to the proper official, together with all possible information bearing on the matter.

For the benefit of our faint-hearted friend I would like to state that we are not allowed to divulge the names of informants.

Trusting that I have not trespassed too much on your good nature,
J. W. Neany

"C" Company Armories

Through the courtesy of Capt. S. H. Langford, whose photo is reproduced below, The Times representative was shown through the new armories which have just been completed, and are now doing good service in providing excellent quarters for the members of the company. The building is not new, but after remodeling on a plan adopted by the militia department for all single company armories in the Dominion, it makes an excellent training place. The building is sixty feet long, twenty-four feet wide. There have been fine new floors laid, and the sides and ceiling are neatly finished in wood. At the end of the main floor a target of modern design has been built, and to this equipment has been added a sub-target machine gun.

Upstairs there are lockers, rifle racks, canteens, etc. A locker is supplied for each two men, which will keep the uniforms and accoutrements in neat shape. On this floor there will also be provided a sitting room, where reading material will be supplied, and papers concerning military operations and instruction. It is intended to make a place where some spare time might be put in by the company members, and in the not distant future physical drill will also be taken up. In short, an endeavor will be made by the captain to make the place comfortable, and yet a place where a young man might get a fair military and physical training.

In Captain Langford the company have a most efficient and capable commander. Several years ago he enlisted as a private, and after serving two years as a non-com, he was promoted to a course at Stanley Barracks, as a lieutenant. About five years ago he qualified as captain. Coming on from the ranks Captain Langford is familiar with all branches of the service, and under his instruction the young men who are enlisting will receive fitting training.

The present war has revived interest. At first little enthusiasm or patriotism was shown by the young men of this town and vicinity, but the last few weeks has seen a great change and some thirty young men have signed up, and when the next call is made this town is assured of having at least a couple of young men anxious to get into the fray. The prospects never looked brighter for this company than now. It is understood that the Captain is to have an officer here to give instruction to qualify men for officers, and four corporals, four sergeants and two lieutenants will be instructed. If this can be carried out qualification will be received without going to barracks.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the house of Mr. and Mrs. William McKenzie, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. McClure and family of Edmonton. The party consisted of all Port Elgin people (namely Mr. and Mrs. John Bechler, Miss Eva Bechler, Mrs. Rhannon, Miss Gladys Chapman, Miss Ella Strong, Mr. and Mrs. John Bechler, and Mr. E. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Richmond, (nee Ada Shoemaker), Mr. and Mrs. Bert Taylor, Mrs. Shinner. Other guests being unable to come on account of the unfavorable weather. No need to say the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all being a Port Elgin bunch. The four hours were spent in singing and games, but best of all was the pleasant chat of Port Elgin, and the refreshments. (Signed) by the Bruce Old Boys.

This space is contributed for and controlled by the action of the W. C. T. U. of Port Elgin. Contributions should be addressed to the Secretary.

Even war may point the way to lasting moral reform. The Kaiser has forfeited the respect of all German troops and by precept and example brings total abstinence into his army. Long before the outbreak of the present European war he pointed out that the next world war would be won by the most temperate nation.

Amidst the under the ban in Paris and practically throughout France. The French Government is throwing on the side of all the stronger intellects and the one of light wings alone escapes the disapproval of the French officers. General Estienne strongly urges British troops to refrain absolutely from drinking while abroad.

In the old days drinking was universal in the armies and navies of the world. To day it is largely under the ban. The destruction of the modern battleship is too complex to permit to the enjoyment of drink-bombed sailors. The landing of big guns whether on land or sea, is too important a matter to turn over to nerves and eyes excited by the use of intoxicants.

The drink of today has no place in the industrial or military world. No matter what problem confronts a man, the use of intoxicants is unhelpful. The world has already played the ban on the drinker and will soon include the "moderate drinker" in the same list as the "drunken" man.

Farming In Saugeen

The Globe's special agricultural representative, who has been spending some time in Bruce county, last week had an interview with Mr. J. B. Muir, a prominent Saugeen farmer as to his method of farming.

The article contained a photograph of Mr. Muir's splendid new house. After some introductory paragraphs the interview proceeded as follows:

Driving through the township of Saugeen just an elderly farmer—one of the few left of the "old school"—I asked him if he knew of a man by the name of Muir.

"Muir?" he queried in surprise. "That'll be J. B. Muir. Do I know him? I know him about the best farmer in Saugeen. You see, he went to Guelph, but I don't know that his book-learning helped him any. There it was: the appreciation of success with the backward recognition of the part played by education in its achievement.

"I don't imagine he was much in special. I am an ordinary mixed farmer, as we say, fond of feeding beef cattle."

"Feeding beef cattle, you mean," I suggested.

"Oh, certainly! Nothing goes off the farm that isn't finished. I wouldn't have anything to do with beef cattle if I didn't keep them till they were in the prime of condition."

And the brokers on the Toronto Stock Markets will bear witness to the excellence of the practice hinted at in that speech. One of them brokers very often said: "Get Muir's cattle," while on one occasion a photograph was taken of a Muir shipment for export to illustrate of a typical group of well-finished Canadian export steers."

"At what age do you send off your finished stuff?" Mr. Muir was asked.

"At two years, if I can possibly manage to have it that way," was his reply.

"It is a common custom to finish at three years, but it is a great mistake. In my opinion more money is lost to the farmers of Ontario by the practice of holding cattle till they are three years old than by any other one thing. It is absolutely unnecessary, and the feed and care of the third year are wasted."

In support of this contention Mr. Muir has records of his sale of beef cattle for some years back, and these show that the extra year's feeding of a three-year-old brought no better money. "Of course, it depends on how the calf was fed," he explained. "Some men massacre the animal in the first few months; others to him. I feed and finish my own stuff at two years. Other men in buying for feeding, an unable to get year-olds and I must fill up with two-years. When they all go to market the next summer I get as much for my own finished two-year-olds as I do for those three years of age. Where did the extra year go? It is lost to some-one, isn't it?"

"You see, my first love is the beef animal," I was told by Mr. Muir. "We keep only enough horses for the farm work—no sheep and no pigs; all our time is put on the cattle, and the results are bound to come."

"Did you always stick to the beef cattle, even when prices were poor as they were a few years ago?" I asked.

"Always. We never quit raising, buying and feeding beef animals. I grant you, the price was not always a great inducement. I vividly remember that the best load of beef cattle I ever finished in my farm life gave me the poorest return for my labor something like eighteen dollars. But that was some time ago. Times have changed, and the prospects for the farmer who has cattle to feed are very bright now; never were brighter, in fact, that I can remember."

"Of course," he went on, "many farmers have been foolishly selling their young stuff and now are unable to buy feed. I am not going to quarrel with any man as to what he should sell and what he should keep, but I do know that, in a great many cases, the policy pursued was very short-sighted, and the inevitable result must now be met."

Farmers who have beef cattle now, for feeding this winter, are very fortunate."

Readers of this story will not be surprised when I state that on the day of my visit to the Muir farm I found one already in use and a second in course of construction. In Ontario beef cattle and also are very general, farms twice the size of this farm is rich in beef. Mr. Muir is making the new one 14 x 21 feet. "I am having it a little narrower because it is to be used for summer milking," he told me. "I have used the size long enough to know that milking is invaluable in winter and to learn that it is of the greatest help in summer. I will have the second all ready in a few weeks, then we will get to work on that corn out there."

"That corn" was a twenty-acre field of the finest corn the writer had seen anywhere in the Province this summer. Mr. Muir is a believer in clean, pure seed, and he selects his corn as he would anything else. Along with him, I walked through the patch, and was amazed at the unusually fine stand and the abundance of perfect, well-filled ears. "I have found out by experience that the way to buy seed corn is on the cob," the owner told me. "I have also learned that it pays to buy home-grown seeds rather than imported stock."

"Do you grow roots?" I asked.

In answer he led me to the root crop, covering some five or six acres. "You ever see better mangolds than these?" he asked. "And the turnips are just as good. The roots were all in clumps, unbeatable in quality and general appearance. They along with twenty acres of select corn will make up the winter rations of the forty-five animals that will be wintered this year as usual."

As becomes a gold-miner and an expert farmer, Mr. Muir is working with his prospector's colleague in field crop work. I had come to the farm just too late to see his crop of oats, which were of the celebrated O. A. C. No. 12 strain.

"I never had better oats on the place," I was told. "All the same, I have been for years selecting the 'Honey' variety, and this summer I had a grand crop. Seed selection pays. This year I took from a bare six acres over 700 bushels of fine quality. I am going to do more in the pure seed work in the future. Every ear I select is worth a dollar and a half, and that one bushel alone means a profit in producing registered seed."

This story must be short—my time is complete and exhausted. I found Mr.

F. R. Barber,

Muir and his assistant exceedingly busy. The sky was overcast—rain very near at hand—and one field of corn remained to be taken under cover. Naturally, the owner of the farm had not much time for talking with visitors and the facts herein set down were gleaned from a conversation made possible by one trip to the out field on the farm wagon. Return to the farm meant a hurried unloading and preparations for another busy trip to the waiting field. Anxious not to interfere with the urgent work on the "best farm in Saugeen township," as my elderly informant put it—I visited the well-laden orchard and left for Port Elgin.

Canada is to provide 114 big guns for its army. This will greatly aid in the equipment of the British field force, as reports from the front are to the effect that Germans have abundant big guns.

The engagement is announced of one of Port Elgin's most popular young ladies, Miss Annie Forrester, to Mr. T. Arthur McCarron, of Meaford, Ont. The wedding to take place quietly on October 8th.

The Ontario government have made an open season for shooting pheasants this fall. The open time will be two days each week, Tuesdays and Fridays between October 15th and November 14th. There shall be a limit for each man and no gun licence is to be shot under the penalty of $50 fine.

Pheasants are around in large numbers this fall. The day last week one of the beautiful birds flew through a pack of glass at Mr. C. E. Schwartz's residence. While it was easy prey for Mr. Schwartz he thought it too beautiful to kill, and as a result it was given its freedom.

The formation of a rifle club is being talked of for Port Elgin. Several prominent citizens have intimated that they are willing to assist in forming such an organization. Rifle clubs are being formed in many towns in Canada just now. There are plenty of good places where shots could be made right near the town.

Walter Scott never wrote a complete of the publication of the list of prize-winners at their fall fair. The Herald says it is about as follows: To a grand and joyful readers "as an old horse said."

And that's about the truth. What right has an editor to carry on a horse such a middle of names especially when the same name will appear as often as twenty times. Last year "The Times" adopted the plan of using a summary of the chief prize-takers, and this plan is the one generally adopted in Ontario.

How Ottawa Women Are Combining to Ensure Employment For Canadians—A Good Plan

"At a time when the Empire is straining every nerve against the common enemy it is essential that each and every section of the community should stand together. Canada is sending her soldiers to the help of Great Britain, but it must be remembered that scarcely less effective help can be rendered by keeping trade and industries prosperous throughout the Dominion. No one is able to say how the strain of war may affect us. Already there is a prospect of unemployment on a considerable scale during the coming winter.
"There are many ways in which the skill of unemployment may be fought, but one way is to keep up the demand for Canadian products in order that Canadian industries may continue to operate. Articles that are being produced in Canada are also being imported annually to the value of $104,639,879. By purchasing only commodities produced in Canada we should increase the output of our industries and provide employment for the idle hands of workers.
"To obtain this benefit it is hoped that, in so far as possible, housewives and others will buy products made in Canada."
McAuliffe League

This was the resolution passed at a meeting of several leading Canadian women in Ottawa on Saturday. They met to discuss ways and means whereby the women of Canada could effectively lend their assistance in aiding Canada over the probable stress and strain of the coming winter. Amongst the ladies present were Mrs. T. W. Cameron, wife of the Minister of Labor, Mrs. W. T. Herridge, wife of the moderator of the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Adam Scott, Mrs. Dr. Lyman, Mrs. R. H. Coats, and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, national convener of Household Economics. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Household League of Ottawa.

Official figures relating to the importation of goods produced in Canada were laid before the meeting, and it was found that in certain products $20,327,053 worth of the $104,639,879 imported came from the United States alone. For instance Canada, which is a wheat country herself, imports $268,617 worth of wheat flour from the United States. If Canadian women would see that they purchased Canadian flour only this in itself would be a great help.

Soap is another household commodity which is manufactured in Canada, yet we import $1,389,297 worth a year. 217 men are employed in this industry in Canada, but if our women would purchase only Canadian soap there would be employment for very many more.

It is the same with baking powder. We import $179,180 worth, the amount from the United States being $177,617.

Figures Given

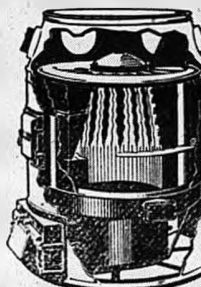

Canada imports blue for washing clothes to the extent of $50,421, biscuits $178,360, buckwheat meal or flour $9,360, corns $560,064, baskets $124, 10, buttons $951,222, candles $98,648, carpet sweepers $14,102, clothe-wringers $36,483, combs $338,516, cotton goods which include embroidery, clothing, socks, and stockings $27,416, 118, canned fruits $123,297, gloves $1,286,788, hair work $218,104, jellies and jams $815,617, Indian corn meal $174,779, lard $1,354,292, milk $22,309, oatmeal and rolled oats $2,626, pickles $461,544, rye flour $19,577, silk $9, 777,576, sauces $341,213, paints $1, 268,358, sugar candy and confectionery $1,549,167, starch $108,148, woolen goods which include shirts, stockings and knitted goods as well as tweeds $30,732,271, stoves $1,058,367, oats and caps $793,746, furs $1,378,121, baby goods $5,010,090, dried apples $16,823, furniture $27,790, cocoa $1,046,131, blacking $126,248, brooms, whisks, etc. $495,210; boots and shoes $536,700, aerated waters $34,702.
In the production of these articles, of household use there are 1,631 establishments throughout Canada and there are 82,630 employees. It would stimulate industry and it would mean employment for more if Canadian men and women would insist upon receiving Canadian goods when they are making purchases.
The shutting off of imports from Continental Europe into Canada, due to the war, gives many home industries an unexampled opportunity for immense and immediate development.
Canada will prosper at the expense of Continental Europe. This is not a time in Canada for repining on the part of the business man. We must be careful, even frugal, but we must also be bold.

20 to 30% Less Coal

On account of its distinctive construction the Kelsey Warm Air Generator saves 20 to 30% of coal bills.

A Kelsey has 61 square feet of radiating surface to 1 square foot of grate.

This large radiating surface is provided for in a battery of heavy, cast iron, Zig-Zag tubes that surround the fire grate.

These heavy tubes store up heat and radiate it evenly.

All the heat from the coal is concentrated in these Zig-Zag tubes which are right up against the fire. And because of their immense weight they retain the heat for hours after the fire gets low, making constant "firing up" unnecessary.

That is why the Kelsey is the most economical of all heating systems. It saves from 20 to 30% of coal bills.

Our booklet, "Achievements in Modern Heating and Ventilation," tells all about this economical heating system. Send for it.

A banking institution gets strength as much from the men who direct its affairs as from the actual capital invested. Mrs. Cann has returned from Manitoba. Mr. "Jack" Eaton, Toronto, millionaire and head of the big Eaton department stores, who built a church, bid $400 for a street car ticket and gave $300,000 to the government for war purposes, came in for criticism by Rev. W. E. Peacock, pastor of the Central Methodist church, Windsor, last week, saying that he dismissed 600 of his employees. Mr. Peacock claimed that considering the man's financial standing there was no occasion for such action. He denounced those merchants and manufacturers who dismissed their employees just because a war cloud appeared on the horizon.

He vaulted to Black Hall's back in the old graceful way, and the two rode off together in the clear afternoon sunshine. Mr. Hiddel and David stood until the riders had turned the corner at Grand Station; then David said, with a sigh, "That had no birth; hoped that Aunt Selma would have done it."

"Oh, yes, I will write at once, Sir Stephen, and tell her to let me know when to expect her!" Ada said cordially. "Where are your friends just

Mr. Biddle looked up when he had finished the letter.

Miss Elliot just smiled. "It has worried me a great deal; I am not very versed in the prophetic yet, I fear, but I do want Miss Elliot to come, and I think there is room enough for her in the left wing. But then a Solina is a little strange, and I am afraid of being fooled some day if she thinks she is not well."

very clearly then.

"I told Tom, I have thought of a plan," she said, a little shyly: "I will let Sir Stephen know of my own design. Why not write at once and tell Miss Elliott that as Darcy's health prevents her receiving a visitor just now—explaining also that she occupies a separate house—"

She paused, and looked up to see if her nephew, and for a moment Darcy thought she was displeased; but she grew calm in her usual manner. She seemed allied to the subject, and she was not so much surprised at the entire approval of what had been arranged, and though Darcy eyed her keenly he could detect no covert annoyance. But her long exposure to the

"It is a good thing I made that arrangement for Miss Elliot," Stephen remarked, when he returned. "It is quite patent that aunt Selina is much too ill to have the worry of a guest, so that!"

"It is a nice letter, uncle!" she said as she came it to Mr. Riddle to read.

And she looked down at her flaming ring with a wonderfully tender smile, albeit it was humorous.

Ada's heart gave a great bound. Did Miss Elliot know that Stephen adored her? Was it not quite clear to her that she was the woman he had loved all his life? Remembering what her

You see, it has been a long conversation for two very good reasons. First, and surely the most obvious, is that I have not had time for the last few years, and Captain Stordahl told only his part. But now dear Jack has had to leave me I felt it ought to end both for Gerald's sake and my own. Gerald has had a little money left him lately, so as soon as Aunt Mica comes over I must try to persuade him to go to the States with me. I thought, if Gerald has taken over your

Japan has taken Yap, a German possession. This will be a case of closing their yap.

Lord Kitchener has said it will be war lasting for two years. Canadians everywhere and in every capacity should be busy in giving assistance in every conceivable way to the Mother Land.

Canada in a couple of months more will have an army of 100,000 men. And it will take more than these. Be prepared is the foreword now.

Canada has now 50,000 men in training for the war. The government has asked for 50,000 more. Well, let's at least be quick about it.

Under a guard commanded by Capt. Tweedie of the 10th Buffs, 40 Austrian prisoners arrested at Sault Ste Marie were brought to Kingston where they will be held until the war is over. Among them were several who were suspected of being concerned in the attempt on the wireless station.

Statistics who have been working out the cost of the war to all nations involved declare that hostilities are costing at the rate of $34,000,000 a day, adding that it is more than probable that the figure is really lower than the actual figures will be. It is also stated that the cost involved in the killing of each soldier is about $3,850.

Newspersons are more than usually interested in the arrest of Khor. Magee, a Winnipeg editor following his criticism of the conduct of the camp at Valcartier and the alleged inefficiency of the Militia Department. Despite the fact that Canada is not under martial law the arrest was made by soldiers and he was confined to a military guardroom, the civil authority being ignored.

No question about the loyalty to Britain of the British Oct. 10, German. They have sent word to Lord Kitchener that they want German militarism crushed forever, and that they will send $75,000 as a contribution. This along with what they have already done, makes the Germanity of Canada a top-notch among the givers, as well as stamping them as loyal to the core.

In our columns last week mention was made of the rumor which was going the rounds that Lutheran preachers at Berlin and Hamilton had been warned by the police regarding the offering of public prayers for the success of German arms. The Lutheran divine at Berlin has absolutely denied the report so far as his town is concerned, while the magnificent gifts of the whole city of Berlin to the patriotic fund would tend to prove that there was splendid loyalty.

Our readers will remember some time ago that a report was current that Russian soldiers had been shipped through England to France. Dr. Bryon, the eminent historian who has just returned from the Old Land, tells in the following how the rumor originated:

It is claimed that the rumor that the travellers were Russian troops originated in a very interesting and amusing way. The headgear of the Highlanders somewhat resembles the elaborate "busby" of the Cossacks. Seeking to reduplicate the kindly greetings of the throngs who crowded the north of England stopping-places, the Highlanders raised their headgear and inquired in Gaelic: "Ois maid aibha's digh?" ("How are you to-day?"), which sounds more like "Ca mair Ruagha's Ju?" then anything else in the English tongue. Hence the positive assurance given by many who witnessed the transport of the troops southward through England that they were Russian soldiers. It will be remembered that the British War Office officially denied the arrival in Scotland and the transport through England of these regiments.

Communication.

Waltham, Oct. 13, 1914.
The Editor of The Times:
Sir.—I am glad to see for publishing the notice sent out asking the farmers to contribute oats to assist the British Government in the war. You do not seem to be favoring publishing this letter. I have received communications from a number of polling subdivisions where committees have been formed but not from all. I will be obliged if the Secretaries of Committees would let me know as soon as possible the number of sacks that will likely be required for their respective polling subdivisions, where the sacks are to be shipped to, and what station the oats are to be delivered at and what would be a convenient time for the delivery.
It seems to me that the farmers of Canada must recognize now, the great benefit that they are receiving from the protection of Great Britain. It must be apparent to every one that, but for the Navy of Britain keeping the ocean clear, our grain, which now can be forwarded to Europe at very little, if any, advance on the regular freight rates, would not in Canada be half what it is to-day.

Yours truly,
DAVID ROBERTSON.
P. R.—I enclose you copy of telegram to the Warden of Bruce from Hon. Geo. Foster.

MR. FOSTER'S LETTER
Ottawa, Oct. 12, 1914.
The Warden of the County of Bruce:
The farmers of Ontario having expressed a desire to show their loyalty in the present great struggle imposed on the Empire, by making a free offering to the British Government of the fruits of their labor, the British Government have gratefully accepted the proffered gifts and arrangements have been made for the transportation of these offerings from the point of shipment without cost to the donors. It is hoped that Municipal authorities will organize and supervise the collection of these at convenient points of railway shipment and see that all are properly packed and forwarded. These should be directed plainly and shipped to Department of Trade and Commerce, Montreal, Oats, beans, potatoes, apples, cheese and butter are acceptable. Oats and beans should be securely bagged, cheese and butter adequately boxed, apples boxed or burlapped and potatoes burlapped for ocean transport. Shipments should be made before end of October.

Minister of Trade and Commerce.

WILLOW CREEK

A FAREWELL GATHERING

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Berndt, 4th con Bruce, on the evening of Tuesday October the 6th. The members of the Evans-Isaac church, and other neighbors and friends gathered at their home to surprise Mr. and Mrs. Berndt, and their daughter Leona, just prior to their leaving home for their future home at Port Elgin. Rev. E. M. Gieseler, pastor of the Evangelical church, acted as chairman, and addressed the gathering in a happy manner. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Wright also spoke of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Berndt were held by all who knew them. For 44 years Mr. Berndt has been class leader of the congregation, and teacher in the Sunday school. Mr. Berndt was presented with a beautiful Bible, and Mrs. Berndt with an elegant clock, and their daughter with a fine jewelry case. The following address was read to them after which the recipients of these gifts made suitable replies. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies. All present wishing Mr. and Mrs. Berndt many years of happiness at Port Elgin their future home.
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Berndt and Miss Leona:—We as your friends and neighbors have gathered together here this evening to bid you farewell before your departure for your new home. I am sure there is no need to say that we are all sorry to lose such kind neighbors and church workers from our midst. You have always been in your place in the church, Sunday school and the young people's Alliance and we all are sure God has richly rewarded you for all that you have done. Now we would ask you to accept these small tokens not for their value but as a remembrance from your friends and neighbors. We all realize that your departure from our midst will be a great loss to us, but we feel confident that your influence for good will continue in your new home as it has done amongst us. Praying that God will still continue to pour down his richest blessings upon you and when life's journey upon earth is ended that we may meet in the better home where parting shall be no more. Signed by the members of the Evangelical church and neighbors.

QUESTION OF WORK AND "MADE-IN-CANADA"

Economic Situation of Grave Concern to Canadians—Cooperation From all Sides to Give Work

The war has had a sudden and pronounced effect on the "Made-in-Canada" movement which has been carried on in Canada during the past few years. Hitherto the educational campaign, to promote the sale of "Made-in-Canada" goods, has been viewed pretty much as the concern of Canadian manufacturers, and has, for this reason, been denied the sympathy and support of a section of the people. The war has changed all this, and today the "Made-in-Canada" policy is no longer looked upon as a matter of sentiment and patriotism, but is regarded as an economic necessity. The manufacturers and other large employers of labor are being appealed to by press, pulpit and public men generally to provide the maintenance of employment with a view to relieving the distress caused by the closing of many factories as a result of the war. Obviously Canadian factories cannot be operated unless there is a demand for their products. Hence the appeal on every hand to Canadians to patronize the goods made by their fellow-citizens in Canadian factories. It is admitted on all sides that there will be considerable unemployment, and consequent suffering during the next few months in Canada, but if every Canadian would, as far as possible, patronize home industries, orders would come in to many Canadian factories that have hitherto been placed abroad, and instead of a slackening in factory activity the wheels of industry might be operated with accelerated speed during this period of trial.

Manufacturers and other large employers of labor have agreed among themselves to maintain their working staffs as fully as possible even if they operate at cost or in some cases below cost. In so doing they are not actuated by any desire for profits, welcome as these would be, but solely with a view of relieving the distress which unemployment always brings. They feel that it is far better to furnish a livelihood for Canadians through honest work and honest wages than to dole out a pittance through charitable institutions. "Made-in-Canada," it is therefore, more than ever a practical business policy today. Every Canadian housewife, in fact, every purchaser of goods in Canada should practice it and encourage others to do likewise. About fifty cents of every dollar spent on the product of a factory goes to the workman. All interests are, therefore, combining in Canada during the next few months to increase employment by distributing as much as possible in the form of wages to the Canadian workmen in the Canadian factories. The campaign of the Canadian Press Association in this direction is most commendable, and will do much to restore confidence in the business and industrial community.

THE OUTLOOK IN CANADA

Handicap For Some Industries—Increased Activity For Others

Truly, it is an ill-wind that blows nobody good. One Continent's "down" is another Continent's "up." The industries of Europe are, generally speaking, at a standstill, and matters will be worse before they can be better.

The whole world is looking to the North American Continent—to Canada and the United States—for much of its provisions, machinery, textiles, boots and shoes, beverages, vehicles, cement, brick, earthenware, fancy goods, fur, glass, ceramics, paper, soap, tobacco, wood products, and much else. Canada must get ready to meet the demand made upon her. We have continued prosperously ahead of us if our manufacturers and merchants rise quickly to take advantage of their opportunity.

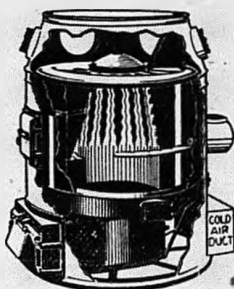

Encouraging Manufacturers

Last week was "Made in Winnipeg" week in the Manitoba capital, and manufacturers, retailers and citizens generally co-operated to bring the products of local industries before the public and to urge Winnipeg people to help build up a thicker and better city, by using goods made in local factories. The chief in this movement was the Chamber of Commerce, and the response which has been made by the citizens shows that western cities, as well as the older cities of the East, are developing a civic pride and a local patriotism that will be for the good of the community. "From 'Grafters' Guide," May 27, 1914.

Heating the Guest Room

ALL the heat generated by a Kelsey Warm Air Generator can be quickly directed to any room or any part of a building desired.

When quick heat is called for the whole strength of the fire can be immediately concentrated into one circulating pipe, if necessary, by means of the Kelsey Positive Cap Attachment.

This feature of Kelsey construction absolutely controls the heat circulation, directing the warm air to where it is most needed at any given time.

This positive Cap Attachment can be operated at will by the occupant of any room, and can be shut off to normal when the necessary heat has been served.

Positive control of heat circulation prevents waste of heat and keeps down coal bills. That is why a Kelsey Warm Air Generator requires about one-third less coal than an ordinary furnace.

The economy of proper circulation of heat is fully explained in our booklet, "Achievements in Modern Heating and Ventilation." Send for it.

WORKMEN CAN HELP TROOPS AT FRONT

Urged to Take Personal Interest in the Manufacture of Equipment for Soldiers

One of Canada's best known public men addressed the employees of a large boot and shoe factory in Montreal at their annual gathering last week as follows:

"This Company has obtained a contract from the Government for 40,000 pairs of boots, to be made by the soldiers going to the front. I am informed by the managing director that a very low bid was put in for these goods, primarily for the purpose of keeping you men and women employed during these trying times. Now, I want to say a word to you about the boot contract. These boots are to be worn by the Canadian soldiers who go to war. A soldier's usefulness depends largely upon his ability to march. He cannot travel unless his feet are sound, and his feet can only be kept in good condition if his boots are right. The management will purchase the best material possible to fill this contract. The superintendents will use the utmost vigilance, but unless everyone of you makes it a personal matter, some of these boots may not be quite right. It is easy for a hater to leave a nail in the sole, which may leave a man who wears the boot. The men who cut the soles might put in some weak shanks, in which case the soldiers wearing those boots could not use a spade properly; and it might happen that on their being able to dig entrenchments their very lives would depend. When you are putting in the counters, remember that a bad counter means a down-trodden heel and a blistered foot. When you are nailing on the heels remember that to drive the nails one-sixteenth of an inch short might mean that the heels would come off and the wearer be handicapped in marching. You women of the stitching room remember that if the buttons are not put in properly or any blemish occurs, it may result in a blister where the foot is chafed. Now, I want everyone of you to remember that these boots are to be worn by our Canadian boys and that a bad boot may mean a lame soldier, and a lame soldier may mean a Canadian taken prisoner or shot. People are giving large sums of money to help those who go to the war. You can help by seeing that they are properly shod. The honor of the firm and the lives of our brave men, I leave in your hands with perfect confidence."

WAR AND WHEAT

Winnipeg Quotations Much Higher Than Those of Minneapolis

The immediate effect of the declaration of war on the wheat market was, as is well known, a stiffening in prices. Roughly speaking the Winnipeg prices for wheat had averaged around 50 cents per bushel before the war, while recent quotations are in the neighborhood of $1.05 and have been higher. There have been some fluctuations due to uncertainty regarding the conditions of shipment and insurance across the Atlantic, but generally speaking there is little doubt that the war will mean much higher prices to the Western farmer than would have been the case if peace had prevailed. In so far as the increased price will compensate for a partial loss of crop, the West will gain from the war.

An interesting and interesting fact: The great difference in favor of the Winnipeg market in the price of wheat. On August 18th the Winnipeg price was 14 cents per bushel higher than the Minneapolis price for the same kind of wheat. In fact the difference was so great that Canadian millers were forced to buy American wheat which could be laid down cheaply at Canadian mills after the freight and duty had been paid than the Canadian price. Under war conditions, which, however, everyone hopes will not prevail long, it would seem that the Canadian wheat grower would suffer by a removal of the duty. The big American wheat crop has tended to reduce the price of wheat in this continent, and apparently there was a possibility of the Canadian millers paying large quantities of wheat in the United States, some of which might have been used in the one million bag order, comprising Canadian flour, given to Great Britain. The Government has, however, protected the interest of the Canadian wheat growers by requiring the mills to use nothing but Canadian wheat in manufacturing this huge order.

For Sunday School Workers.

There has been a rapid growth in the Sunday School work of Ontario during the last few years. The number of Sunday Schools has increased from 5081 to 5086. This is not the greatest evidence of growth. It lies in the increased enrollment in the Schools, due to the pressing and popularity of the Adult Organized Class Movement, the Grade Roll, and the Home Department. The enrollment in the 5086 Schools is 915,541. A careful classification of the Counties and Cities will be made again this year at London and Kingston (Oct. 27-30 and Nov. 4) at the Twin Conventions of the Ontario Sunday School Association.

The Value of Publicity.

In addressing a convention at Marquette, Mich. the other day, Rev. F. R. Leach said a number of things about church advertising which might be interesting to church people and to business men as well.

"A change and the use of up-to-date methods are called for if the church is to keep pace with the age. 'Many churches are shut out of the world by their methods of work and are afraid to get out of the beaten tracks. Jesus said 'Go and compel them to come in.' The church has the truth and must make men feel it. Shall we excuse ourselves for empty pews, if there is a way to fill them? The business world appreciates and uses advertising. Why not the churches?"

"There are twenty thousand advertising men in our country and they write annually $200,000,000 worth of newspaper advertising. Wanamaker took in $24.75 the first day in business and spent $24 of it in advertising. He now spends for advertising approximately a million dollars a year. The largest advertising contract ever made totaled $7,000,000. This was awarded by the Spangman Gun company and is to cover a period of seven years.

"The business of the church is to get new business. To do this we must advertise the good news. The church should advertise, because advertising reaches the people and brings them to the service. Merchants of Birmingham, N. Y. believe in advertising. They gave the usual Saturday space to ministers. On Sunday there was an increase in church attendance of thirty per cent. Mr. Hotchkiss, of Gimbel Bros. stores said: 'The fact that advertising has been neglected in church work has a tremendous loss.'

Mentioning the best methods by which his plan could be carried out, Rev. Mr. Leach advocated that the church prominent in the community, featuring the Sunday evening service, using newspaper advertising, cards, church bulletin boards, placards in windows, moving picture slides and special service and themes. He urged every church to finance this work by giving it a place in the church budget.

Slendering Kitchener

Last week an exchange had the paragraph which is quoted below, under the heading, "Kitchener Gives Rum." Every man on the battle line will fight with a full stomach, said Lord Kitchener at the outbreak of hostilities with the Germans, and the publication of Tommy's men shows plainly that British war minister has made good his word. Every soldier allowed a pound and a half of bacon and beef per day; a pound and a half of bread with cheese jam; two ounces of tobacco, and much to the surprise of the more radical section of the people, a generous allowance of rum. The same item appeared in other papers under various headings. It is only fair to state that "information" was sent to these papers in typewritten form for the "Toronto Free Press," "Agency, 16 Wilton Ave., Toronto. This 'News Agency' is run in the interests of liquor trade in Canada. Papers get free of charge. A weekly news letter, which is compiled by an editor in charge. The one aim of this 'News Agency' is to discredit the temperance cause, and the above article sent out as distorted and twisted in every conceivable way in the effort to accomplish the purpose. The above slendering of Kitchener is a fair sample. Kitchener did say, 'every man on the battle line will fight on a full stomach, but the rest of the paragraph is the work of the liquor trade.' 'News Agency' The facts are that Kitchener has forbidden the use of liquor of any kind in the army, and has given orders that consignments from friends must not be forwarded. The liquor trade is only showing its hand when it will libel a man like Kitchener in order to make it appear that there is some use for intoxicating drinks. The use of liquor has been prohibited in the Russian army and in the Canadian camp as well in the British ranks.—Forest Free Press.

Trouble is, most weekly editors are not reading and making their own "copy." They are too eager to scissours anything they see with a tempting headline and print it as coming from themselves. Credit the articles taken from other sources, is the only safe way.

NOTES BY THE WAY

"I would rather own a good farm in Western Ontario than have any job I know of." George P. Graham, ex-Minister of Railways, speaking at London. All right, George, we have lots of fine land up here, and we'd be glad to have you for a neighbor.

"We can send enough to add the finishing touches to Germany without the aid of either France or England, half a million of them if they are required." Col. Sam Hughes speaking at New York before he left for England. While we might believe this, Colonel, still, we are sorry you told so many people.

Editor Schetter of The Midway Gazette is experiencing some boycotting on the part of Germans in his community for the British stand he is taking. Editor Schetter would only be doing the fair thing to publish the names of the boycotters, so that people might know who they are.

Princess Mary is urging the women of the British Empire to plan to make Christmas gifts to the army. Perhaps this may help to cut out a lot of that useless giving—the kind of giving where the giver is a little bit disappointed if something is not received in return. If you give to the soldier at the front he will not be able to send you something back, but remember he offers his life in the defence of our country, and "greater love hath no man."

Liquor And War

What the London Times says.—Issue of 8 p. 20th, 1914, "The trail of the German troops is marked, as innumerable witnesses testify, by myriads of empty bottles. Their once proud soldiery is now crippled by the colossal found in a stupor amid his unconscious men beside a cask in a Yperny cellar may contrast with this picture the spectacle presented by the Allies. Russia absolutely prohibiting the sale of vodka and beer throughout her immense dominions. France for bidding the sale of absinthe, the British soldier marching through the best vineyards in existence, and temperately demanding, as many letters tell us, his cup of tea. The great victory over drunkenness in Russia has received far too little attention in this country. Since Canada proscribed opium the world has seen nothing like it. We have been well reminded that in sternly prohibiting the sale of spirituous liquor Russia has already vanquished a greater foe than the German. It is fairly realized that for the Allies, and for the first time in history, this is to all intents and purposes a "total" war. We hope that the indiscreet people who insist on "treating" our soldiers and sailors on their return from the front will realize it very quickly.

MAKING'S OUTCASTS.

The lion may tear his male mates, but the lioness is always safe. Protection for the producing sex seems to be one of the laws of the animal universe. There are outcasts even among the animals, but the good dog does not turn and attack the mother of his puppies, though he may come to fight with the grown pup.

An English gentleman in this country brought a letter into this office the other night in which he trusted Lord Kitchener made plain that the male of the German had not the soul of an animal when a female of the Belgians came before his eyes as a target for his strange sublimable rage. The letter told of the severing of a Belgian mother's hands that an infant before he had an infant.

God knows the world is wild enough, and wicked. But all through our barbarian history since Christ came, the women and children have been spared in battle by all the ignorant savage. And now a Godless horde of monsters draws the cure of every other man's sin and rends itself from the roll of all mankind. Humanity has fled from the German nation; men of the German have degraded the universe and become lower than the animals. Let them win the world, and the world becomes a material as Belgium has become the sport of a scourging fiend.

If one third of the reports heard have a grain of truth, then the German nation has lost out Satan. It has made a mere shadow of all man's foulest deeds rolled into one and smashed and destroyed every good thing that ever came from the Teuton race. All well to call the Kaiser mad. We believe him all too sane, or that his subjects are equally madmen. But this scourge of Europe is the cold, Christless snare of a nation of thinking machines and blasphemers, not the madhouse of blind savages.

Can there be a true patriot in the German national character? Not in one million years. The character that calmly, coolly, proudly, cuts off hands of women and children is the character of the carrion raven. The German character cannot be all in all but the eating of the flesh of its victims. The world has a new, sane, intellectual, monstrous, heartless giant of an orange-onting to tame or destroy. That is one reason why Canadians should be eager and anxious to enlist in the army that stands in the German's path. We should send every man who can be spared to put bonds on the monster. Force of arms alone will beat him down, force alone will smash the last trace of "culture" from his slazy breast.—London Advertiser.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN FOR OUR OWN GOODS

Galt Editor Urges Country-wide Organization to Promote Sale of
"Made-in-Canada" Products

The Galt "Reporter," a few days ago, had the following timely and interesting editorial under the heading "Buy Canadian-made Goods" on the economic situation in Canada arising out of the war:

"While one of the immediate effects of the European war was the dis-organization of trade in Canada, a secondary result should be of a stimulating character. Owing to the fact that the continent of Europe is the centre of hostilities, a considerable amount of manufactured goods formerly imported from Germany, France, Austria, Belgium and other countries will now have to be produced here.
Reports show that every year millions of dollars worth of manufactured goods from these countries are sold in Canada. Our own mechanics and artisans can produce such articles as well as the foreign workers and if the manufacturers take advantage of the opportunity provided, the war should result in more work, instead of less, for their employees.

"But the whole responsibility of making the best of the present situation does not lie with the manufacturers. If the people will demand Canadian made goods they will be not only supplying their personal needs but creating work for their fellow-citizens. When the Empire is involved in such a tremendous crisis as the present there is something for all to do. We cannot all go to the front but those who stay at home can do a great deal towards creating conditions that will make the suffering here as light as possible.

"The patriotic citizen, when he goes to the store to fill his wants will demand in every case possible goods "Made in Canada." There should be a well-defined campaign carried on throughout the country urging Canadians to purchase goods of home manufacture. If an accelerated demand for Canadian goods is created during the war, it will doubtless be maintained after normal conditions return in Europe.

"In this way we stand to benefit permanently by insisting that what we buy must be Canadian-made."

An exchange has a very good one about a merchant who complained of people dealing out of town. The editor, who had noticed an imported letter head on the merchant's desk, heard the complaint to its melancholy end, and agreed to everything. Then he casually inquired if the merchant got his printing done in town, and the explanations are not over yet.

Russia is Done With King Alcohol

The Russian Government will never again embark in the manufacture and sale of alcoholic drinks. This statement, confirming previous reports, has been made in the name of Emperor Nicholas himself.

The Russian Union of Abstinence, which devotes its energies to the combating of alcoholism, addressed to Emperor Nicholas a petition that he forbid forever the sale of spirituous liquors in Russia. His Majesty replied in a telegram sent in the name of Grand Duke Constantine, and addressed to the President of the alliance, in which he said:

"I thank you. I long ago decided to be in revolt for all time in Russia the sale of alcoholic drinks by the Government."

Superior Fisher had men engaged last week in putting in three cement drains on Goderich street. The old drains were removed, and the new ones made a great deal larger.

Somebody On The Line.

Eavesdropping should be changed to receiverdropping, for the dishonorable listener now makes use of the modern device. Party or rural services running through many homes are not free from this kind of espionage, and anyone can listen to the conversation of friends and neighbors. This has become such a passion with some that there is an authentic record of a lady tying the sounder to her while operating a sewing machine.

All this will be ended by the device of an inventive American. He has patented an attachment that will not only inform users if a third party breaks into a service line, but will give them the number of the intruder. There will be no satisfaction in listening if the invasion of privacy is known. While this invention will end the practice of listening on rural circuits and will thus bring them into more popular use, assured privacy through the central exchanges must wait the general adoption of automatic connecting devices—Globe.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Remember "Made in Canada" goods, and be sure that the "Made in Canada" slogan is not merely printed over the German made variety.

The Hon. Robert Rogers says there will not be a Dominion election until 1915. Well, the Hon. Rob. knows, and we think the people will be pleased with the announcement. We have too many other important things on the tapis just now.

Some people think this great war will mean the millennium. We don't know, but the other night at a council meeting we loaned a councillor a fine, long lead pencil, and he returned it to us yesterday. Surely, something is to happen.

A number of towns and cities have already organized rifle clubs, and men of all ages have joined in for the purpose of becoming proficient with rifles. It is the proper thing, and the men of Port Elgin could spare a little time in this work.

Kitchener says we have now over a million men in good shape for fighting by the end of next year there will be three million in nice fighting trim. We of which news will give the Kaiser that cold clammy feeling which usually overtakes one, when a visit to the dentist is being considered.

A French doctor took a war indemnity from a German prince last week by charging him the sum of $85,000 for an operation, owing to an injury the Prince received while in the war. It would be cheaper for most of us to die, except, of course, such bloated plutocrats as the editor of The Thomsville Herald.

There is lots of room for stalwart young men in the contingents which are to go from Canada to assist the Mother Land in the great war. In the enlistment of the future contingents no recruit between the ages of 19 and 21 years will be taken without the written consent of his parents. In the case of a volunteer over 21, whose parents are dependent upon him, their consent will also be necessary.

The war has not made prices any higher, so far as Port Elgin is concerned, and citizens generally are not feeling the pinch in any way. Sugar is the only commodity in which there is any advance worth speaking of. The merchants have rendered good service in endeavoring to keep people from "stocking up" any more than what is necessary. People, as a general rule, have control of all these matters, if they will only take a moment to think.

The Kincaid Reporter says that at conclusion of a concert in that town the other week during the singing of the National Anthem not a member of the audience left their seat or the hall until the music was over.

WEALTH OF HAIR

PARISIAN SAGE MAKES THIN LIFELESS HAIR SOFT AND ABUNDANT.

Beautiful hair thick, soft, fluffy, lustrous, and free from dandruff, is one of woman's greatest charms, yet so many have streaked, thin and lifeless hair and think there is no remedy. Pretty hair is largely a matter of care.

Frequent applications of Parisian Sage will rub into the scalp, is all that is needed—it acts like magic. Try it tonight—you will really be surprised with the result. Not only will the hair become soft, fluffy, radiant with life, and really doubly beautiful, but all dandruff disappears, falling hair and itching scalp cease—your head feels fine.

All druggists sell a large bottle of Parisian Sage for fifty cents. Get it from H. C. Crawford, he will refund the money if you are not satisfied.

the last note was sung. This is as it should be, and Port Elgin audiences might take a lesson from this splendid example. Too often the moment a concert or other entertainment is concluded the audience, as soon as the National Anthem is begun, make a grab for coats and wraps, and rush for the aisles and doors. The National Anthem is a prayer, and the same reverence should be given it as to any other prayer.

That "contemptible little army" has its stinger working in good shape, as the Kaiser is finding out slowly but surely.

The War office wants 1000 chauffeurs for motors and motor trucks. Here's a chance for a lot of the speed fiends to enlist.

Germany says it will repay the residents in East Prussia for $55,000,000 damage the Russians have done there. But, hold on, the war isn't over yet.

If we had a war censor working in Canada about now, we might get less of that flab-dub about the Canadian contingent in England. One heading in a Toronto daily was that "Princess Pat's Pets were Popular."

One horseshoe is good luck, so the said, but a load of them must be junk. And so will be the thousands of iron crosses the German Emperor is handing around by the time the war is over.

George Keyes, the venerable editor of Port Elgin, is dead, aged 82 years. It is worthy of note that he learned his trade from Mr. MacKenzie Bowell, of The Bellefleur, Bellefleur, who is still living, and over 90 years of age.

About this season of the year a number of county jail wardens boast of the low cost of maintenance for prisoners, some quoting as low as 8c per day. After all, is it anything for such a prosperous and civilized province as Ontario to boast of?

Surge Mullard, I was with your sister when she died. Our camp hospital at Vilvorde was burned to the ground, and out of 1,517 men and 21 nurses only 19 nurses were saved, but 49 men managed to get clear away.

"Grace requested me to tell you that her last thoughts were of Andrew and you, and that you were not to worry over her, as she would be going to meet 'her Jocky.' These were her words."

"She endured great agony in her last hour. One of the soldiers (our men) caught two German soldiers in an act of cutting off her left breast, or right one having been already cut off. They were killed instantly by our soldier."

"Grace managed to scrawl the enclosed note before I found her. We all say your sister was a heroine. As she was a 'house nurse'—that is, she was out on the fields looking after wounded soldiers—on one occasion, when bringing in a wounded soldier, a German attacked her. She threw the soldier's gun at him and shot him in the hip. Of course, all nurses are armed. We are all quite safe here now, as there have been no reinforcements."

Jock mentioned by Miss Hume to Jack Mullard was Miss Hume's brother, John Hume, who was one of the men on the Titanic, and was lost with that vessel.

CALLS STUDENTS

Summons Men Usually Thought Revolutionary.

Petrograd, Cable-Under instructions from Emperor Nicholas orders were issued today from the War Office calling the students of universities and high schools, who ordinarily are exempt from military service.

The order, in conjunction with the recent victory, caused great enthusiasm among the students. A small parade started this afternoon grew in time until the wide Nevsky Prospekt was filled.

Teachers' Convention

The West Bruce Teachers' Association held its annual meeting in the Assembly hall of Kincardine High School on Thursday and Friday October 15th and 16th. The attendance was a record one all but seven of the teachers in the inspectorate were present.

The first session began on Thursday, afternoon with the president, Mr. McRay, Prin. of H. S. Kincardine, in the chair. Mayor Mitchell addressed the teachers on the growth and beauty of Kincardine and extended to the teachers a hearty welcome to the town.

A committee on resolutions was appointed which in its report, approved of a scheme of superannuation for the teachers; the granting of $25 to the Red Cross Society, and $25 to the Patriotic Fund; the appointing of a committee for the Strathcona Trust Fund; that it was in the best interest of the public school to make History an Entrance subject, all of these resolutions were discussed before the convention and carried.

The conversation was particularly fortunate in securing the services of Mr. D. D. Mosher, of the Normal school, staff, Toronto, and Mr. Mosher with the same class introduced some new methods in phonics after which he taught a lesson in Literature, his class being the teachers present. The passage was from "Lockley Hall," by Tennyson.

Miss Morrissey entertained the teachers with a patriotic song by her primary class, after which she taught a very excellent lesson in primary reading.

Many new ideas were presented to the teachers all of which should produce fruits in the class rooms of those present.

Miss Mansfield and Miss McTavish were delegates from West Bruce at the convention of rural teachers held in Guelph last August. Both ladies gave splendid reports of all seen and heard at Guelph.

Mr. Thomson, of Teeswater, gave a paper on "Bird Study" and how best to carry it on. He dealt with the necessity for destroying the English Sparrows and Cow Birds, and urged the teachers to bring to the attention of their pupils the newly issued paper "Protect the Birds."

Miss Grievie with a class of 12 pupils, gave a number of physical exercises and explained the effects of each. The exercises, do much good to the pupils and furnish a means to revive the attention of an otherwise dead class room.

Nature study is one of the live subjects on the Ontario public school course of study and its uses and abuses with the means necessary to securing the best results were gone into in detail by Mr. Shales, of Kincardine H. S.

Miss Fisher, Paisley, dealt with the teaching of Art, and by the use of numerous illustrations from the work of pupils in her own school she showed what it is possible to do as explained in detail how it could be done.

Miss Malcolm by the use of a paper selected from those written by pupils in 1914, showed the usual mistakes made by pupils on Entrance Examinations in Geography and suggested to the teachers some ways of overcoming them.

On Friday afternoon, the teachers, were favored by Mr. Mosher, with a lengthy address "Causes of the Present War." All present were very grateful to Mr. Mosher for the excellent way in which he placed the subject before them.

The auditors' report showed that there was a balance on hand of about $250. The following officers were appointed for 1915.

President—Mr. Draper, Kincardine.
Vice President—Miss Strathdee.
Committee—Miss Malcolm, Miss Morrison, Miss Stewart, Miss Mansfield, Miss Heuson, Messrs McKay, Thomson, and Shaw.
Sec'y-Treasurer—Mr. Bald.
Place of Meeting 1915—Kincardine

The Ripley Express says potatoes are selling at 25 cents a bag in Ripley vicinity, and that farmers, find it difficult to secure a market.

BURGOYNE

The stern trade made its appearance again with the yearly notice of assessment amounts. The rates are not getting any smaller but if they don't go beyond 11 cents on the dollar there is not much cause for complaint. Roads, especially hill faces, are in bad shape at fall and spring, and it takes money to keep them in shape.

Mrs. Watt has returned from Walker. Mrs. Munro, of Port Elgin has been visiting Mrs. Hilborn for a few days. Mr. Shondelmire is visiting his sister, M. Gingrich.

The Burgoyne S. S. has closed for the winter, after making good growth. The church services begin at 7 p.m. now.

Mr. Knox, after disposing of his property in Allenford, is contemplating removing to Burgoyne.

First snow Monday. A gentle reminder of the winter.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Canada is at war, and is liable to attack by the enemy. Young men should enlist. Be prepared.

"Calais or bust," so says der Kaiser. As we cannot find that place "Bust" on the map, we presume it must be an obscure suburb of Berlin.

The Prince of Wales when asked to honor dances with his presence very properly pointed out that England was in the throes of a great war, and that things were too serious to indulge in such frivolity. There is a splendid lesson here for British subjects generally. In all too many places one could collect dollars for a dance, but only pennies to aid the Empire.

Ambassador von Bernstorff, the German representative in the United States, has hinted that Germany may require Canada for operations very shortly. Whether this is just bombast, or whether the Count is in real earnest we do not know. However, one thing Canadians may be sure of, there are thousands and thousands of Germans and Austrians in the border cities with strong feelings against Canadians, and it should not surprise us if a raid were made at some of these border crossings. Canada is proving a great help to the Mother Land. Not only is the sending men, but think of the tremendous amount of supplies which are being shipped to the Old land. If the German fleet comes from its hiding place in a body and engages the British fleet, some of them will in the mix-up get away, and these will prove a menace to Canada and incite still further the feelings of the Germans and Austrians across the line. However, Canadian officials are not entirely unprepared for any such emergency. As Canadians, and at war, we should be on the look-out.

thing which does not give them a bigger rating than they are worth. We have heard Port Elgin people talk about having 2000 people here, but this was away back in the dim and distant past.
Port Elgin's population to date is but 1800, and our growth for this year was 81. Small, yes, but let's hear from another Bruce county town that has increased that much.

Meaford may open its public library on Sunday. Well, if it will keep young men and boys off the street corners, it will be worth trying.

In sending Northern Spies to the Old Country be sure there are no German spies in the shipment.

The Palmerston Spectator will hereafter be known as The Wellington County Spectator. This means, we suppose that instead of using his country exchanges for the news The Spectator will have special correspondents in every little hamlet. But, what's in a name?

Many friends will be glad of the restoration to health again of Editor Short of The Southampton Beacon, who has been undergoing a siege of sickness.

A petition signed by 1300 convicts of the Illinois state prison for state-wide prohibition, has been sent to the Illinois legislature. Apparently these men think they could at least keep out of jail if the rest of the people would keep the booze away from them.

The Kincardine volunteers for the second contingent were given a public reception and a neat wrist watch by the town. In view of the farewells given to the lads who volunteer by other places it does look as if Port Elgin was a little slack.

Twenty Canadian cities' contributions to the Canadian Patriotic fund amount ed to the magnificent sum of five million dollars. It is often said that city people live from hand to mouth. It may be true, but when the occasion arises they are not backward in sharing up for the needy. The splendid gifts for the wives and families of the soldiers, who have come to the front, by these city folk, gives reason for gladness that the real spirit of giving still lives. Have you, gentle reader, contributed anything to this worthy object?

The war is doing Canadians a great service if it does nothing else than teach them the importance of giving. How sad it is in some localities we find so many people arguing and grouching over the fact that a movement is on to make a gift to the volunteers or on to the men and women who give what they can. It is truly said that "he who gives quickly gives thrice." Yes, the war is helping us to find the rightward and the good, and it is also helping us to place a new value on people.

At a convention of the Sunday School Institute at Washington last, and Episcopalians curate said that people should be compelled by law to attend church, declaring that he could prove his contention by the Bible. We do not doubt the rev. gentlemen's proof, but there

An "Empress" design.
"Empress" is the name given to shoes that are designed to assist people in walking. A study were born to walk. As they of the above and other styles we have will help to make contented women.

would be several obstacles, and the chief one would be to determine just what church the individual would be compelled to attend. Then, too, compulsory church attendance, would necessitate compulsory giving. What is needed is a method of redistribution.
There is too much overlapping of effort.

The disquieting news that the rebel-ion in British South Africa has flamed up again in new quarters, led this time by the better known names of De Wet and Beyers, will have the effect of stiffening the back and tightening the sneaks of every true British subject.

Treason and treachery are the whips which sting the genuinely loyal to greater exertion. And this ought today to be the case with our loyal Canadians.
Our men should reply to Beyers and De Wet by enlisting.

Our Government should send a practical message of support and sympathy to both by HURRYING UP their stream of volunteers across the Atlantic. The Ministers had far better be thinking how to defeat the Germans than how to "dish the Grits."—Montreal Star.

The Telescope's accusation that the Borden Government is giving contracts for military supplies solely to Conservative firms is sadly lacking in facts and is little colored with truth. We don't have to go any farther afield than Port Elgin to see the falsity of the assertion, as H. H. Stevens, one of the staunchest Liberals in the county, has been awarded a $30,000 contract for military brushes for the army. No political preference is shown in the placing of these orders, the awards being made solely on their merits and the ability of the firms to supply the required equipment.—Walk-

BRUCE TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

A meeting of Bruce Twp. Board of Health was held on the evening of the above date. Meeting called to meet Dr.
McNally, district medical health officer Minutes of previous meeting read, adopted and signed.

Dr. McNally was then called upon and addressed the Board in a practical way showing the duties of the Local Boards of Health and their relations to the District Officers and the Provincial Board of Health. He then went into the cause of a large percentage of diseases showing the considerable of it could be avoided if all people would take reasonable precautions. He also strongly emphasized the necessity of a good supply of pure water and that the surroundings should be so fixed to prevent contamination from outside sources. He also emphasized the fact that it was the duty of the local board to see after these matters in their municipalities, failing which the provincial board would enforce the act. Thus showing that it is the clear duty of all to co-operate in advancing the general health of a community. He strongly advocated the placing of Sanitary drinking fountains or tanks in all schools, and public places as the old time pump and cup was a con-source for the spread of the germs of contagious diseases.

Prayer

(By Dr. Schofield, in the Presbyterian)

It is as wise and proper to pray for success in our daily work, and enterprises as it is to pray for spiritual blessings. If your occupation be of such a character that you cannot ask God's blessing on it you had better get out of it as quickly as possible. In every legitimate calling you will attain a greater degree of success if you ask God to bless Him in all your ways, for he will direct your steps.

Are you engaged in business? If so, you need not to be told that the pace is so fast, and the pressure so high to-day that business draws fearfully on the vital forces, and so tends to greatly reduce the nervous strength and induce a low condition of mind and body.

The tax on body and brain is so great that thousands of business men break down when they ought to be at their best—paralysis or heart trouble results. Now the very best antidote for all this is surely the most powerful of all agencies, communion with God. Prayer offered out of a trustful spirit has most wonderful power to cast out despair, rejuvenate the nervous system, and to quicken fresh life, courage and hope. It will give a quiet and tranquillizing sense of the Divine presence and sympathy.

It will turn darkness into daylight, it will turn despondency into triumph and make life bright and hopeful. The coming of the Spirit of God is like a sudden fresh breeze on a hot sultry day. It brings new strength and new life, and enables us to rise above disappointment and weakness. Just when we feel most helpless it will be our greatest service, because it is the medium by and through which God can reach us and charge us with new power. The overworked over-anxious business man needs today as never before the cheering tonic sunshine, the quietness and peace that can come only from communion with God.

There were times, too, when the business man is perplexed and hardly knows what to do. Sometimes by the fault of others there are tauntings that need to be straightened out. How shall we do it? At other times some new enterprise in connection with his business presents itself. Shall he enter upon it? If so, in what way?

After studying the question and getting all the help he can from loved ones, he is still uncertain what to do. There is a way out of the tangle and the uncertainty. Jesus said: "Enter into thy chamber and thy door. Then pray to thy Father in secret." "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God."

Blessed is the man who has learnt how to pray, for he shall hear "the still small voice" speaking to him. "Thou shalt hear a voice behind thee saying this is the way, walk ye in it." By and by the voice will be uttering in his guidance. There are Christian business men who invariably follow this rule, and are never disappointed and never misled. This law is just as sure when applied to other callings.

I do not mean that prayer is to take the place of work. We must work as if everything depended on us; we must pray as if everything depended on God. Not prayer instead of work, but prayer that we may have wisdom, inspiration and strength to work. God never fails! The secret of success is to live in God, for it is as true for us as well as for Paul that we can do all things through Him.

The Parable of the Prodigal Father.

And He said, "A certain man had two sons, and the younger of them said to his father, 'Father, give me the portion of the time, and thy attention, and thy companionship, and thy counsel and guidance which falleth to me.'"

"And he divided unto them his living in that he paid the boy's bills, and sent him to a select preparatory school, and to dancing schools and to college and tried to believe that he was doing his full duty by the boys."

And not many days after the father gathered all his interests and aspirations and ambitions and took his journey into a far country, into a land of business, and other things which do not interest a boy, and there he wasted his prodigious opportunity of being a chum to his own son."

"And when he had spent the very best of his life and had gained money, but had failed to find satisfaction, there arose a mighty famine in his heart, and he began to be in want of sympathy and real companionship."

And with other men, he formed a club, and they voted him a good fellow, and he took part in their games and conviviality."

"And he felt would have satisfied himself with the husks that other men did eat and no man gave unto him any real friendship."

But when he came to himself, he said: 'How many men of my acquaintance have boys, whom they understand and who understand them, who talk about their boys and associate with their boys and seem perfectly happy in the comradeship of their sons, and I perish here with heart hunger. I will arise and go to my son and will say unto him, 'Son, I have sinned against Heaven and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy father. Make me as one of thy acquaintances', and he arose and came to his son."

"But while he was yet afar off his son saw him and was moved with astonishment, and instead of running and falling on his neck, he drew back and was ill at ease. And the father said unto him, 'Son I have sinned against Heaven and in thy sight, I have not done my duty by you, and I am no more worthy to be called thy father. Forgive me now and let me be your chum.'"

"But the son said, 'Not so, I wish it were possible, but it is too late. There was a time when I wanted to know things, when I wanted companionship and advice and counsel, but you were too busy. I got the information, and I got the companionship, but I got the wrong kind, and now, alas! I am wrecked in soul and in body, and there is nothing you can do for me. It is too late, too late, too late.'"

Auctioneer Clayton of Tiverton, was last week.

Today is the day for the shipping of oats from the various centres of Bruce county. The farmers were busy Monday and Tuesday drawing the grain from this section for shipment from here.

There are two reasons why we recommend the Hecla Warm Air Furnace before every other furnace on the market.

1st---It never leaks gas or dust. Never. That is guaranteed.

2nd---It saves one ton of coal in seven.

Two strong features! Due to two Hecla patents.

Cannot Have Stage and Rural Route, Too.

The following is from The Kincardine Review, edited by Hugh Clark, M. P., who represents this constituency, concerning the cutting off of the stage between Port Elgin and Kincardine: The Bruce Township Council is petitioning the Dominion Government to continue the stage route between Port Elgin and Kincardine, as it is of much advantage to the people who live some distance from a railway. The government has nothing to do with stage lines, but the stage would not be likely to continue running if the mail subsidy were withdrawn as it will be when rural mail delivery is installed. The P. O. department will not give a duplicate service. The only way to continue the stage in operation is to abandon the idea of rural mail delivery between Kincardine and Port Elgin.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Crowe, a daughter.

Rev. J. A. Jovitt and family are leaving their vacation.

J. C. Rockwell's "Sunny South"

Co.

J. C. Rockwell's "Sunny South" company, always a favorite here, since it made its initial appearance, several seasons ago, will appear in the town hall, Port Elgin, Thursday evening, November 12th. This season, from curtain to curtain, the performance is absolutely new in every detail. Promptly at the appointed time, the curtain rises and from that moment until the final you will have fun without a blush, songs of sentiment by vocalists of ability, comic ditties by comedians, who furnish humor without a taint. Year after year "Sunny South" company, its manager J. O. Rockwell have grown in popularity until now the more announcement of their coming is sufficient guarantee that the audience will be sent home feeling satisfied they have received full value for their money. This season the company is presenting a performance that is up-to-the-minute, bright and pleasing from start to finish. From the rise to the final fall of the curtain it will be found to be full of good clean comedy, charming musical numbers, all of the whistling kind and it is illuminated with an olio of high-class and entertaining vaudeville stunts, the kind that are seldom seen outside the larger cities. Dating from the opening scene until "Good Night" is rendered by the chorus there is not a moment when some of the numerous cast are not occupied rendering matters pleasing to the audience.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The "Kootown" parade takes place at noon.

The prices of admission have been placed at 35 and 50 cents, seats are now selling at Crawford's.

BURGOYNE

For some reason or other, Rural mail carriers, who formerly used the family mail bags have discarded them and now string instead. Some complain that cards get twisted and broken by being rolled and tied up tightly with other mail matter more readily than using the bags, and are wondering why their use has been discontinued.

Mr. Chapman, or, in rather poor health since returning from the west.

Although war sacks were provided for Arran district they were not distributed. The sacks were simply taken from each section to Tara station and dumped loosely into the car. Arran council are very patriotic $500 toward the war fund may seem a liberal gift, but it was the people's money and will all be found in the taxes. Some reason that if councils have legal right to impose a war tax already, for any amount, where is the sense of people, giving much of anything free handed.

The Women's Missionary Society are holding their regular monthly meeting Thursday of the week.

The night rangers exceeded themselves on Halloween by adding to their list of accomplishments a mild form of horse stealing. A driver, and rig, belonging to Mr. Christie, was taken from a stable during the early part of the night, and some hours later was found, over a mile away, shivering in the cold wind, tied to a fence post. As horse stealing is a rock pile offence, and no fun, the mischievous parties may be thankful to escape being sent down for a term. Fun is all right but when a bunch of grown kids get together they are apt to overstep the mark and get into trouble before they know it.

Mr. John McNeillidge, Bruce Township, was very ill last week, but is improving.

The commissioners of the Bruce Municipal Telephone met at Underwood on Thursday last and had a bylaw prepared for the further issue of $15,000 worth of debentures to pay for the new work being done by the system. It will go to the Ontario Railway Board for their approval when the township will then have the authority to issue the debentures required. Commissioner A. McLean will attend a meeting of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association which meets in Toronto on Nov. 11th and 12th.

Mr. Wm. Carruthers lost his valuable stallion last Friday afternoon. The horse "Laird of Bruce" was widely known in these parts.

Mrs. F. Hood, is home from Ripley. The gift oats were taken to town on Monday last by some of the farmers. Underwood contributed 29 sacks of oats. The ditching machine is doing good work on the McKay Bros' farms.

Quar Justice

When Billy Boozer beats his wife, we put him in a cell, and there he leads a pleasant life, and likes it passing well. We fill his plate with wholesome fare, when sound the dinner gong, and see what while he lingers there his life's a grand sweet song. We hand him magazines and books, and papers day by day, so he can look in cozy nooks and read the hours away. Sweet women call and hand him tracts, and cheer him up so well that he forgets the ugly facts which put him in his cell. Meanwhile his wife, with blackened eye is telling o'er a tub; she has to tell with sob and sigh, to get the children grab. Her husband, sentenced by the court, earns money when he's free, and, though he is a yellow sport, he feeds his family. Because he killed himself with ale, and started household strife, we lock him in his cell and punish kids and wife. He has the rest he's long desired, with time to read and sleep, while the woman, sick and tired, must work and watch and weep. Thus flows our justice in a rill—the kind we keep on tap; the innocent must pay the bill, while sinners have a nap.—Wait a bit.

Traitors in Camp

Occasionally we hear stories of traitors in the camp. Every community lately seems to have some gossip about disloyal Britishers of German descent. These reports are also prevalent in our district and town, but like most gossip it peters out when real earnest enquiry is being made. If you don't know a thing to be true leave it alone. If you do know that men are disloyal then it is your duty to see that the proper authorities are made aware of the fact. We wonder if it is true, too, that Britishers have been guilty of taunting men of German descent, and have said many mean things to them? This is not the spirit of the true Briton. In this hour of trial Britain is anxious for the good-will of all peoples who have chosen it as the land of their adoption. We can help to spread this good-will by being calm and patient to all within our borders. Nevertheless, should any man know positively of disloyal acts he should be brave enough to see that the authorities are notified, otherwise, silence should be his.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Keep the old flag flying. Where? We haven't noticed any in Port Elgin lately.

A New Jersey girl has by marriage become her mother's sister-in-law. Will some one please tell us who she married?

German culture as sown in Belgium should bring forth fruit of the whirlwind variety.

The Kinecardine Reporter wonders why its esteemed cotem, persists in political harpings during a time when there should be unity among the parties. Politicians find it hard to interest them eyes in anything else.

As the winter season approaches it means longer evenings and more time to read. Parents should guide their children in reading good books. Begin with good literature, and the desire for the poor variety will pass. Port Elgin should have a literary society. What is more entertaining, more educative or more worthy than the study of authors and their work?

Last week the states of Washington, Colorado, Oregon and Arizona voted to close out the saloons. The majorities were large. It is worthy of note that communities where the population was supposed to be engaged in heavier trades, and were men were rougher, have closed out the booze without difficulty. On the other hand, communities were whiskey-drinking is a refined art and where other forms of evil exist in a refined way, it seems all the harder to get rid of them.

W. A. Mitchell is in Toronto this week attending Fruitgrowers Association.

Miss Blanche Clemens, of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting at G. Roppel's. We regret to announce the death of Isabella Kippen, wife of the late John Kippen, which took place last week at lot 6, Con. 3. The funeral was on Monday last at Tiverton cemetery and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The L. O. L. of Orangemen of Underwood held a supper and a dance at the township hall on Thursday night last. It was a great success everyone reported. Communion service was held in the Methodist church on Sunday. Literary Society will be held on Friday night next. All young people are cordially invited to be present. Simon Roppel has purchased a new Saab car.

A petition is being eagerly signed around here asking the government to keep the stage when the R. R. mail starts. We all realize how useful and needed the stage is, for it not only brings goods that are needed at the stores for our daily use but also brings our express parcels. We think it would be cheaper to keep on the stage and shorten the rural mail route. Hugh Clark says we can't expect to have rural mail and the stage, but we say keep on the stage and give us our mail delivery daily as usual, and having a good time. Warden McWhinnie occupied the chair, and in a brief speech enlarged on the glories of the Orange order, reciting the things done for humanity, and noting that 7,000 Orangemen had gone with the first contingent. He also pointed out his responsibilities as warden. Rev. Mr. Foullet gave an address, and remarks were also added by Messrs. J. Johnson, P. Dolson, Allan Nelson. Others taking part in the program were George Stone, Wm. Parker, Wm. Orford, J. McCall. Mr. J. Murray is visiting his mother here.

SOUTHAMPTON

The Patriotic concert of last week was a great success, the hall being filled and $125 realised.

Mr. C. M. Bowman, M. P. gave an able and interesting address, giving full explanation of the war, its causes, its progress, and the need of clothing and money for the Belgians and the men at the front.

Among those who left for the hunting grounds were, Messrs Wm. Cameron, S. Cameron, Dr. J. C. Laird, A. Cheyne. Fishing season is now over, some of the fishermen are now out fishing upon, while others have gone to Pelee Island and Lake Erie to get herring.

We regret to say that Mrs. Alex McGregor (nee Bessie McVittie) still continues in very poor health. Mrs. M. McDonald left this week to visit her daughter in Kingsville.

OBITUARY

At the last monthly meeting of Underwood L. G. L. a resolution was passed to offer condolences to the Smith family, who have recently suffered the loss of their father. The two sons are worthy members of Underwood lodge, and the brethren wish to express their sincere sympathy to them.
Year by year with swift and noiseless steps the ravages of time have thinned the ranks of that noble band of men and women, our pioneers, until now only a remnant remain to relate to the grandchildren the stories of hardships endured and the joy of victory in the battle with the untaken forest. On the 10th of October the death call came to an old and respected member of that company, in the person of the late John Smith. The summons came not as the king of terror, but as an angel of mercy, as for some time he had been a sufferer.
The subject of this sketch was born in the county of Oxford in the year 1833.
Removing from there in his younger

George Guyer's Muskrat Navy

In a letter to The Times Mr. George Guyer, whom everybody in this district knows, sends us a photograph and a bit of poetry written by himself concerning his muskrat navy. The picture shows a small boat "Ocean Wave" with sail set, and on board three muskrats, who are in command. The poetry is as follows:
Capt. Crockett is my name
I am so noble and so brave
I am captain of the Ocean Wave.
I have a crew of three - Tom, Jim and Pete.
As brave a crew as ever crossed the deep,
But, Oh, Poor Jim, the trappers pinched his toes and sold his skin.
But Tom, Pete and I stayed by our posts
And brought our ship down to this coast.
I sail a little man of war
Whose speed is 20 miles an hour.
The September and October trapper thinks he's smart
To pinch our toes, and break our hearts.
We hope he will stop that awful crime
To pinch our toes before our fur is prime Dear trapper at the first of March

Hang up traps and your gun
Then we can raise our little ones.
There was a sly old chap, they call him
Mr. Mink.
We had a scrap one day and threw him in the drink
We have one good old friend, though feeble, old and gray.
He comes to feed us every day.

War Lecture

The town hall was well filled with an interested and intelligent gathering of citizens on Friday last to here the lecture by Prof. Hodder Williams, of Toronto University. It was gratifying indeed to see so many men and women from the country and to see the interest shown by both old and young in so important a matter as the finding out where the cause of the war lay.
Principal Nelson, in a few words thanked the audience for their support to the high school, under whose auspices the lecture was given, and then introduced Mr. Williams, who, without any preliminaries, entered upon his work by saying that 100 years ago Britain's life was at stake, when Nelson fashed out the great call. To-day England is again fighting for her existence, and so was Canada, Serbia or Belgium was not the cause of the war, they were the matches that started the conflagration, but the match was the least part in an explosion. The barrel of gunpowder was somewhere else, it was found in official Germany, which is Prussia.
Bismarck was the scourge of the German empire. Mr. Williams said he had no quarrel with the German people, but with the official part of Germany, which is Prussia. Bismarck built up a great autocratic machine. He, with all Prussians, believed that war meant power and power meant glory and glory meant more money. The Prussian had a mania for power and the common people of Germany have no say in these matters.
Bismarck was able to control his great machine so long as he and his Empire lived, but when a new Emperor came to the throne in the person of the present kaiser, Bismarck was dropped, and the great war machine that had been prepared was uncontrollable, and war has been inevitable since 1900. The Prussians forced the people of Germany to believe that peace and culture could not avail them, and that government should not be by majority rule and investigation, but by blood and war. Culture grew outside military Prussia, and Prussia ruling, consolidated Germany on a basis of war. Prussia is the least German in Germany, and through them Germany has abandoned her ideals of democracy in the army. The character of Germany was stamped by Bismarck and Prussia. The German people are outside of their government. There is a great gulf between the German ideal of government and that of England.
In England the people have the say, in Prussia the autocratic Prussian tells what the people will do and the Kaiser can begin war when he pleases. Here the speaker pointedly asked the audience they would care to exchange liberty for a German government.
Prussia by the sword compels Germany to follow.

By the mailed net diplomacy Germany has been picking quarrels for the past ten years and cases were cited with Russia and France and finally with England. Prussia wanted power and expansion. This army and war was the only means of obtaining these, so they believed. Great Britain has kept the unity of her dominions by liberty.
Germany's idea of Empire was vastly different from England's. Germany would crush. Canada would be under the dominance of the military tyrant of Prussia, if Great Britain were to lose this fight. Germany's religion was that of power.
The god that the Kaiser talks so much about is not the G. d. of Jehovah, but Odin, the war god. The Pan-German crowd was the conquering of the world by blood, and the efforts of peace being made was the outcome of plans prepared by Prussia in the past years. The barrel of gunpowder was found in Prussia.
Germany's defense toward France and Russia, but offensive toward England.
There was no future for Canada if Germany conquered. Why should the civiles fight for England? Because England guarantees to us the greatest freedom civilization knows. In conclusion Mr. Williams urged the men and women to be serious in this matter, and prepare to assist not only with gifts but with their lives, closing an edifying and instructive address, asking "If England lives, who dies?"
After a vote of thanks by Dr. Scanlon and Rev. Mr. Maas the audience sang the National Anthem.

Home Guards Are Necessary

Dr. Scanlon said in his sermon to the volunteers the other Sunday that "some people sneer at volunteers," and in a few words gave some good advice.

In connection with the formation of a rifle club in Port Elgin, which in quality means a company of Home Guards, some people may not take it seriously. Nevertheless, we are reading and being reminded that as things are developing in this war the home guard idea ceases to be a joke.

It should never be forgotten that, at the outbreak of war, thousands of German and Austrian "reservists" were summoned to the colors from every Province in Canada and every State in the American Union. Most of them never got there. The British command of the sea prevented them from securing passage across the Atlantic. So they piled up against the Atlantic sea-board as against a great dam; and many of them are still idle and desperate in the sea coast cities of the United States.

No one imagines that the American Government will permit any open organization of this disappointed host for the invasion of Canada. But secret organization is quite within the range of possibility; and a sudden raid might be accomplished on the Canadian border which could make considerable progress if there were absolutely no armed force ready to meet it. Such a raid could subsequently be swollen to dangerous proportions by individual recruits who had crossed the border as American travellers; and in the absence of our volunteers who would be fighting our battles in Europe, there is no certainty that a movement of this kind might not do great damage.

The obvious answer is a Home Guard in every town, city and village. If we had a number of men semi-trained and effectively armed, accustomed to assembling at a signal, we should have something to stand against such an advance until the volunteer regiments' training in the country could be brought to the point of attack. These Home Guards would form a useful corps all over the land. It would be impossible for such a raid to penetrate the Dominion at any point without instantly coming in contact with this military "serious system," which would hold it in check and send in an alarm at the same moment.

This is a time, then, when the formation of Home Guards is a patriotic movement.

Six months ago The Times believed that too much more was being spent on the militia. Events have proved that our contention was wrong. There is no time for argument now. Brave men are fighting our battles. The least we can do is to heed the request of the authorities and prepare ourselves by spreading the patriotic fire, urging the young men, physically capable, to enlist and exhorting others to make up the home guards. During the past ten days a number of men at least have taken the matter seriously, and as a result have banded in their names to The Times as men who are willing to take the time to do the required practice at shooting and drill work. We know that the men of this community, now that the situation is serious, and Kitchener has asked for another million men, and that in the assembling of this army the regular volunteers will be called in a body, will enroll themselves ready to protect Canadian interests after the regulars have departed.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Fight or pay.

The Canadian Patriotic Fund is a bugle call to those who remain at home.

Business as usual. Yes, but the banks haven't heard it yet.

Remember the Patriotic fund. There is a long winter before the dependents of those who have gone to the front.

The announcement that the Massey Harris factories in Stratford and Toronto would resume operations, is good news, in that it shows business is really as usual.

A local heebler, who has so far kept clear of the wedding march struggle, says there's no new horror. Mrs. M. was 181 years old, before he bought a kitchen cabinet and a casserole and took Mrs. M. for better or worse.

A German professor in Berlin University says: "A man who is not a German knows nothing of Germany. We are morally and intellectually superior beyond all comparison as to our organizations and our institutions." We have record in the Good Book, of a certain prayer which goes something like this: "Lord I thank that I am not as other men."

If out-of-town firms and individuals refused to do business with Toronto there would be grass growing on Yonge street. The suggestion that only Toronto firms get Toronto civic contracts is localism run mad.—Globe. If other towns were as zealous for their own as Torontonians there might be a chance for some grass in Toronto.

Premier Amulth, in a noted address last week declared that Great Britain would not sheathe the sword until Belgium recover in full measure more than all that she has sacrificed. Until France is adequately secure against the menace of aggression; until the rights of the smaller nationalities of Europe are placed on an unassailable foundation; until the military domination of Prussia is fully and finally destroyed. That is a great task, worthy of a great nation. It means for its accomplishment that every man among us, old or young, rich or poor, busy or leisure, learned or simple, should give what he has and do what he can.

A German soldier, when reviewing the awful wreckage in Belgium, suggests it would be a terrible thing if this destruction were to take place in the dear Fatherland. Yes, it would seem heard, but it will be the only way that Germany can be taught that war is hell. It would seem madness to cause in Germany the same destruction as she has caused in Belgium, but in this game of war, the only way that the world can be assured of future peace, is to carry it on to Berlin. Germany has chosen the sword, and it is written that she shall perish by the sword. The history of Germany is that she has often carried war into another country, but this time she is to realize what war is within her own borders.

Before this war is over conscription may to a certain extent prevail in Great Britain. Already prominent men are discussing the matter. Sir William Nicholson, editor of the British Weekly and a noted Non-conformist, declared that by the first of the year the people would know whether conscription was necessary or not. He also said that while the non-conformists hated conscription, they also hated defeat, and pointed out that the upper classes and the lower classes have been doing their duty in the present crisis while a certain element of the middle classes have not. One way to keep conscription away from Canada is to see to it that the dependents of the volunteers who have already gone to the front, do not want for any good thing.

The Municipal Election Pot.

The Municipal Election pot is warming up, and in a week or two it will begin to boil. Rumors of an authentic nature are that the reeve'ship will be contested, and rumor has it that some of the council will retire.

There seems to be a mistaken notion on the part of some men that a man who feels that he would like to create an election. This notion, for notion is all it is, is not in accord with the spirit of democracy, and certainly against the best interests of the management of any town. This notion is responsible for lack of interest in municipal affairs in Port Elgin. Our law provides that a qualified ratepayer, observing the usual proceedings is at perfect liberty to seek office, and a ratepayer seized with the conviction that he can be of service to his neighbors, should be contented to let it in his duty if he does not offer himself. It is not so much that a man has lived that counts in this life, but how he has lived. And it is also true that it is not so much that a man bears office in his municipality, but how he is serving to that capacity. There should be no hesitancy on the part of any qualified ratepayer to offer himself to the electors during the proper election time. We want interest in the town's affairs, and discussion and contests will make interest.

The present council has been busied this year with municipal affairs than in many years past. True, there have been no big questions, but there have been a number of arbitrary matters which have been cleaned up, as well as considerable improvement in the work department, and many extensions in the water system. Of course, no public servant can hope to please everybody, but it is only fair that an expression of appreciation should come occasionally to the men who are giving of their time without hope of reward, and The Times feels that it represents the opinion of the majority of the ratepayers when it says that the town council has done work the past year worthy of appreciation.

"If Germany Wins"

In a recent issue of Detroit Saturday Night, an article appears in which the editor seems to be worrying a great deal about Germany winning in the present war. The article is headed "If Germany Wins," and among other things says:

"In event of a German victory would the United States be justified in insisting that Canadian territory remain Canadian? Or, would the United States feel any safer in permitting the European colonization of any part of Canada, simply because Canada is not herself a sovereign state but a dependency. Or, if the United States should assume responsibility for Canadian integrity would not Germany be justified in insisting that the United States assume responsibility for Canadian belligerence?"

Of course, there are thousands of Germans in Detroit city, which would account for the apparent worry of our brother. It may not be unreasonable to expect some little rumormongers and Austrians along the border cities of Canada, but as far as Germany is concerned, doing nothing, events as at present transpiring at the seat of war, do not look very bad for Canada. Great Britain will see to it that the shipping routes between Canada and the Mother Land are kept clear of the enemy, and Canada will keep on sending men and provisions, all of which will help mightily to keep the British military machine very busy at home. United States, if it wants to get into this war game will have to find some other excuse than Canada.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Attend the Red Cross concert Friday night, and help a worthy cause.

Let each one ask the question, What am I doing for the Empire in the hour of its trial?

The town of Perth has an overdraft of $19,000 to meet. Their rate this year is 10 mills.

But for the faithful women, many a British soldier would be suffering for those little things which make for comfort even in war.

Don't pull up your chair three times a day this winter to a well-laden table in a comfortable home, and imagine you own nothing. Remember, through the cold days and colder nights British and Canadian soldiers are lying side by side in the death-ridden trenches, and the soldiers of the enemy are on duty in the open sea, and you and your family shall be safe from the ruthless invader. Give of your plenty that these brave men may have everything possible to shield them from the perils and discomforts of winter in the open.

The Bradford Medical association has promised that it will give free medical attendance to all dependents of soldiers at the front. This is surely a splendid spirit everybody's helping. Are you?

Toronto seems to be badly afflicted by the influenza epidemic. Major General Hughes said the mobilization of Toronto volunteers was a "piece of nonsense." Poor, old Toronto, we suppose now that it has been offended, it will just get mad, and snub the Major General.

The Militia Department reports that 40 Canadians were sent back to Canada from Salisbury Plain for drunkenness and disobedience. This is not a large number, considering there are 81,000 men in the contingent, but as Canadians it is just 48 too many.

Since the Hydro Commission have had surveys in this section for some time with the object of making cheap power possible for this district, would it not be well for Port Elgin council to take the matter up, and make application to the commission at that a vote may be taken in January on this all-important scheme?

Sir Edward Grey in a speech in the House of Commons dealing with the fact that Germany had raided Belgium, said: "Since Germany will have war, she shall have it in full measure." The fact that in East Prussia the Russians are said to be imposing on the captured towns fines proportionate to those levied by the Germans on the cities of Belgium, is evidence that the allies will from now on conduct the war on the plain Germany has laid down.

Lloyd George, the British Chancellor, in order to raise the bill and a half dollars for the war fund, has put a tax of a cent per glass on beer, an extra three pence on the pound for tea, and the doubling of the income tax. Canada's expenditure, according to the Finance Minister, will be $100,000,000 a year. The burden will not be so heavy here, for on this amount, it will only be necessary to meet it on easy stages.

Word comes from the men in charge at Salisbury Plain, that a good work can be done if the people in Canada would form circles in each township for writing letters to the men from their own districts to keep them posted on home matters. Long letters from ladies in camp must not be expected. The work is too strenuous now for permit of them. Even in the battle line, where there is always lots of company, and where excitement is at high pitch, soldiers like to hear from the old home. After all, there is no news like the news from home. Write the soldiers. Don't stand on etiquette. There is no time for introductions. They are heroes all.

Many cities and towns have, owing to the prevailing tightness, made cuts in the salaries of officials. Vancouver last week introduced such measures as will save the city $144,000 per year by cutting the salaries of civic officials. The council, who received $100 per month, were reduced to $40, while the mayor was cut from $5,000 to $1,300. This may seem rather hard, but it must be remembered that the people who have to pay these salaries are the taxpayers, who in a great many cases are out of employment. We wanted to say that in Port Elgin there will be no reductions in the pay of the reeve and councilors, and they will go on working the people at the same old rate, which is, "free, gratis, for nothing," as one often hears.

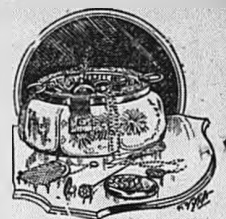

A couple of men in Walkerton who were making a house to house canvass and selling goods were jailed before Magistrate Tolton and fined $28.00. That looks like good business. Why should strangers be permitted to drop into any town and do business when regular business men of the town are paying a business tax for that privilege.

In nearly every indecent assault trial that comes up here, an attempt is made by the defence to excuse the conduct of the prisoner by depicting in dark colors the character of the woman, and the reputation of the victim was on trial and not the deed of her assailant. Too many judges fall for this kind of thing, and they get side-tracked from the main issue in their search for some previous indiscretion by the girl. The vilest deed of the criminal therefore becomes white-washed if his victim can be proven as so salacious, as if a murderer should ask the court to acquit him on the ground that he split the blood of a sinner and a churchman. Such reasoning makes many trails for deeds against women a mockery, and if the villain who foolishly attempts to damage the character of the women they have already wronged, were treated to the same kind of deplorable statements, instead of being condemned over for their crimes, there would be more justice and less palpable law to most judges handed out. Mr. Justice Maguire summed the thing up well during the assault trial at the jail here last week when he said that while he believed the girl in this case to be pure and innocent, yet had the deed been committed on the vilest and most depraved of men, the crime would have been equally indictable and subject to similar punishment. He said in a sentence which our critics on some judgment here in the past, namely, that the character of the victim shouldn't excuse the offence of the criminal.—Walkerton Herald.

Have Clark and Ross preached here and at Queen Hill on Monday in the interest of the Dominion Alliance. The temperance work is going forward and gaining ground both in the States and Canada. Lullabies should be closed and let the grain go to swell the relief fund. They also told of how the drinking of intoxicants is increasing among women, especially in the cities, owing partly to the blasphemous advertisements on bill boards and in the daily papers.

No service in the Methodist church next Sunday morning, communion service in Tiverton.

Warrior's Home Guard
The Warrior Record gives an account of the formation of a home guard in that place. There were fifty men signed the service roll. Drill is to be held regularly on Tuesday evenings. The ballot for the officers resulted as follows: Captain, A. Miller, Lieutenant, Davidson and Kestner, color sergeant, T. C. Allan, drill instructor, Major D. Fletcher. At the last drill Captain Miller resigned, owing to the importance of Boy Scout work over which he has charge. Up to the present a capable successor has not been found.

A Trespasser

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

One spring morning when the trees bore that first pale green of the season which is more delicate than any other of their many beautiful tints Miss Miller saw a party of children come through the gateway and go romping over her grounds. They appeared to be under the care of a single person, a man, indignant at this entry into her domain without permission, she strode down the driveway to meet them.

"Pardon me, sir, but did you not see the notice?"

"I saw that trespassers would be prosecuted under penalty of the law."

"Well, then, why did you bring these children in here?"

"Because I knew they would be delighted to be here."

"And you were willing to subject them to prosecution?"

"No; they are minors. If any one is to be prosecuted it is I."

"And you were willing to be prosecuted yourself?"

"Certainly, so long as I thereby give pleasure to these children."

"If you had asked permission I might have granted it."

"That would have been more polite. I admit, but politeness begets no harm. You have not put up a notice that any one wishing to enjoy your grounds may apply to you for permission and you will consider the application. You have given warning that any one trespassing on your grounds will be prosecuted under the law. I accept the terms of this notice. I bring these children on to your premises, and it is your privilege to prosecute me."

He handed her his card, turned away and joined the little ones, who were waiting about, laughing and shouting.

Miss Miller was astonished, outraged. There seemed nothing for her to do but act upon the notice she had put up. The young man had brought it all on himself. As for the children, she felt quite relieved that they were minors and the man was responsible for them.

Returning to the house, she ordered out her pony cart and drove into the village to see her attorney. He was out of town, but would return late that night. She stated the case to a student in his office, who told her that he might serve out a warrant for the arrest of the trespasser. Mr. Gilbert Chase, who was principal of a school Miss Miller was loath to act without the advice of a competent person, but she was very angry, partly because her notice had been set at defiance and partly because the young man had succeeded in placing himself in a very favorable position and her in a very unfavorable one. Acting on impulse, she swore out the warrant, and Mr. Chase was arrested as he was leaving her grounds. He furnished bail to appear the next day for trial and was permitted to go where he liked in the meantime.

The next morning Miss Miller appeared against an accused, stating that a notice was posted in a tree near the entrance of her grounds giving warning to trespassers. The justice asked the prisoner if he was represented by counsel, which he replied that he would conduct his own case. Then he added:

"I refuse to answer to this charge on the ground that there is no law of the land to compel me to answer."

Miss Miller had left word for her attorney to come to court in time to conduct the case, and at this juncture he entered. As soon as he was informed of the proceedings, he addressed the justice, he said:

"My client, your honor, enters a nolle prosequi."

"What's that?" asked Miss Miller.

"You drop the case."

"I drop the case! Indeed, I do no such thing."

"The prisoner has stated the fact correctly; there is no law to punish him for trespassing on your premises."

"No law! Well, what are all such signs for then?"

"Probably to frighten trespassers. They don't mean anything."

The lawyer was mistaken, but Miss Miller did not learn that until later.

Miss Miller after paying the costs left the court in company with her attorney. At the door they parted, the lady going to her home. The first thing she did after getting there was to carry a small ladder and a hatchet with her own hands to the tree supporting the notice and, mounting the ladder, smash the board with the hatchet. Then throwing the hatchet on the ground she stalked to the house, leaving her keeper to take away the fragments and the means of their destruction.

The person who stood for Miss Miller in place of parents was a white-headed old lady with a benevolent face. Her grandchild having neglected to ask her advice to the first place, now that the damage was done, went to her, confided to her how she had been treated and asked her how she might punish the schoolmaster.

"If you ask me, my dear, what it is incumbent on you to do to set yourself right I will reply that you should write him an apology, first, for objecting as you did to his bringing the children to enjoy the grounds and, second, for having him arrested."

This was a bitter pill for Miss Miller to swallow, but she swallowed it. When it was all over she found that his action had given her a high instead of a low opinion of him, and he is now the manager of her estate. The grounds are open to any one who conducts himself properly.

Drink and War.

I want to know how many men had been killed in wars since the Macedonian wars and found the total was 8,800,000 killed and wounded, with less than 500,000 killed. Here are killed every year in America by liquor than in all the wars for 2,500 years. In the great war now in progress not more than 1,000 are killed each day, and that is only half the number killed each day by liquor. I know what was in and yet I say to you the work of liquor is infinitely worse. I know what a calamity it would be to have some great armed nation declare war against America, but I would rather see my country face all of these hardships than face the great internal war that works its deadly ravages. Look at the records and see what alcohol does to the birth and death record—five out of ten children born of alcoholic parents are wrong. The liquor traffic fight means the survival or the extermination of the race. If both parents are moderate drinkers it will quadruple the number of children; but it is a terrible slaughter! Thank God there are few alcoholic mothers. To them were the vitality of our race. If both parents are users of alcohol one child out of every five will be insane. One out of seven will be deformed. If both parents are total abstainers, nine out of ten of their children will be perfect, they will be easy to bring up and will be one day a blessing. It is not necessary for me to dwell longer on this slaughter of innocents?—Hon. R. P. Hobson.

Mrs. J. Kolb, who has been quite ill, is recovering as are also Mrs. Joe Johnson, and Mrs. Maxwell.

The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church held a very successful meeting last Tuesday in the church. There was a good attendance, and after the program, which was a special one, the ladies served refreshments, and a social hour was enjoyed.

ALLENFORD

The Methodist choir and Epworth League spent a very pleasant time at the home of Mr. Geo. Crawford last Friday night when they presented a play and his birds with a couch, as a slight token of remembrance for his assistance in the choir and the services he has rendered to the League as its President. The address was given by Mr. W. M. Allen.

The special monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Coleman. An excellent report was given by Mrs. Allen, who had attended the London Convention.

On account of the unsettled state of the weather Rev. Jewett was not able to get home from Algoma where he was spending his vacation before Sunday, the pulpit being occupied by Rev. Allen.

It was with sincere regret that the word was received of the death of Mrs. James Allen. Deceased had spent the summer with her mother, Mrs. J. Weillie in Tomahawk, Wis., where she died leaving behind a baby daughter.

Miss M. F. Altchewer spent Thursday in Owen Sound.

ABERDOUR

The snow has come for a time at last, probably for good. On account of the good slipping the farmers are busy these days, hauling their grain, hay and wood. A number of them have been making the grid stone and file move these days.

Inspector Bald paid a visit to schools No. 5 and 6 last Wednesday.

John Bell's baby has not been well for the past few weeks. At the time of writing it was improving. Mrs. Elsie Paisley is the nurse.

Mr. John McCulloch has been up north the past few days.

Miss Lavinia Johnson spent a few days at R. H. Foster's.

A banking institution gets strength as much from the men who direct its affairs as from the actual capital it controls. Rural Mail Routes

Regarding the petition sent to Ottawa by residents of Port Elgin and Kincardine, and all along the route between these points to have the stage discontinued, it is pointed out by The Kincardine Review that the people cannot have both the stage and rural mail delivery. In this connection it says:

"The residents along the route can have either but not both. If the present stage mail is continued, the people along the Saugeen road and west of it will have to do without rural mail service, but it would not interfere with the services east, except that it would involve alterations."

Of course, it would be only fair to the Department that it should cut off one or the other. If the stage is discontinued along the Godrich road, and from the petition signed, it would seem that it is, then, of course, the proposed rural routes for that road district will not be gone on with. As The Review points out, though, it would not interfere with the people living east and west of that road from moving rural delivery.

Bang!

The editor of the Port Elgin Times went out in the woods with a gun the other day and came back with a rabbit. Ha, ha! Easy money for somebody. A rabbit? Why we wonder he couldn't hit the snapper if it was at the end of the barrel, all the time. —Thamesville Herald. Then, we could easily hit the editor of The Herald, eh? What!

NOTES BY THE WAY

Some men seem to have a lot of spare time. If they could only knit!

A news despatch last week says canned lobsters are a drug on the market. What with the increased ones everywhere things will be in an awful state soon.

A Toronto report says the "soldiers" of the second contingent, quartered there and learning to "Parlez-vous." If they expect to get to Berlin, why not learn to "Weighehts."

McKay Bros. staff at Owen Sound have undertaken to make clothes for 25 Belgian children, which includes a complete outfit. The firm furnishes the material while the clerks sew or knit during spare moments. The war is surely teaching us what can be done for others in the spare moments we have been in the habit of wasting.

In addressing an audience at Walkerton the other evening on loyalty to one's own community, Mr. David Robertson said that women were the greatest benefactors in that they were always sending money away to mail order houses in the belief that they were obtaining bargains. Now the speaker had a great deal of courage, but we believe the matter's one to which attention should be drawn, although it is not often we find men courageous enough to bring the charge home.

Protection of trees in early fall and spring is of chief importance. In the summer when the tree is in full foliage its beauty is attractive, and men will think before they do damage to it. In the fall and spring, however, when the trees are stripped of their beauty, neglect is noticed. In the fall a great many fences are built, and one often sees the trees used for posts to staple wire fences on. This is bad practice. The growth in the tree covers over the wire and the staples, and makes it impossible to remove the fence without damaging the tree or cutting the fence. A good way is to nail to the tree a strip of wood as high as the wire. This will secure the fence and not injure the tree.

The Canadian Militia Department announces that in a few months 150,000 Canadians will be fighting in the battle-front. Great Britain is to have over two million men in the field. Along with this the Canadian authorities announce that they will also have 50,000 men under arms at home. To do this each locality will be expected to furnish its quota of men capable of going into the firing line, while others of less physical endurance must look after affairs at home. All branches of the service will be utilized. This order from the Militia Department has situated recruiting in the regiments, and has also convinced citizens generally how necessary is the establishment of home guards in every community.

There is an independence about house life that makes it worth far more than it costs. Most women nowadays will buy bread from a baker, but will not buy cakes. She must have cakes and pies made at home because none are quite like them. And tea, or coffee—one does not get either anywhere but at home so made that it is fit to drink. It costs a lot to have a home of one's own, to have your own food specially prepared, to have your own piano and your own books and pictures, and your own cat and dog but there are none others like them, and they are worth far more than they cost, even although nobody else would take some of them from you as a gift. —Toronto Star. Many people have all these things, and more and yet they have only a house. There is a world of difference between a house and a home, and between the house-keeper and the home-maker.

The diploma of true culture is the badge of unselfish service. —Dr. J. A. Macdonald.

It is said that there are so many ministers volunteering to go to the front as chaplains that 1400 of them will not have places found for them. Why not make a regiment of the left overs for fighting purposes?

Things municipal are all absorbing topics just now. In Bruce township, the large and important section of Bruce county, it looks as if the people were to lose the services of at least one very efficient man. It is currently reported that Warden McWhinney is to retire from municipal politics, and give more attention to his personal affairs. It is true that Mr. McWhinney has given a great deal of his time to many affairs concerning his township, and his community at considerable personal sacrifice. But, are these things ever any other way? Is it not true that the men capable of busy men, and men whom to serve their fellows means a lot of sacrifice? In Warden McWhinney's case, he has risen to prominence, rapidly but not more rapidly than his ability deserves. Now that he has decided to retire from public life, the township and the county, suffers a distinct loss.

FALLING HAIR AND ITCHING SCALP

NEEDLESS—USE PARISIAN SAGE. Now that Parisian Sage can be had at any drug counter it is certainly needless to have this, brittle, matted, straggled, faded hair. No matter how roughly the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Frequent applications and well rubbed into the scalp will do wonders. It sets like magic. The hair roots are nourished and stimulated in growth, new hair, itching scalp, dandruff and falling hair cease—your head feels fine. Best of all, the hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life and beauty. You will be surprised and delighted with Parisian Sage. Try at least one fifty cent bottle from R. C. Crawford. He will refund the purchase price if you are not satisfied.

Will You Help The Hospital For Sick Children, the Great Provincial Charity?

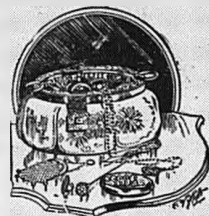

Dear Mr. Editor:—Thanks for the privilege of appealing through your columns on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children. The Hospital takes care of all diseased children, not only in Toronto, but in the Province, outside of the city. This coming year, all of the year in the Hospital's history, has a more serious outlook, as regards funds for maintenance, than any year that has passed its calendar. So many calls are being made on the purses of the generous people of Toronto and Ontario, to help the soldiers of the Empire, that as I make my daily rounds through the wards of the Hospital, and see the suffering children in our cots and beds, the thought strikes me as to whether the people will as of old, with all the demands made upon them, answer our appeal and help to maintain the institution that is fighting in the never-ending battle with disease and death. In its endeavor to save our sickening little ones in the child-life of Ontario. Last year there were 394 inpatients from 216 places outside of Toronto, and in the past twenty years there have been 7,000 from places in the Province other than Toronto.

It costs us $2.14 per patient per day for maintenance. The municipalities pay for patients $1 per patient per day; the Government allows 20 cents per patient per day; so deducting $1.20 from $2.14, it leaves the Hospital with $1.14 to pay out of subscriptions and revenue from the sale of Toronto and the Province. The shortage last year ran to $18,000. Since then about 1,000 cases of club feet, bow legs and knock knees have been treated, and of these 900 had perfect correction. Nearly all these were from different parts of the Province outside of the city of Toronto. Remember that every year is a war year with the Hospital; every day is a day of battle; every minute the Hospital needs money, not for its own sake, but for the children it takes. The Hospital is the battleground where the Armies of Life have grappled with the Hosts of Death, and the life or death of thousands of little children is the issue that is settled in that war. Will you let the Hospital be driven from the field of its battle? Will you let the children for the lack of money you can give and never miss? A dollar may seem but a trifle, but it is a dollar in the fight against death, a flag in the front that fights for the lives of little children. Receive from the door of the Hospital's mercy in the door of hope, and your dollar, kind reader, may be the one that opens the door for somebody's child. Will you send a dollar, or more if you can, to Douglas Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer. J. ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Toronto.

Uncrystallized manufacturers of baking powder, in order to sell their product, sometimes resort in the old game of what is known as the “glass test.” In reality it is no test at all, but, in order to deceive the prospective buyer does not understand that the so-called “test” is a lie, pure and simple, the salesman is sometimes able to make him believe it shows conclusively that the so-called baking powder he is selling, and which of course contains egg albumen, is superior to other brands which do not contain this ingredient.

Bulletin No. 21, issued by Dairy and Food Bureau of the State of Utah, reads as follows:

The sale in the State of Utah of baking powders containing minute quantities of dried egg albumen is declared illegal. The albumen in such powders does not actually increase the leavening power of the powder, but by a series of unfair and deceptive tests such powders are made to appear to the innocent consumer to possess three or four times their actual leavening power."

We had a very dinner conversation and was only marred by Bill, who could not resist the temptation to come for my attention to where he was supposed to be his wife. He was told to stand like a post. His sister-in-law had come out of him, which was a relief.

He found that he went to the theatre, he frequented the clubs, he was invited to parties. For some years he spent three or the winter months in Paris, living in the best French society, talking as he passed the time with the most cultivated and brilliant of his friends, and in the studios of some of the more eminent of the artists. He was a man of a strong temper, which was rapidly becoming more and more exalted, more and more master of the man.

One day, in the afternoon, as he settled himself down to his work, it could have given any of those who had known Eugene Kerdand, and they were not few, a very good idea of the kind of leisure with which he had returned from his round of the Académie, faded away, how he shook back the taint of the past and recovered of his active career in battle, and his life of constant work and the shadows dropped on his brow, and the lines of a long and arduous labour showed itself in the slow successful races which he would sell upon the bank of the sleeping art, and the life of the artist, and the life of the absent but still kindly, smiling, which he greeted the punctual entrance of the servant, who at five o'clock laid down a table, and the evening paper beside him and to make up his fire, which crackled on with the comfortable sounds through the grate, and the fire into the night.

Dear Sir, Editor:—

Thanks for the privilege of speaking through the columns of the Journal to the Hospital for Sick Children. The Hospital takes care of sick and defective children, from all over the world, but in the Province, outside of the city.

This coming year, of all the years since the Hospital was founded, is a serious outlook, as regards funds for maintenance, than any year that has preceded it.

So many calls are being made on the purse of the generous people of Toronto and Ontario, to help the soldiers and the Empire, that the Hospital is daily running through the wards of the Hospital, and see the suffering children, who are being sent to the Hospital, as to whether the children are as old, with all the demands made on them for money, and help to maintain the institution that is fighting in the never-ending battle between the Government and the endeavor to save the stricken little ones in the child-life of Ontario.

Between 1914 and 1918, inpatient cases from 210 places outside the Province, and in the past twenty years there have been 7,900 from places in the Province.

It costs us $2.24 per patient per day for maintenance. The municipalities with a quick, keen, political sense when Kuslache had never any in any other man. She was handsome, with her hair styled and worn in waves, generally at night, when the sparks of her white neck and arms and the gleam of her eyes and the color of her accent and color she was somewhat lacking in at other times. Her dress was of the latest and most elegant for the time, and her manner for the most part rich and dignified. She was influential, but she said "Nothing for me," and was nearly thirty years of age. Since then she had filled an effective place in Parliament, and had been an abandoned diplomatist for politics, in which his general tendencies were to be seen. He was a man of a well-known name as a constant contributor to the Revue des Deux Mondes. He had a life, maintained an interesting and useful career, and which provided a meeting place for the best English and French society, and the best of the French society of the quality of Madame de Staël's.

Two or three days afterward, Ronald, in looking over his engagement book, in which the entries were methodically entered, found the name of Miss Stuart, Friday, and at once wrote a note to Edward Wallace, suggesting that this should go to the top of the list. "I have just decided to see Miss Bratton-iron, for as you will see," he wrote, "it will be impossible for me to go to the country. I shall, therefore, have done my duty determined by going to see her tomorrow. ~~Will~~ The American replied by a note, "I have no objection," and wrote, "offers my vote and may send a box for Friday night; it will be sent four or five o'clock tomorrow." The party, as he shall see, was not a very brilliant one.

Ronald felt himself a little intrusive in the matter, but he preferred to see the affair under conditions more favorable to an independent judgment, but he was not to be so easily won. He would be suggested, so he argued, and prepared himself to meet the result in an unshaken frame of mind.

In it was this combination of extreme grace and strength. Their movements were, in a word, a warm, a force of impression, which so often takes the lower kinds of beauty into excellence and picturesque. day; the Government allows 20 cents per patient per day; so, deducted 13.50, the Hospital has to pay out only $8.50 with $13.50 to pay out of subscriptions it receives from the people of Toronto and the Province. The shortage last year was 3500.

Since 1920 about 1,000 of club feet, bow legs and knock knees have been corrected. Nearly all these were from different parts of the Province.

Remember that every year is a war year with the Hospital; every day is a battle ground. Every minute the Hospital needs money, every day it needs more money, every day it needs more for the children's sake.

The Hospital is the battle ground where the life and death struggle is fought. Hoops of Death and the life or death of thousands of little children is the issue. Every day the Hospital is the scene of a battle. Every day the Hospital is driven from the field of its battle to save the lives of the children. Every day the Hospital needs more money, every day it needs more money you can give and never miss it.

Every dollar may prove itself a breadwinner in the battle against death and disease and the fact that for the lives of little children.

Prevention of Evil

Port Elgin has been having considerable lately about street loafing and partying, and the authorities profess that they can do nothing. In fact, this idea seems to prevail to wait until something serious has happened, and a complaint laid.

At the trial the other evening of a young lad, other were implicated, and the citizens of Port Elgin are looking for a thorough investigation, and a proper lesson taught these young lads.

At the council meeting the other night a business man appeared asking if it was not possible to stop the loafing in his store lobby, and the whole question of street loafing was taken up. True the discussion ended about the way it always does—that no one seems to have the power to stop it. Surely this is a mistake to think that private individuals must make separate indictments. The law is distinct on the matter and the authorities should see that the law is carried out. The law says: "On streets at night," Sec. 17. That no child under 14 years of age shall be permitted to loiter in any public place or street after 9 o'clock in the evening."

The enforcement of the law itself that is needed, and by the way, parents should help to enforce this law.

An exchange aptly remarks that the Germans spell Kultur with a "K" because Britain holds command of the "C."

The St. Mary's Journal celebrated "A Shop in St. Mary's Week." The Journal had 15 pages and carried 10 columns of advertising. The merchants there will not likely worry about a slump in business. The Journal is to be congratulated upon the issue, while the advertising reflects credit upon the business acumen of St. Mary's merchants.

At the meeting of the county council Warden Newboney called the attention of the members to finances, stating that the practice to raise barely enough for each year was not a good one, as the council had to borrow to meet expenses and pay a high rate of interest, suggesting that a small part of a mill would overcome the difficulty and meet all bills promptly. The motive is splendid, but it is not true of council treasurers that when there is money to good there are also many more demands to satisfy.

In reply to The Times Leader's paragraph that The Winton Echo clips from local papers without giving credit, The Echo says it has the credit in a general heading. This week, however, it labelled all its clippings from The Port Elgin Times. However, The Echo is not the worst offender in Bruce county, some of the editors going so far as to clip editorial which applied to local matters, and simply changed the name of the town.

Tara is to vote on a by-law for the expenditure of $500 on fire protection. The plan calls for a portable gasoline engine, 1000 feet of hose and a water tank. Tara has had a great loss by fire recently, and better protection is a necessity. Here is a lesson for other smaller places. It is an economy to let fire apparatus go to places without proper overhauling and installing of new material. Of course, in many cases, small places elect men to council who have an overdrawn idea that to spend nothing on municipal equipment shows keen foresight. In most cases this works out that the municipality loses in the end not only thousands of dollars, but sometimes loss of lives. The worthy councillor and civic official is he who sees that his municipality is in better shape than when he came into office.

IN MEMORIAM

April 10 1887 N. Y. 21, 1914.

"He did it young!" they say on every side.
"A life so full of promise too abruptly ended."

Yet was his name well known o'er circles wide;
Well known, well loved, by many faithful hands.
Alas! the true one, much-loved friend,
Who long lived in our hearts—we count no life by years.

His praises by many will still be sung—
He long lived in our hearts—we count no life by years.

A manly form, an ever-generous hand—
A winning face that won an answering smile—
As boy, man, "sport," a credit to the land.

A heart in which there was no touch of guile.
He will be missed! His face no longer seen.
But in our hearts we'll keep his memory green.

Everybody Votes But Mother

(J. W. Bruggagh)

Everybody votes but mother,
She said to vote once too,
But when she got married to father
The law said it wouldn't do.

When mother was just a splasher
Like my spectacled sister,
She had a right to the ballot,
But alas! she married a man!

So everybody votes but mother;
My widowed sister Anna and I,
And mother waits to know why!

Everybody votes but mother,
"Change mother she changed her name!"

Looks as though, somehow or other
Getting married must be a shame;
They take away votes from fellows,
Who have been convicted in court.

And it seems that women who marry
Are bracketed with that sort,
So that's where they rank poor mother;
They've struck her name from the roll.

While sister and aunt and father
And I all go to the poll,
Everybody votes but mother,
Through our stupid and senseless law.

And there's not on the list another
Who needs the vote more than man;
She's out of the house and the children
And she has a good right to a say.

On the law that affect the household
In any possible way,
So we must have a vote for mother
Without waiting for dad to die.

For the wife, as well as the widow
And spinster, we'll know why.

TOO DREADFUL FOR CRACKS DEFEAT

Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig, and Nurnberg Paid Penalty.

German Admiral and 1,800 Men Go Down With Ships.

London cable says: The British Admiralty announced today that the German squadron, under Admiral Geyr von Schweppes, which sank the cruiser Mackintosh and the gunboat Chilcan coast on Nov. 1, was defeated by a British fleet on the morning of Dec. 8 off the Falkland Islands, in the South Atlantic, and that three German cruisers, the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, and Leipzig, and the Nurnberg, were sent to the bottom.

ONLY 15 SURVIVORS.
The British ships were apparently little damaged in the engagement, and none of the units of the fleet were lost in pursuit of the German ships. The Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, and Leipzig, which were badly damaged, during the action, only about 15 men are believed to have been saved from the vessels which were sunk. All of them were taken to the Falkland Islands, and the British ships, which were in the vicinity of the German ships, were ordered to search for survivors.

BRITISH LOST ONLY THREE MEN.
Details of the greatest naval engagement of the war are lacking, but the meagre information received by the Admiralty from Admiral Sturdee led to the belief that the fight was a replica of the meeting off the Chilean coast, when Sir Christopher Cradock led his squadron into disaster, with the exception that on this occasion the British ships outran the German ships. The Admiralty announcement is that "very few men were lost" and it is understood that the casualties were only three.

The German ships, which were sent to the bottom had a normal complement of 1,800 men. The Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, carrying 26 guns each, and the Leipzig, carrying 20 guns, were the most powerful ships in the German fleet. The Scharnhorst was a battle cruiser, and the Gneisenau and Leipzig were heavy cruisers. The Nurnberg was a light cruiser.

On the outbreak of the war he was appointed chief of staff of the Admiralty. The presence of Vice-Admiral Sturdee's squadron in the Falkland Islands had not been known here, but the battle on Tuesday demonstrated that there was absolutely no sign for the German ships. The German ships had not been seen for several days, and it was not until the battle on Tuesday that they were sighted.

ENEMY'S PLANS A MYSTERY.
It is understood now that the Admiralty has within the past few weeks detected from the main British fleet several battle cruisers of great speed, and with 15 to 20 guns, for the purpose of hunting down the German ships. Just where Vice-Admiral Sturdee was heading for is a puzzle to naval experts. Some have said that he was on his way to a port on the east coast of South America to do as much damage as he could on the way and there to intercept the German ships. Others think that he planned a dash across the Atlantic, and an attempt to cut through the North Sea and join the German main fleet at Kiel.

There is a possibility that the British fleet, which was in the vicinity of the German ships, was ordered to search for survivors. The British ships, which were in the vicinity of the German ships, were ordered to search for survivors. The British ships, which were in the vicinity of the German ships, were ordered to search for survivors.

ENTHUSIASM IN LONDON.
The greatest enthusiasm prevailed in London over the victory, and the general impression is that it will be considered as the decisive battle of the war. It is not likely to end ships that could not overtake the Scharnhorst and Nurnberg, which are 24 and 25-knot vessels, respectively, and possibly even

The Leipzig was a protected cruiser of 2,500 tons with a speed of over 22 knots. She was armed with ten 4.1-inch guns and two torpedo tubes. She was built in 1904. She was capable of steaming 5,000 miles at low speed without refueling. Her complement was 203 officers and men. The Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, which were sister ships, were built in 1906. They were 10,000 tons and had a speed of 25 knots. They were armed with ten 11-inch guns and two torpedo tubes. The Leipzig was built in 1908. She was 6,000 tons and had a speed of 25 knots. She was armed with ten 11-inch guns and two torpedo tubes. The Nurnberg was built in 1909. She was 3,500 tons and had a speed of 25 knots. She was armed with ten 11-inch guns and two torpedo tubes.

LATER: The British Admiralty announced that the German cruiser Nurnberg, which escaped to disaster off the Falkland Islands, was pursued by the British fleet. The Nurnberg was captured and sent to the bottom. The British fleet, which was in the vicinity of the German ships, was ordered to search for survivors.

To Those who Knit

Every thread a sorrow, every strand a prayer, 'Oh, where sleeps my dear one, or how does he fare?' There are women knitting everywhere.—Country Life

Peace and Good Will

Once again the season of peace and good will is to be celebrated, and instead of finding that cordiality among the nations the angel finds turmoil and strife. Basmid all the horrors of war the Christmas tide will be celebrated in many places and families with the usual festivities. We hear that call of "peace and good-will", but we hear it only on the set occasion—Christmas. After all, then, with the vast majority of people it is a matter of form to war ship, and the custom to talk about peace and good will.

The war has made men do some serious thinking. It has changed man's measure of man. We are not so eager to follow the lead of those who spend most of their time in selfish gain and pleasure. We have begun now to value the man and woman who live quietly and unostentatiously, but who are usually found where the needy are.

The season will see much giving—and much of the naivete kind, too, but there will be much giving to the great needs where war has laid waste and where people go hungry, and are not clothed or sheltered.

In the light of those great needs away from home, it is well, to remember, too, the fact that there are needy ones near by.

Christmas this year will mean more to people than it has ever meant before. Men are bound to one another in the hour of sorrow more than in the hour of joy. People will give this year who never gave before, while others who have given perhaps with thought of return, will give in the true spirit.

May this Christmas be the occasion on which men will be drawn closer the world over, and the occasion when men will want to live nearer one another, in the thought so beautifully expressed by the poet in the following:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men pass by,
The men who are good and the men who are bad
As good as dead as I.
As I look from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life
There are men who pass by with the ardor of hope
And men who are dead with the strife
But I turn not away from their smiles or their tears
Both parts of an infinite plan
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend of a man"

NOTES BY THE WAY

The Times wishes a Merry Christmas to all its readers.

On Monday next the nominations will be held, at which the councillors will give an account of their stewardship.

The German navy bombarded Hartlepool and Scarborough, three English towns, on Wednesday last. Well, what if it did?

Wellington County made a fitting contribution to the Canadian Patriotic fund, when it gave one ton of the dollar, which amounts to nearly thirty thousand dollars.

We chopped the midgetest nest night—London Advertiser. That's nothing. Supposing you had to send rats?

Business tax. Compensation tax. General taxes, and now a tax on auto-mobiles is contemplated. Well, at least we'll miss the latter one.

That "Victory" in Poland which the Prussians have been celebrating so boastfully, is rather slipping away, and apparently was only a dream.

Green Bond has given $20,000 to the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Red Cross and Belgian Relief. This is splendid. And the $20,000 was also sent to the front over a hundred volunteers.

While many people in Montreal were in desperate straits for the necessities of life, apples and potatoes shipped from various centres to Montreal for the Belgians, were frozen while waiting for the shipment to be made up. How much better it would have been for the authorities in charge to have distributed the produce to the needy of Canada's greatest city rather than have it go to waste.

The New Year resolutions will soon be here.

The season has come round once again when Dear Old Dad will pay the bills get the neck of the turkey and be satisfied that he is still living.

Bruce County council made large money grants to the Red Cross and Belgian Relief societies, and a report further says that they "may" make a donation to the Canadian Patriotic Fund. It is to be hoped that Bruce county council will not forget the Canadian Patriotic Fund. We do not wish to create any distinction between these various objects, they are all worthy, but in some parts there has been little thought given of late to the fund which is already providing the necessities of life for women and children of men who are fighting our battles. Without the support of the Canadian Patriotic fund many women and children would be in need.

If the people will be gulled after repeated warnings from the press, there can be very little sympathy for them in their troubles. A very few weeks ago, a gang of crooks entered the country and got a number of suckers to fall in with their scheme. Some we learn, signed what was supposed to be harmless orders, and now it turns out, if rumors are correct, that the thoughtless signatures resulted in immediate obligations. There is danger always in dealing with strangers of whom you know nothing, and many of the agreements contain concealed clauses that may later cause trouble. It is always better to deal with the home merchant, and if wrongs occur you know where to seek for redress. Peddlers going round the country, paying board and horse hire, are not charity concerns, and the buyers invariably pay the expense.—Durham Chronicle.

Wanted—Produce of all kinds—

Oldershaw Castle

By JOHN TURNLEE

While examining an old manuscript of my great-grandfather bearing the date of 1773 I came across the following record of an incident that occurred in him while travelling on the island of Jamaica. It was written in my predecessor's hand and in the old fashioned spelling and with numerous capitals it ran thus:

I was riding along on horseback toward St. Pedro. Not far from me was a ridge on which was built a very curious looking house. There was a tower among the other parts from which I judged one might view the whole country roundabout. While I was wondering who might live in such a strange looking place I saw a mounted negro galloping toward me. When he came up to me he reined in his horse and said to me:

"My master, Mr. Oldershaw, invites you to dine with him at his castle on the ridge, to stay the night and as much longer as you will."

I had experienced as much hospitality thus far in Jamaica that I was not as much surprised at this strange invitation as I would have been under other circumstances. I thought that I would accept it and go into St. Pedro in the morning. I rode on, bidding the negro ride beside me and asking him questions about Mr. Oldershaw and his castle. I was informed that he was an Englishman who had come out to Jamaica a few years before, had bought a tract of land and built upon it what he called Oldershaw castle. He was the only white person in the land, the rest being his negro slaves.

I found Mr. Oldershaw at the entrance of his abode ready to greet me.
He bore the stamp of an English gentleman, with much more of friendliness in his manner than the average Englishman would have shown a stranger.
He told me that he lived a lonely life and from the tower of his castle watched with a telescope for travelers and on seeing one invariably sent a slave with an invitation.

Never would a suspicion of the man have entered my head but I did not know that Jamaica at that time was the dumping ground for the "black sheep" of English families. So it at once occurred to me that Mr. Oldershaw, being an English gentleman, might have been sent to Jamaica by his family to get him out of the way.

We dined sumptuously, partaking of the luscious fruits of the country and drinking the choicest of wines. My host pressed the bottle upon me, but I refused to drink much more. I was served by the negro who had borne my invitation. He never spoke, obeying his master's slightest look, going and coming noiselessly. Indeed, there was something in this attitude permeating the place that gave me a desire to get out of it. Then, too, there was something about my host's hospitable manner which gave me the idea that it was not genuine.

My host and I smoked some delicious cigars after dinner that he told me he had just received from Havana. When bedtime came I was shown to a room beautifully fitted up with every convenience and was left to myself. But something I could not account for warned me that I was in danger. I traveled, like every one else in that country, armed. I had not the face to take my arms to my room, but I had a cane with a sword in it, and this I carried up as I went upstairs.

By this time I was in terror. I tried to soothe my fright and called myself a fool for conjuring up imaginary dangers. But I could not get myself into that bed. Instead I lay down on a lounge. An hour passed and I got no sleep. Another followed with the same result. In that hot climate bedroom doors are not closed. I thought I heard a noise on the stairway without. I had pulled curtains on all the windows, and slipping to one of them and catching up my sword cane as I passed, I put myself behind a curtain.
Some one stole into the room. I heard footsteps near the bed, then a sound like a sword plunging through a mattress.

A man drew a lantern from under his cloak and held the light over the bed. He was Oldershaw. I knew by this time that he had intended to murder me, and my only chance was to kill him before he recovered from his surprise at finding the bed empty.
Drawing my sword, I left my hiding place and made a lunge, raising the blade clear through his left side. He sank down with a groan and was still.
Not one idea absorbed me—to get out of the place with my life. I descended the staircase hurriedly, but softly, my dripping blade in my hand. Opening a door at the foot of the stairs, I stood at the entrance of a lighted room in which were half a dozen blacks who apparently waiting for something. They looked at me in astonishment.

"Clear the way!" I yelled and, sword in hand, strode past them, they covering from me, and gained an exit not only from the room, but from the castle.

Once outside I ran till I reached St.
Pedro. There I told my experience and went back with no armed force.
Oldershaw castle was vacant. Underneath it a pit was found containing numerous skeletons. They were doubtless the predecessors travelers who had dined at the castle.

Who Oldershaw was and what induced him to commit these crimes I never learned. It was suspected that he belonged he had been crazed by some great wrong.

HE WAS A MIGHTY KING.

If the Record on the Tomb of Bardaspaine Be True.

An ancient legend tells us that Bardaspaine was the founder of Toronto, while others ascribe that honor to Senschier, king of Niswagh, of whom the Bible record speaks. An interesting part of this legend about Bardaspaine, the last of the Amerindian kingdom, tells us that he reigned on his tomb near Anishlake, a beauty city, in 1600
A.D. (a fact surely worthy of any king).
But the kings of those days, it must be remembered, took as much license with the record on their tombs as any Machannan who ever lived.

We are also told that on this tomb was a statue of the king snapping his fingers, while the inscription was written beneath: "Bardaspaine, son of Anskyndarum, built Anishlake and reigned in one day. Eat, drink and play for everything else is not worth this" (a snap of your finger).

Whether this statue and its description are purely mythical or not, the tradition was probably current in Europe, as his name was found in
"If after the manner of men I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, for tomorrow I die." What greater contrast could there be than between the strenuous, manly, undaunted spirit and the ve-luptuous, blasé king who was said to have founded the city where, hundreds of years later, St. Paul was born—Christian Braid.

BEST OF ALL JOURNALISTS.

St. Mark Has Been Called the Reporter
Among the Apostles.

The greatest journalist the world ever knew lived 1,600 years or more before the invention of type, according to Rev.
Dr. Frank N. Palmer, who awarded the palm to St. Mark and wondered at the marvel that he might have accomplished if he had lived in the days of printing press.

St. Matthew put his chronicles in twenty-eight chapters; St. Luke used twenty-four to tell his story; St. John used twenty-one, but St. Mark covered all the details more vividly in sixteen, and, true to the spirit of action that animates his kind, put a miracle in every chapter.

St. Mark, Dr. Palmer said, was the reporter among the apostles. His viewpoint, his language and his marvelous ability to give action and climax, dash and color in a sentence should be a glowing example to the newspaper writers of this day.

Each of the other apostles speaks of skies that opened. Mark says they were rent asunder. He is the only one among his brethren who stopped dutyfully to describe the color of a given scene. In the writings of his fellows it is told that the people went to the Sermon on the Mount. Mark writes vividly that the people ran.

In writing for the Romans he used colorful allusions and the references to wild beasts to touch their intelligence in sympathetic fashion at every stroke.

Stellar Elements.

The spectroscope shows the lines as far as stellar research of forty-five elements well known here in the earth.
Hydrogen exists in all stars in sometimes quantities. Iron and a number of other metals likewise are incandescent in the sun, and in all other stars bright enough to send rays into the glaring for analysis.

An element named cerium is now seen glowing in the envelope of the sun, but it has not been discovered here on earth yet. Helium was seen in the sun for a number of years before it was finally discovered in the earth. Stars vary in the character of the rays emitted; therefore all stars are not alike. And the differences indicate differences in their ages.—New York American.

Wanted Information.

At Bellevue hospital many of the nurses are harmless and willing men known as "real committies." That is, they have had themselves committed to the public institutions while out of employment.

One of these was put in charge of a restaurant case for the first time.

Remember, Clergy, said the doctor, "this case must be treated."

"All right, now," was the reply.
"Where will I get the ice?"—New York World.

Flight of Life.

Child, child! No more! As if driven on by unseen spirits the sun streaks of time are running away with the light chariot of our destiny, and for us remains nothing except with high conscience to hold fast the reins. And now to the right, now to the left, from a boulder on one hand or a precipice on the other, to guide the steeds in safety.
("Which it goes, who can say?") One scarcely remembers whence he came—From Goethe's "Egmont."

What Worried Him.

"What else are you on in this debates?" asked the constable.
"I don't like to say," replied the young statesman. "My own opinions don't matter so much, but it worries me to realize that whatever way I vote
I'm almost sure to hurt somebody's feelings."

Vain Man's Wastefulness.

Pity the poor egotist whose vanity has swollen to the point that he thinks he can influence a woman in the matter of dress.

Knowledge and timber shouldn't be much used till they are seasoned.—
Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Narrower Views.

"An astronomer is exploring space to study other worlds," said the man of scientific tastes.

"Yes," said Senator Borah. "I suppose they're doing great work, although there's a whole lot about this world that we haven't found out yet."
—Washington Star.

Wholesale Wealth.

"He is not rich as wealth is measured today."

"Measured, eh?" murmured an older philosopher. "I guess that's a modern term. They used to count the money in the old days."—London Telegraph.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Write It 1915.

A Happy New Year to All.

Never mind if this New Year resolution lasts only a day. It's better than those no resolution.

In the shooting affair at Toronto, when a prominent Presbyterian minister was shot at by a local preacher or misadventurer, whom he had befriended, it was noted that "the man was not an educated man, had had no special training for mission work that had national gifts." This little episode at Toronto and the qualifications of the man who had been thrusting himself upon the public as a missionary worker, leads us to say that altogether too many men are entering into the pastoral and missionary work without qualifications, apparently because people are willing to put up with them, and because some sort of living can be made. It is then the various denominations began to see through the foolish business of allowing men who are without educational facilities and without training, represent them. It does not matter how small a place these men may be sent to, or how small the church, it must be remembered they represent the denomination and the least the mission superintendents and managers of the great denominational undertakings can do is to see that they place men in the high calling who are qualified.

When Honor Falls

Some people have a strange twist in their sense of honor. Here is an incident—for the truth of which a writer in The Toronto News can vouch.

In a certain prominent Toronto church a week ago last Sunday there were something over five hundred people at the evening service. In the collection counted later there were two hundred and fourteen five-cent pieces. Of these sixteen were plucked. There were also two five-cent pieces and one or two plucked quarters.

The only thing that could have been more despicable, would have been to give those plucked bits to a starving person. Doubtless the people sanctimoniously dropping that silver into the plate bowed their heads reverently as the minister gave the benediction, and then left the church, inwardly pleased with themselves.

"The Lord loveth the cheerful giver," but how He must despise that type of hypocrisy. Imagine giving a plucked five-cent bit to the Almighty! Such a person is not worth the contempt of a common thief.

Christmas 1914

Christmas 1914 proved a very happy occasion in this district. There were more than the usual number of homecomings, and as a result a family reunion was numerous.

The old towns had on a fine mass of beautiful snow on last the snow had been coming for ten days, in preparation for the celebration of the Christmas season. There is nothing like a "white Christmas" and this part of the province rarely had it this year.

Late Mails

Postmaster Roy reports the Christmas mail the heaviest yet. The train coming late made it a difficult task to get the extra business out of the way.

The rural route carriers have also seen some busy times the past few days. With them it was not so much the many pieces of mail, as the roads. Unless a road is made to have the road broken there will be many days on which the rural carrier will have to skip his collection. The delivery outfits are hardly capable of breaking roads and going over the route in a day. The people have been complaining much, but the task is greater than most people are aware.

DUNBLANE

A large number from here attended the box social at Aberdeen on the 11th inst. and all enjoyed a good time. It's a long drive around, Jack. Would not a bridge be handy?

The Presbyterians held their Christmas tree and entertaining last Friday evening, and had a very enjoyable time. Municipal matters are not very active yet, but all admit that the present situation is a very good one. It is a long drive around, Jack. Would not a bridge be handy?

Mr. J. R. McCombs and his son, John of Yellow Creek Sask. are spending a few days visiting Mr. John last week.

Just a Thought

"Has it not occurred to you that you have no right to go unless you are equally willing to be prevented from going?" Emerson.

The Alaska Situation

Ontario shiks need is usually sold in large quantities to the European market. The demand from this source is now greatly reduced because of war conditions. Ontario growers should note that the present stability in prices is due to the much smaller production in the province this season. A big crop next year with continued war conditions might cause a heavy drop in the market. Ontario shiks growers would be well advised to save seed only from specially clean fields.

Al—John Anderson, my Jo, John.
John Alcohol, my foe, John.
When we were first acquainted
I'd money in my pocket, John.
Which now you know there ain't;
I spent it all in treating, John.
Because I loved you so;
But mark me how you're treated me,
John Alcohol, my foe.

John Alcohol, my foe, John.
We've been too long together,
So you must take one road, John.
And I will take another;
For we may tumble down, John.
If hand in hand, we go.
And I shall have the bill to pay,
John Alcohol, my foe.

John Alcohol, my foe, John.
You've colored up my eye,
And lighted up my nose, John.
A-very sight between;
My hands with palmy snake, John.
My locks are like the saw,
Ye'll surely be the death o' me,
John Alcohol, my foe.

John Alcohol, my foe, John.
Twas love of you, I warn,
That made me rise so early,
And sit so late at eve;
The best of friends is most part, John.
In giving me more you know,
But I'll sing me mar, w'ye John.

I've stopped the paper, yes I have
I didn't like to do it,
But the editor he got too smart
An' I allow he'll run it.
I am a man who pays his debts,
An' will not be insulted,
So when the editor got smart
I want to be consulted.

I took the paper eleven years
An' help him all I could say,
But when it came to "dignity" he
I didn't think he would, sir.
But that he did and you can bet
It made me hot as thunder;
I say, "Till stop that sheet, I will,
If the doggone thing goes under."

I hunted the editor
An' for his cousin's caper
I paid him "LUVV" years an' quit.
Yes, sir, I stopped the paper.

RIVER RANGE

Chris Bell has been busy grinding grain and sawing wood. Chris is one of our most careful members of society.

Shortlions have been moving. Jas. T. Wallace and Albert Nicholson have each sold a young Shortlions bull to Mr. John Scott. The same buyer has purchased a Durham cow from Mr. Alex. Gowanlock of Elderslie. Mr. Scott has shipped two bull calves to Mr. Andrew Elliott of Guelph.

The Hedin Electric engineers have been working with a view to determining the possibility of developing power on the Saguenay river. The average fall per mile is about six feet. The natives here are anxious by awaiting the day that would appear to be dawn when the weary farmer can press the button and all his chores will be performed automatically.

We hear that Albert Nicholson has sold his farm and intends to hold a clearing sale in a few weeks. The purchaser, Mr. Ernest Miller of Port Elgin, will take possession of the Nicholson farm in March next.

Mr. Frank Moore spent Xmas here.
